German Aviator Drops Remembrance to Pegoud from the Sky.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BELFORT (France) Sept. 7.—A German aeroplane, flying at a great height, appeared last evening over Chavannes, an Alsatian village on the old frontier. The aviator dropped a wreath, which bore the inscription, "To Pegoud, who died like a hero, from his adversary."

The noted French aviator Adolphe Pegoud, while making a reconnaissance recently near Petite Croix, was killed by a German aviator, whom he had attacked.

BRIDE ACCUSES "MORAL SQUAD."

ARRESTED AT MIDNIGHT, SHE ASKS $20,000 DAMAGES AT PORTLAND, OR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—"They broke into my room at midnight and made me dress while they guarded the door. Then they took me to the Police Station, where they cursed and locked me behind bars."

According to her attorneys, that will be part of the story to be told by Mrs. A. F. Ingersoll tomorrow in the $20,000 damage suit of herself and husband against Portland's so-called "moral squad."

Mr. and Mrs. Ingersoll claim they were married on January 14, 1915, in Vancouver, Wash. On February 9, they allege, they were asleep in their room in the Minook Hotel, when the moral squad and Secretary Warren invaded the hotel and placed them under arrest on a disorderly charge.

TURNING POINT OF WAR IS FORECAST BY LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 8, 1:50 a.m.—A German air raid on the east coast of England occurred last night. The official statement regarding the raid says:

"Hostile aircraft revisited the eastern counties Tuesday night and dropped bombs. It is known that there have been some fires and some casualties, but particulars are not yet available. The number of casualties will be communicated to the press as soon as they can be obtained."

PETROGRAD, Sept. 7, 10 p.m.—The retreat of Emperor Nicholas had begun himself at the head of his army, which he announced in a telegram to Raymond Poincare, President of France, and the visit paid by the grand duke commander-in-chief, Gen. Joffre, to the Italian army, foreshadowed, it is believed in military circles here, stirring events on both the Austrian and western fronts, in which the armies of all the allies will participate.

It is declared the Russians already have, if not quite, holding their own against the Austrians and Germans whose advance at most points has been stopped, and in places are now defensive.

Warsaw remains the danger point, but it is said that the Russians continue to fall back in the town after the Germans have succeeded to the Dvina, southeast of Riga. Besides military writers to the effect that the Russians feel confident more of their ability to defend the river and in time to push their line far westward to relieve the pressure on their forces on the shores of the Gulf of Riga.

The capture of Drinsk and Vilna the German offensive has now held the line for more than a week, and military observers those two points are fairly safe unless the invaders are able to bring up strong reinforcements. East and southeast of Vilna the Russians have taken strong positions across the River St. Dwina and its numerous tributaries, the latter protecting the network of railroads which run eastward and northward to the interior of the country.

To the southeast again, among the forests and swamps to the northeastern edge of the Pripet marshes a great battle is in progress between the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria and the troops of the Russian center, the latter having finally elected to make a stand. Amid the Pripet marshes the German Field Marshal Von Mackensen is working hard for a decisive result. He reports that he has taken two Russian positions. Still another battle is being fought for the triangle of fortifications farther south, of which Rovno and Dubno remain in the hands of the Russians.

The Austrians and the Russians are facing each other across the Sereth River in Galicia, where the fighting is continuous. The stands which the Russians are making suggest that their supply of munitions is ample. A Petrograd correspondent says the ammunition shortage of the Russians has been corrected, and that, while the production is slow, it is incessant and growing in activity and method.

For the thirteenth successive day the allies have bombarded German positions in the west, only varying their artillery activity by occasional air raids, sapping and mining operations and bomb throwing. In this fighting the Germans are also taking part, and success rests first with one side and then the other.

Similar activity is noticed on the part of the Austro-Hungarian army along the northern frontier of Servia where the Teutons are strengthening their positions on the rivers Save and Danube, presumably preparatory to new offensive movements.

[BY MEXICAN CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7.—The tenseness of the situation here was added to tonight by two light earthquake shocks, occurring at 6:45 and 9:49 o'clock respectively. Both sent the people scampering into the streets and for a time there was great excitement. No damage was done by either shock.

TRIO OF DESPERADOES SECURE A GOLD WATCH MAKE THEIR ESCAPE.

THREE bandits early this morning after robbing, at the point of their revolvers, E. L. Sternberger of No. 1732 Harvard boulevard, as he was passing near Wright and Pico streets, beat up and seriously injured Patrolman Lee Dawson of No. 1323 Cypress avenue when he encountered them between First and Second streets on Evergreen avenue.

Two of them were armed with revolvers and the third with a knife. They secured from Mr. Sternberger $1 and his gold watch. The victim telephoned a report of the robbery to the police station and a description of the men.

Patrolman Dawson, who had been given the description noticed three men who answered their general appearance on a street car. The three men got off at the end of the line near the Evergreen Cemetery. The patrolman also got off the car and walked over to where the three men were standing.

Whipping a revolver from his pocket one of the men struck the patrolman over the head before he was able to secure his weapon. The other two attacked the patrolman with their fists. He was beaten into unconsciousness. An hour later Patrolman Dawson was discovered by Patrolman Tom Murray wandering about near the scene of the attack in a dazed condition. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Treated by Dr. Hiller Patrolman Dawson was found to be suffering from deep lacerations about the nose and concussion of the brain. The patrolman was unable to give the police detectives of the "Flying Squadron" any information in regard to the three men. He declared that after seeing them on the street car and following them to the end of the line he does not remember anything further with the exception of one of the men striking him.

Detectives Barnes, Greeley, Ries and James searched the country for miles about the scene of the attack but were unable to locate any traces of the bandits.

Manipulation.

TRIO AND A TEN SPOT WORK OLD BUNCO GAME.

THREE well dressed young men, using a $10 bill, succeeded in working a bunco game on a grocery store and street car conductor last night by a clever manipulation of the bill. Entering the grocery store of Smith and Kanauff at No. 713 West Sixth street, they ordered a twenty cent pack of cigarettes, one of them laying a $10 bill on the counter. The girl who waited on them, turned to the cash register to get the change, leaving the bill on the counter. She handed over $9.80 and the three customers walked hurriedly out. The girl then picked up the bill and discovered it was a $1 bill, having been changed while she worked the cash register.

Later in the evening three well dressed young men, supposed to be the same trio, boarded a Santa Fe avenue car in charge of conductor S. S. Goughnous. They handed the conductor the supposedly same $10 bill. Goughnous fished out $5 from a pocket and handed it to the passengers. While he was getting the rest of the change from his coin holder the three men jumped off the car and disappeared into the darkness, with both the $10 bill and the $5 gold piece.

BURGLARS SECURE $22.

(30)

Cutting through the screen of a rear window, burglars early this morning gained entrance to the home of G. I. Conkley, No. 1219 South Hoover street, and made away with $22 in cash. The Conkley family were away from home when the burglary occurred. According to the police who investigated the robbery the money must have been taken by some one who knew where it was hidden, as Mr. Conkley had placed it in a drawer of a desk. Nothing else in the house was touchd.

DISCOVERED ROLLING A DRUNK, NOW AT HOSPITAL WITH FRACTURED SKULL.

During a struggle with Patrolman C. P. Stevens an unidentified man whom the policeman discovered "rolling a drunk" at First and Los Angeles streets early this morning was seriously injured and according to Dr. Hiller of the Receiving Hospital, may die.

According to Officer Stevens the injured man was discovered by him in the act of searching the pockets of an intoxicated man at First and Los Angeles streets. The officer placed the man under arrest and was walking him to a near by police box when he struck the officer. Stevens in self-defence hit the prisoner with his fist and the later in falling struck his head on the curb.

After an examination at the hospital Dr. Hiller declared the prisoner to be suffering from a fracture of the skull. The intoxicated man made his escape during the struggle between the officer and the prisoner.

ACTION OF UTAH JUDGE SURPRISES HIS FRIENDS.

Resignation of John A. Marshall of Salt Lake Filed in Washington, Arouses Interest of Departmental Officials as it was Entirely Unexpected—To Practice in New York.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) Sept. 7.—The announcement that John A. Marshall, United States district judge for Utah, had filed his resignation with the Department of Justice at Washington today, aroused great interest here as the action was unexpected even by officers and attaches of Judge Marshall's court and by his immediate friends. His departure from Salt Lake City last Saturday, without advising court attaches and employees, who expected him to open court this morning and were waiting for him to appear when news of his resignation was received, caused considerable speculation.

Those believed to be most intimate with him here professed entire ignorance of his whereabouts and of the reason for his resignation until this afternoon when they announced that the resignation was made in the interest of his health and after strong urging by members of his family, who believed his removal to a lesser altitude and relinquishment of the exactions of the bench would be beneficial. It was announced at the same time that he had left for New York City to engage in private practice.

LOS ANGELES MAN CANNOT BE FOUND.

JOHN E. HAND MISSING AT EL PASO AND FOUL PLAY IS FEARED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Sept. 7.—John E. Hand, a cattleman who arrived here recently from Los Angeles to purchase cattle from Mexican sellers, has been missing from his rooms at the Kenard Hotel since Monday morning and his friends and the proprietor of the hotel are making every possible effort to locate Hand on either side of the river. Hand started away from his room Monday morning with between $3000 and $4000 in his pockets. He said he was going to consult with local real estate men about investing in local property, but, because of Labor Day, all of the real estate offices were closed, and it is feared that he crossed the river and was robbed and assaulted by the hoard of Mexican thieves who infest the Mexican town. His friends among the cattlemen here have started an investigation in Juarez, as well as through the police on this side. He left no Los Angeles street address at the hotel, registering only from Los Angeles.

Gassed in Flanders, and Shot Down Again and Again, African Regiments Stick to Their Task with Dogged Pertinacity—Ruins of Rheims Cathedral but a Reminder that it Still Possesses a Soul.

BY RUDYARD KIPLING.

[Copyright, 1915, by Rudyard Kipling in U. S. A.]

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[The following is the second of the series of articles appearing in The Times by Rudyard Kipling detailing his personal experiences on the firing line in France. The first appeared Monday morning and related the story of his arrival and his first visit to the trenches. The present article is a pen picture of the African soldiers and a description of the ruins of Rheims Cathedral.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—We left that stricken but undefeated town, dodged a few miles down roads beside which women tended their cows and dropped into place on a hill, where a Moroccan regiment of many experiences was billeted.

They were Mohammedans bafflingly like a dozen of our Indian frontier types. Though they spoke no accessible tongue, they had, of course, turned farm buildings where they lay into a little bit of Africa in color and in smell. They had been gassed in Flanders, shot down and shot down and set up to be shelled again, and their officers talked of North African wars that we had never heard of, sultry days against long odds in the desert years ago.

"Afterward is it not so with you also? We get our best recruits from the tribes we have fought. These men are children. They make no trouble. They only want to go where cartridges are burnt. They are of the few races to whom fighting is a pleasure."

"And how long have you dealt with them?"

"A long time, a long time. I helped organize corps. I am one of those whose heart is in Africa."

He spoke slowly, almost feeling for his French words, and gave some of them an order I shall not forget. Or shall I forget his eyes as he turned to a huge brown Afreedee, like a Mussulman, hunkering down beside his accouterments. He had two sides to his head, that bearded, burned, slow-spoken officer. We met and parted with all in an hour.

The day closed after an amazing interlude in the chateau of a dream which was all glassy ponds, stately trees and vistas of white and gold salons. The proprietor was somebody's chauffeur at the front. We drank his health in the little village, in twilight full of petrol, hundreds of cars, and the wholesome flavor of healthy troops. There is no better guide to camp than one's own thoughtful nose, and though I poked mine everywhere, in no place did it strike that vile, betraying taint of underfed, unclean men and gun horses.

It is difficult to keep one's edge after hours of fresh air and experience. One doesn't get the most from the most interesting part of the day, dinner with the local headquarters. Here the professionals meet, the line gunners, the intelligence, with stupefying photoplanes of the enemy's trenches, the supply, the staff who collect and note all things and are very properly chaffed, and, to be sure, the interpreter, who by force of questioning prisoners, naturally develops into a Sadducee. It is their little asides to each other, the slang and half-words which, if one but understood instead of blinking drowsily at one's plate, would give a day's history. But tiredness and the difficulties of a sister, not a foreign tongue, dims everything and one goes to bed amid the murmur of voices, the rush of single cars through the night, the passage of battalions, and behind all the echo of deep voices calling one to the other along a line that never sleeps.

HIT THE RAILROADS, HIT THE PEOPLE—SPROULE.

President of Southern Pacific Points Out to Financiers at Seattle Necessity of Conserving Interests of Shareholders Who Have Nearly Billion Dollars of Money Tied up in Securities of the Great Systems.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 7.—There are eleven million savings bank depositors in the United States and $900,000,000 of their money—or about a billion dollars in round numbers—is tied up in railway securities. Thus it is that when you hit the railroads you hit them.

This fact was brought out with emphasis here, today in an address by William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, delivered before the savings bank section of the convention of the American Bankers Association.

His subject was, "The Railroads and the People."

Mr. Sproule said:

"A recent writer about banks and railroads has said that the great American public is not unfair. That in fact it is eminently fair where reasonably well informed, but has been misled, confused and only half informed at the best. That both parties to the controversy are at fault, the government for too much publicity of the wrong kind, the railroads for too little publicity of the right kind. That elementary education on these great, live, national subjects, education that can be grasped by the busy man, is the one great need in the present juncture.

"The primary relation of the railroads and the people is that the railroads sell transportation to the people. To many minds this relation disposes of the subject. The common notion is that the people have no more to do with it than may be necessary to obtain their transportation at the lowest price. If the buyers of bread had a voice in the fixing of its price, bread would be cheap, indeed.

"If the buyers of meat had a voice in the price of meat, it would not be long before the price would drop so low that the farmer would find it without profit to grow live stock. But the people have, indeed, a voice in the fixing of rates for transportation and the buyer of transportation concerns himself little with the question as to what effect the price has upon the railroads. The price is seldom low enough to satisfy the purchaser. If he is satisfied, his satisfaction with any given transportation rate or rate condition is only temporary. The mere lapse of time suffices to create further demands that the service be rendered for less money. This follows the impulse of self-interest, and we all know that this impulse is not always safe or sound.

"There is an epigram that in a kingdom of the blind a one-eyed man is King. A hard task before the railroads is on the one hand to correct the impressions which serve for opinions among people blinded by what appears to be their self-interest, and on the other hand to contend against that kind of one-eyed domination of the railroads which keeps one eye upon popular opinion without an eye of vision for what is necessary to bring the greatest good to the greatest number. Yet there is a conjunction of interest which so far has hardly been perceived, but which is sufficient to warrant the railroads and the people in taking counsel together for promotion of the common safety. Let us see why. Allow me to give you a few figures, here and there, which I will state in round numbers because they serve the present purpose without needless detail.

"There are in the United States over a quarter of a million miles of steam railroads which have about 600,000 shareholders and about a million and three-quarters of employees. This figures roughly one shareholder to three employees. So little is thought about the shareholder that I would wish to say that about him. I take this opportunity to tell you that if you will average the railroad shareholders according to the railroad mileage they would stand within seven hundred yards of each other along every mile of steam railroad in the nation. This means that throughout the United States each shareholder would be in plain sight of two other shareholders along the right of way, under conditions of normal vision. Yet, because of the free-and-easy way in which the public has attached the railroad properties to the names of well-known men, the people generally have a vague belief that the railroads are owned by a very few wealthy people. The facts run to the contrary. The railroads are owned by a great army of people; people who have put their savings into railroad shares until six hundred thousand of them are owners. It requires no argument, unless we argue the obvious, to show that if the saving of the people thus entered into railroad ownership prove to be secure, and the returns to them as the owners of the money prove to be attractive, there will be little trouble in obtaining from them and others like them more money for improving the railroads which now serve the people, and for extending them

GREAT BRITAIN TO BACK DOWN.

May Soon Free Goods Abroad Owned by Americans.

Will Accept Representations of Foreign Advisers.

Ambassador Page Reports on the Formal Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Definite information was cabled by Ambassador Page from London today that Great Britain is now prepared to accept informal representations by foreign trade advisers of the State Department as a means of releasing American-owned goods of German and Austrian origin now held up at neutral ports by the British order in council.

Receipt of the Ambassador's message was followed by a conference attended by Trade Adviser Fleming, Sir Richard Crawford, commercial attache of the British Embassy here, and T. S. Sharretts, counsel for the American Importers' Association, after which it was announced that the plan would be worked out in the next three or four days.

The arrangement will result in the trade advisers resuming negotiations which have been interrupted since June 15 by the British refusal to consider further applications for special permits under the order in council. Goods amounting to $147,000,000 have been tied up at Rotterdam alone, and it is expected that the new arrangement will release not only these shipments, but all goods of German and Austrian manufacture for which American importers have incurred obligations.

Ambassador Page's report follows:

"The British government is now agreeable to the presentation of applications by the Foreign Trade Advisers acting informally for importers, through the British Embassy in Washington. You are further informed that details of arrangement are now being worked out. It is advisable for importers to forward proofs as to goods ordered before March 1, by contracts under which they are liable to make payment, including a clear statement of the circumstances of the case or the original contract or certified copy."

Details now under consideration by the British authorities include the question as to how long the arrangement will be allowed to continue in force and the question of limiting continuing contracts under which American importers are liable for goods which may be delivered for months to come.

ALBANY TROUBLE REACHES TROY AND SMALLER NEAR-BY TOWNS.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 7.—The street-car employees' strike in the capital district spread rapidly today. At daylight about 350 conductors and motormen in Troy and a large number with Watervliet, Green Island and Cohoes runs walked out in sympathy with the Albany men who struck yesterday over the company's method of suspension of employees. A few hours later about 300 unorganized track workers quit.

Tonight all of the transformer men in Albany and Troy walked out, and as a result interurban cars were running only to the limits of both cities.

TEXANS PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Forty-one, Including Two Judges, to be Tried on Charge of Conspiracy to Corrupt Election.

CORPUS CHRISTI (Tex.) Sept. 7.—Forty-one defendants, including two judges, a number of county officers and prominent business men of Nueces county, pleaded not guilty today in the United States District Court to an indictment charging them with conspiring to corrupt the general election last November. One witness was examined before court adjourned until tomorrow. He was Fred C. Headley, superintendent of a local traction company.

Headley testified that just previous to the last general election he attended a Democratic party meeting here, at which, among others, County Judge Walter F. Timon of Neuces county; Ed Castleberry, former county constable, and Henry Stevens, a local merchant, were in attendance. Headley testified he overheard Judge Timon say that it would "take $2500 to $3000 to carry the election." He testified that before leaving the meeting the poll-tax lists had been checked and certain of the Democrats attending had been assigned a number of names of voters to "see in behalf of the county ticket."

Headley testified Judge Timon told August Uehlinger, County Clerk, that the opposing party would spend money "like water." On cross-examination Headley said the manner of expending the money when collected was not mentioned while he was in the hall.

Congressman John N. Garner, whose election, among others, the defendants are alleged to have conspired to secure by fraudulent means, remained in court throughout the day with attorneys for the defense.

The grand jury examined twenty witnesses today in its investigation of the same election in Duval county.

AUTO STRUCK BY TRAIN; FOUR OCCUPANTS KILLED.

MONTAGUE (Cal.) Sept. 7.—A. Y. Anderson, his wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, and a cousin, Aaron Anderson, of Astoria, Or., were almost instantly killed today when their automobile was struck by the north-bound Oregon express at the Granada crossing of the Southern Pacific Railway, six miles from here.

A. Y. Anderson was Collector of Customs at Astoria and was recently married. He and Mrs. Anderson were on their honeymoon trip by automobile to the San Francisco exposition. The approaching train was hidden by a row of trees and a toolhouse. It appeared that the driver "killed" his engine directly on the track in an efforts to reverse. The car was struck in the middle and hurled against a telegraph pole, the occupants being thrown out.

Mr. Anderson lived only half an hour after the accident, dying on the train before it reached Montague. Mrs. Anderson died twenty minutes later while being taken to a hospital at Yreka. The victims were residents of Astoria, Or.

CZAR TAKES COMMAND OF ALL RUSSIAN ARMIES.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—In a message to President Poincare, Emperor Nicholas announces that he has placed himself in command of all the Russian armies.

The message was sent from Tsarskoe-Selo, the Emperor's residence near Petrograd, under date of September 6. It follows:

"In placing myself today at the head of my valiant armies, I have in my heart, Monsieur President, the most sincere wishes for the greatness of France and the victory of her glorious army.

[Signed] "NICHOLAS."

President Poincare sent the following response today:

"I know that Your Majesty, in taking command of your heroic armies, intends to continue energetically, until final victory, the war which has been imposed upon the allied nations. I address to Your Majesty in the name of France my most cordial wishes.

[Signed]

"RAYMOND POINCARE."

Since the outbreak of the war, Grand Duke Nicholas, cousin of Emperor Nicholas, has been in command of the armies of Russia. In this capacity he has achieved fame.

The message of Emperor Nicholas to President Poincare does not make it clear whether Grand Duke Nicholas has been superseded by the Emperor. During the last few weeks there has been severe criticism of the conduct of the war by the Russian authorities.

Freedom of the Seas One of the Chief Demands.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Officials of the Friends of Peace met here today and discussed plans for a nation-wide organization "for political and other action."

The contemplated organization, which was described by its founders as for "political action, but not a political party," will have as its aim, according to officials, "freedom of the seas" from England's blockade of Germany; cessation of the exportation of war munitions by any means; influencing Congressmen to legislation along the lines of the resolutions passed by the convention of the Friends of Peace, which closed yesterday.

The ambition of the promoters is to enroll 15,000,000 names. The organization will take no action, leaders declared, with regard to loyalty to the United States government in case of war with Germany, but leaders asserted that every member will "act according to his own judgment in such a case."

MANY WOULDN'T FIGHT.

"There can be no doubt," said Francis L. Dorl, editor of the Vital Issue and one of the leaders in the convention just ended, "that in case of war with Germany many persons, acting privately, will refuse to actively support this government. Who can blame them? Personally I shall oppose any official stand by this organization to that effect."

John Brisben Walker, who was elected permanent chairman of the Friends of Peace, declared in favor of the new organization and said he would do all in his power to perfect it.

A committee of twenty-seven members will have charge of the details of the national organization.

Among the members of the committee of twenty-seven are Congressman Henry Vollmer, Davenport, Iowa; Carl Schurz, New York, and Herman B. Ridder, New York.

GERMANY ADMITS U-27 IS LOST.

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (via London.)—The Admiralty announced today that the German submarine U-27 sank a small British cruiser several weeks ago. The U-27 has not been heard from since August 10, the Admiralty also says, and probably is lost.

The announcement follows:

"According to a report of one of our submarines, it met the U-27 on the high seas after the latter, about August 10, had sunk a small British cruiser of an old type west of the Hebrides Islands (off the coast of Scotland.) The U-27 has not since returned and must be regarded as lost."

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7.—Gen. Pablo Gonzales tomorrow will make public a decree calling the attention of all Mexicans and others to the fact that the amnesty decree issued by him on July 15 last will expire on September 15. All Mexicans are warned that after that date only foreigners can assume neutrality. Mexicans not making a declaration of adhesion to the Constitutionalist cause will be considered enemies and severely punished.

Sympathizers with other movements, the decree will provide, and merchants who refuse Constitutionalist paper or who speculate in food stuffs or in other paper money issued will be treated as enemies.

The Storesand was a vessel of 1622 tons. She was built in 1891 and owned in Christiansand.

Army Law on Border.

troops are needed, to State and county officers.

It is understood also that this order probably will work to prevent firing across the boundary from the Texas side by armed forces except the United States troops. The immediate region of the international boundary is to be under complete control of army officers in command in this district. The purpose is to minimize the danger to international relations from a continuation of fighting across the Rio Grande, such as occurred several times last week between Mexicans on one side and Texas Rangers and county officers, aided by American citizens, on the other.

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Sept. 7.—Twelve hundred Carranza troops under Gen. Benjamin Carsa occupied Piedras Negras, the Mexican town opposite here, today. Villa forces evacuated the place and fled to surrounding hills.

There was little excitement attendant upon the evacuation and few Mexican refugees crossed to the Texas side. This is the fifth time Piedras Negras has changed hands since 1913. The changes always have been made without a fight.

The Villa commander last night announced he would make a stand against the Carranza force at Nava, just south of the border here. Apparently, however, he changed his mind.

Thirty wounded Villa soldiers were brought to the Texas side last night. They probably will be sent to the El Paso internment camp as soon as they are able to be moved. The evacuation today left the Villa forces without a port of entry on the lower Texas border, Piedras Negras, Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros now being under Carranza control.

THE BORDER PLOT.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Sept. 7.—More evidence of a widespread conspiracy among Mexicans on both sides of the boundary to overthrow American authority in the border country was turned up by the authorities here. A circular letter was found which antedated by three months the Plan of San Diego revolution plot.

This circular was dated October 1, 1914. It was sent by a Mexican resident on a ranch near Brownsville to Mexicans on both sides of the border, appealing to them to "rise in favor of Carranza and of independence because at the rate we are going here we soon will be living as slaves of the Americans."

The letter promised those answering the call "money and offices provided they still live at the end of the battles." The authorities did not make public the names of the Mexicans appearing on these circulars, believing that by keeping the identities secret they will have an opportunity to capture some of the signers.

It also was learned today that more letters from California have been found among the effects of Mexican houses, which have been searched for many miles inside the American border. These letters indicated that organized plans have been afoot for probably more than a year. More buttons bearing a red flag inscribed "Land and Liberty" also have been found.

Today passed, however, without reports of outbreaks.

LANSING HASTENS PEACE CONFAB.

LATIN AMERICAN DIPLOMATS MEET NEXT WEEK.

Carranza May Reply Before Envoys Get Together Again, but Meanwhile will Make Tremendous Effort to Drive Villa from Strongholds at Torreon and Chihuahua.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Sept. 7.—Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats co-operating with him in the effort to re-establish constitutional government in Mexico, will meet next week to consider replies to their appeal to the Mexican factions for a peace conference and to formulate the next step in their plan.

Mr. Lansing said today the meeting had not been definitely arranged, but that it would be held before September 15. As to what the next move is to be, nothing has been disclosed.

Gen. Carranza has not yet replied to the appeal, although he has given indications unofficially that he would decline the offer of assistance made by the Pan-American conferees. Gen. Villa and Zapata and many leaders affiliated with them have agreed to the proposed peace conference.

Gen. Carranza may reply before the conferees meet again and there are some officials who believe that he at least will leave the way open for further negotiations. Officials are convinced, however, that Carranza will make a tremendous effort within the next few weeks to drive Villa from his strongholds at Torreon and Chihuahua and thus establish virtually complete supremacy of his government. Gen. Obregon and other Carranza commanders have been unusually active within the last ten days. A statement of the military operations issued tonight by the Carranza agency described the capture of Icamole, Saltillo, Paredon and other cities from the Villa forces.

Again today Carranza and his commanders on the Mexican border issued statements disclaiming any participation by their forces in border raids and asserting that orders had been given for co-operation with United States forces to avert border hostilities.

UNTIDY STREETS CALLED DISGRACE

Public Health Association Hears Timely Warning.

Playground of the Poor Said to be Badly Neglected.

Dr. Sedgwick Lays Stress on Need for Pure Milk.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Sept. 7.—The American Public Health Association members in convention here tonight heard their president, Dr. William T. Sedgwick, summarize the opportunities presented to the present-day health workers.

"After the present bloody conflicts are over the races of mankind will turn as never before to the nobler pursuits of life, health and happiness," he said.

After reviewing what had been done in the way of improving the health of man, Dr. Sedgwick laid particular stress on what we have omitted to do and what ought to be done. He said:

"We have failed to achieve many much-needed sanitary conditions. Our water supplies are to a great extent either in good condition or on the way to improvement, but our sewage-disposal systems are still in many cases far from staisfactory. In this respect the parallel betwen the individual and the community is close, for while many intelligent persons attend carefully to the water they drink, most are negligent of the disposal of wastes which is quite as necessary as the intake of wholesome food and drink.

"Perhaps the most flagrant failure in American sanitation today is the almost universal lack of public conveniences or comfort stations in American cities and towns. Failure like this to provide proper public toilet facilities is to fail in one of the very elements of sound public health.

"We have failed to reduce as we should have done typhoid fever in America.

"We have failed to reduce as we should have done infant mortality. Here our hot weather works against us, but also does our milk supply—which can and must be rendered safe by pasteurizing—and parental ignorance and incompetence—which can and must be lessened by education and the aid of public health nurses.

"We have completely failed as yet to make our milk supplies what they should be. This is partly because we have been so timid to insist that good milk not only costs more, but is worth more, and must be paid for, and partly, because we have not yet convinced the public that the only safe milk is cooked milk, and for infants' milk that is pasteurized, preferably in the final container. Even today some physicians are backward enough to recommend ordinary raw milk, of which vast quantities are still used for infants and by adults all over the land. Such use, as long as it lasts, we must count one of our worst public health failures.

"The streets of most American cities are disgracefully dirty and untidy. Dust, horse dung and other dirt, papers, fruit skins, straw, old hats, abandoned umbrellas, old shoes and the like, are often seen lying about our streets. Yet these same streets are the principal playgrounds of the poor and ought therefore, and for every reason, to be kept scrupulously clean."

MERIAM'S REPORT.

Lewis Meriam assistant chief of the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., reported progress in the nation-wide study of infant mortality.

Although the investigations of the bureau were as yet uncompleted, Mr. Meriam declared that statistical evidence thus far available well sustained the assertion that half of the present infant mortality could be prevented if existing knowledge of the hygiene of infants could be universally applied.

Gov. Charles S. Whitman, in an address of welcome, said that in pruning State expenses public health activities should be curtailed "only in the very last necessity."

MOVE VALUABLES FROM TORREON.

ALL RAILROAD AND GOVERNMENT PROPERTY IS TAKEN TO CHIHUAHUA CITY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 7.—Arrivals today on the first train from Mexico in ten days brought reports of the removal of the railroad offices and archives from Torreon to Chihuahua City, together with various other movable governmental property.

It was said Gen. Angeles has returned to Chihuahua City, where other reports confirm his presence today. Gen. Villa, it was said, also visited Chihuahua City Sunday.

The report of the fall of Saltillo reached Torreon on Saturday, but created no excitement there. Troops at that time were being rushed from Torreon to Paredon.

Decrees regulating prices for the sale of merchandise and the price of exchange in Villa territory were unenforced, it was said. Exchange, therefore, was up on the border basis of a fraction under 2 cents.

The Juarez railway officers today refused bookings farther south than Torreon.

RAILROAD DIRECTORS RESIGN.

Phelps-Dodge Interests Leave the Board of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Arthur Curtiss James and James McLean have sent in their resignations as directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company, it was said at the offices here today.

Messrs. James and McLean are members of the Phelps-Dodge Company, large copper producers, which acquired a considerable interest in the preferred and common shares of the Rock Island Company several years ago. At that time it was believed the Phelps-Dodge interests would become a dominant power in the management of the Rock Island system, and that it would consolidate some of its copper and railway interests in the Southwest and along the Mexican border with the Rock Island company.

Charles W. Miller, chief counsel for Mayor Bell, after arguing the law in the case, made a plea for fair play and asserted that the case was due to politics. Prosecutor Alvah J. Rucker denied that politics in any form had anything to do with the case, so far as the State was concerned.

NEW HARDSHIPS ON OUR VESSELS.

Foreign Fleets Exempt from Law's Strict Provision.

Life-saving Clause Applies Only to Americans.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 7.—That further hardships will be worked upon the remnant of the American merchant marine became apparent today, following the announcement by Atty.-Gen. Gregory that the commercial fleets of every foreign nation are exempted from compliance with the life-saving provisions of the La Follette seamen's bill, which will go into effect November 4.

The ruling of the Department of Justice today strikingly illustrated the fact that the terms of the La Follette bill were so hastily and illy prepared that when Congress passed the law conflicting statutes were enacted.

Section 14 of the seamen's law, which is designed to give safety to life at sea, is the part of the law affected. This section adds greatly to the life-saving equipment demanded in passenger-carrying liners, requiring them to carry lifeboats for at least 75 per cent. of the persons on board, and pontoon rafts for the remainder on board, compels steamers to carry trained lifeboat men, holding government certificates, capable of understanding orders, which prevents use of coolie life crews, and provides for weekly musters and drills.

OTHER NATIONS EXEMPTED.

This section amended sections 4460 and 4488 of the revised statutes, the former steamboat inspection laws, without taking into consideration the fact that section 4400 exempted vessels of nations having inspection laws approximating those of the United States from any other inspection at American ports, except such as is necessary to show that they complied with the laws of their own country.

A certificate of inspection from their home port was taken as proof that they had so complied with the law.

"I am of the opinion," Atty.-Gen. Gregory said in his opinion today, "that when not actually carrying passengers, neither foreign cargo nor foreign passenger steam vessels are subject to the provisions of section 14. Only foreign private steam vessels carrying passengers from any port of the United States to any other place or country are so subject."

EFFECT ON AMERICANS.

Officials of American steamship lines have on previous occasions pointed out that the provisions of the seamen's law practically discriminate against them. Already the principal American lines engaged in the transPacific trade have announced that the operations of the Seamen's Act will render it impossible for them to compete with foreign lines, and that they will necessarily must withdraw their vessels.

As the law is now construed, vessels of Great Britain, France, Norway, Japan and the leading foreign competitors of the United States will be exempt from compliance with the life-saving equipment provision of the seamen's law, although it will be enforced against American-owned vessels.

The law becomes operative November 4. It is the present intention to press legislation early in the next session to remove the inequality now found. Steamship interests, however, it is said, are planning to take advantage of this situation to endeavor to bring about the repeal of the entire law in the next Congress.

STRIKERS' PAPER STRIKES A SNAG.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR THE "AMERICAN" PUBLISHED IN NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 7.—The Southern Publishing Company, publishers of the American, the paper established by the local printers, who are on strike, was declared insolvent on a petition filed by Hal M. David, former advertising manager of that paper, in the Civil District Court today.

According to the allegations made the former department manager, the affairs of the paper have been hopelessly mismanaged and it would be to the interest of the creditors and stockholders to have a receiver appointed.

Mr. David also asks for a judgment for $1979.27 against the company. The amount he claims is due him on a contract made by him with John Dreyer, then president of the publishing company. Mr. David stated that he was to get 33 1-3 per cent. of all money received for advertising. The contract was cancelled, he alleges, without cause and he was not paid the money he claims was due him.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 7.—The Southern Publishing Company, publishers of the American, the paper published by the local printers, who went on strike, was declared insolvent today on petition filed by Hal M. David, former advertising manager of that concern, in the Civil District Court today.

Answering to the allegations made by the former department manager, editors of the paper have been mismanaged and it would be to the interest of the creditors and stockholders to have a receiver appointed.

David also asks for a judgment for $2,500 against the company. This amount he claims is due him on salary made by him with John Dymond, then president of the publishing company. Mr. David stated that he was to get 33 1-3 per cent. of the money received for advertising. The contract was cancelled, he alleges, without cause and he was not paid the money he claims was due him.

EVIDENCE IN MOHR CASE.

Evidence of the State Against Eugenios Will be Submitted to Grand Jury.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 7.—All the evidence which the State has against the three negroes charged with the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, and against Mrs. Mohr, who is charged with being an accessory to the fact, will be presented to the grand jury when that body convenes on Monday, it was announced today. If indictments are secured, the cases go to an immediate trial, it is said.

Harley G. Burger, the doctor's chauffeur who was shot down with Dr. Mohr in the automobile last Tuesday, has not yet been told of his employer's death and is still in a serious condition in the Rhode Island Hospital.

ARMOUR SUSPECT UNDER ARREST.

"SKYSCRAPER BURGLAR" WILL BE CONFRONTED BY HIS ALLEGED VICTIMS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Melville Reeves, known as the "skyscraper burglar," was ordered held tonight in connection with the robbery at the home of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour last night. The police declared that Reeves answered the description of one of the two men who entered the Armour home, held Mrs. Armour and her three maids at bay with a pistol and escaped with $75 in currency and $3385 in jewels. Arrangements had been made to have Reeves confronted by Mrs. Armour for identification, probably tomorrow morning.

Less than a block from the Armour home, it was discovered today that the residence of Congressman Martin Madden and B. T. Glennon, a former judge, had been entered by burglars.

In Congressman Madden's home the rear windows were broken, the Turkish rugs rolled up, the silverware in bags and the jewelry collected in piles when the police arrived. The robbers had escaped.

The Madden and Glennon homes were both unoccupied.

RUSH MEMORIAL FOR M'KINLEY.

CONTRACT FOR BUILDING AT NILES, O., IS AWARDED.

Magnificent Structure will be Erected at Birthplace of Martyred President at Cost of Over $500,000 and Corner-stone will be Laid this Fall.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
NILES (O.) Sept. 3.—The magnificent marble memorial, which is planned to perpetuate the memory of the birthplace at Niles, O., of the late President William McKinley, is actually taking shape. The corner-stone will be laid this fall and the formal dedication of the splendid building will take place next year.

The formal award of the contract for building the memorial was made at Youngstown, O., by the Building Committee of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial Association, of which J. G. Butler, Jr., vice-president of the Brier Hill Steel Company, is president. This committee includes W. A. Thomas, president of the Brier Hill Steel Company; C. S. Thomas, A. J. Bently, J. N. Baldwin and W. H. Stevens.

CONTRACT FORMALLY LET.

The committee awarded the general contract to the John H. Parker Company, which has just been awarded the proposed $1,700,000 building at Washington for the Department of the Interior. The Parker company's figure was about $240,000; but in order to round out the memorial fittingly as to surroundings, etc., additional amounts to $200,000 will be required.

Silver gray Georgia marble will be employed in the construction of the memorial, the identical material used in the Corcoran art gallery at Washington and the Pan-American Building, both at Washington.

The contract awarded to The John H. Parker Company is for the construction of the memorial building, which will be 232½ feet long, 136 feet deep and 38 feet high, and for the lighting and plumbing systems, but does not include the interior finishing of the auditorium and library, which will be located in the building.

COURT OF HONOR.

The court of honor in the center of the building will be supported by twenty-eight monolith columns, also of Georgia marble, twenty-eight feet high, and the material used for finishing the interior will be Tennessee marble. In this court of honor will be places for busts and tablets to the memory of pioneers of the Mahoning Valley, who were friends of McKinley. There will also be statues of men who were associated with President McKinley politically.

The corner stone of the memorial will be laid at a date to be decided upon, but it will be some time the coming autumn. Gov. F. B. Willis of Ohio will be the speaker. It is hoped to dedicate the memorial in the fall of 1916 for which occasion President Woodrow Wilson and former President W. H. Taft will be invited.

J. Massey Rhind, famous New York sculptor, is already at work on a twelve-foot statue of McKinley which will be placed at the main entrance of the court of honor. This statue will be of the same proportions as the heroic statue of Washington on Wall street, New York.

Straight, Lank Hair No Longer Necessary

(Guide to Beauty.)
A simple and harmless fluid, hitherto little used for the purpose, has proved so wonderfully effective in quickly turning straight hair beautifully wavy, it bids fair to become "all the rage." You may be surprised to learn that this product is nothing more than plain liquid silmerine. More surprised, still, when you see how prettily it dries in the most natural-looking curls, swirls and crinkles you could wish for. It makes a fine dressing for the hair, too, keeping it so soft and lustrous.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine, which can of course be found in any drugstore, will keep the hair curly for weeks. It is neither sticky or greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It should be applied at night with a clean tooth brush — a perfectly lovely wave and curliness will be in evidence in the morning. Best of all, one who acquires the silmerine habit need never again resort to the barbarous curling iron.

FLOOD DAMAGE IN THOUSANDS.

Marmaton River at Ft. Scott Gradually Receding.

Phone Operator, Cabmen and Undertaker Heroes.

Hundreds Heed Late Warning Make Their Escape.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
FORT SCOTT (Kans.) Sept. 8.—Water from the Marmaton River, which rose thirty feet in a few hours early today, flooding wholesale and residence sections of Fort Scott and imperilling the lives of hundreds of persons, was receding tonight and fears of loss of life and further property damage had passed.

Although scores of persons were rescued from trees and housetops and many smaller structures were swept away by the flood, No one was killed as far as is known. The property damage is estimated at $200,000.

An unnamed telephone operator at Uniontown, fourteen miles away, and four cab drivers employed by George A. Konants, an undertaker, share with Konants the hero roles. Uniontown experienced a six-inch rain last night. The Uniontown operator realizing the impending danger to North Fort Scott, the residence section here, telephoned to Konants.

AROUSES CAB DRIVERS.

The undertaker quickly aroused the four cab drivers in his employ. Horses were harnessed, and in a few minutes were driving to the imperilled section. The Marmaton River divides North Fort Scott from the main section of the city. Once into the residence section the cabmen began to shout "Get out, the flood's coming," as they drove through the streets.

Twenty-five hundred persons reside in the district. Fifteen hundred, it is estimated, heeded the midnight warning from the cabmen, left their homes and sought safety across the river in Fort Scott. Every one was warned and those who remained behind took refuge in second story rooms. Before morning the waters of the river, mounting from the six-inch rain that prevailed over the entire water shed, had swept into North Fort Scott and destroyed many of the abandoned homes.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

Business generally was suspended today while every available man helped to rescue persons who had remained in North Fort Scott.

Train service was demoralized. The water reached six feet in the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway depot and it was necessary to take many passengers from trains in boats. A number had to swim from the trains to safety. Passenger trains on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road that left Kansas City and St. Louis last night for Texas points are held up here.

DAMAGE AT IOLA.

IOLA (Kas.) Sept. 7.—Hundreds of persons were made homeless and property damage estimated at $100,000 was done as the result of a cloudburst which inundated the East and South parts of Iola today. The government weather bureau announced that 6.10 inches of rain fell.

Sleeping residents of the flooded sections were warned by telephone, the discharge of firearms and the ringing of fire alarms. Scores of men worked all night rescuing people from housetops and trees. Corporal Louis Wrake, of the Iola Signal Corps, rescued ten persons by swimming his horse through the current. The refugees were quartered in churches, public halls and the police station. Elm Creek, which caused the flood, was a mile wide today and its current was very swift. Mayor Verner estimated that 600 persons were rescued from the flooded districts.

Twelve persons were missing in the flood this afternoon. Four railway section men near Iola were washed from a handcar and took refuge on a crossing sign which later was washed away. The men were drowned.

TWO MORE BODIES FOUND IN F-4.

HULL WILL SOON BE CLEARED OF DEBRIS AND INQUIRY WILL BEGIN.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]
HONOLULU (T. H.) Sept. 7.—Two additional bodies were found today in the engine room compartment of the hulk of the United States submarine F-4, which sank in Honolulu harbor on March 25 and which now is in dry dock here. The condtion of the bodies was such that identification was impossible. The officials in charge of the investigation as to the cause of the disaster said today that they hoped to have the hull cleared of debris by Thursday. It has not been determined what disposition shall be made of the bodies recovered.

Investigation of the causes of the accident last Sunday when the U.S.S. Supply crashed into submarines F-1, F-2 and F-3 at their wharf, incapacitating each of them for service, continued today behind closed doors. Lieut. Ellis Lando and Lieut. Kirby Crittenden were appointed members of the special board of inquiry by Lieutenant- Commander Mark Ellis, chairman.

JAMES J. CASSIDY HELD FOR TRIAL.

ACCUSED OF TRYING TO DEFRAUD GOVERNMENT IN A POSTAL CONTRACT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—James J. Cassidy, vice-president and general manager of the Postal Transfer Service, Inc., which has a contract for transporting the mails in this city, was arraigned today before a United States commissioner on a charge of bribing government employees in an alleged conspiracy to increase the company's income at the expense of the United States. He was held in $20,000 bail, and hearing was set for September 19.

The transfer company, it is said, is paid $473,000 annually on a five-year contract, but is subject to a scale of fines for delinquencies. It is charged that approximately $20,000 in fines were never levied through the action of a government clerk secretly on Cassidy's pay roll, in destroying about 4000 complaints against the concern. These complaints, it is said, came under the eye of the clerk in question, who confessed, according to James W. Osborne, assistant United States District Attorney.

GOETHALS DAY AT EXPOSITION.

Builder of Canal Honored by Personal Celebration.

Would Restrict Isthmus Zone to Business Purposes.

Declares Honor Due Others Who Assisted in Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Goethals Day, in honor of the "builder of the Panama Canal," was celebrated today at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the guest of honor and principal speaker being Maj.-Gen. George W. Goethals himself.

In the Court of the Universe, in the presence of city, State and Federal government officials and various representatives of the exposition, Gen. Goethals addressed an assemblage that more than filled the court, reviewing the history of the canal, which he said had been four centuries in the making.

Chester H. Rowell of Fresno, speaking as representative of the State, sounded the keynote of the occasion when he said that Gen. Goethals was responsible for the accomplishment which the people had gathered to celebrate. "Gen. Goethals stands today as the builder of the Panama Canal," Mr. Rowell said, "and for which the exposition was brought into a reality commemorative of the completion of the great work."

MOORE'S WELCOME.

Introducing Gen. Goethals, President Charles C. Moore said that owing to the unusual modesty of the man being honored, it had required more than a year for the exposition officials to arrange Goethals Day and finally persuade the general to attend the exercises and make an address.

Beginning his address, Gen. Goethals said he regretted all who participated in the construction of the canal could not be present. "Though I was fortunate enough to be at the head of the organization at the time when the dream of centuries became a reality," he said, "we must not lose sight of the fact that success crowned the efforts not of one, but of many men, and these, too, of many nationalities."

Gen. Goethals said he intended advocating before the next session of Congress the opening of the Panama Canal Zone to manufacturers of the United States. He was in favor of restricting the zone to business purposes only. He said he had advocated depopulation of the Canal Zone because he did not believe it wise to have people there whom the United States could not trust in the event of war.

BENEFIT OF CANAL.

"The canal probably will benefit this section of the United States more than any other part," he continued, "though just to what extent is a subject that must be left rather to one's imagination. It binds this country more closely together than formerly and brings the United States more prominently in the foreground in all international affairs."

Preceding the address, Gen. Goethals was presented by President Moore with a sample of the jewels with which the Tower of Jewels is studded.

Gen. Goethals was escorted to the exposition grounds by mounted cavalry and exposition officials, United States marines meeting him at the main entrance and heading a parade to "Taft Circle," where the "Goethals tree," an evergreen, was planted.

RIGHTS OF FISHERMEN.

Nevada Corporation is Trying to Prevent Californian from Fishing in the McCloud River.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Robert Casalta of Sisson, Cal., will be supported by the State Fish and Game Commission in his fight for the right to fish in the McCloud River. An order to show cause why he should not be prohibited from fishing in the river bordered by the lands of the Bend Company in Siskiyou county was issued by the United States District Court here August 28 upon the complaint of the company, a Nevada corporation, that they had been damaged to the extent of $5000.

The company asked the court to issue a temporary restraining order against Casalta pending the argument of the case September 13, but this was denied.

Casalta asserts that he has a right to fish in the stream because it is stocked with fish by the State. The company charges he is a trespasser.

President F. M. Newbert of the State Fish and Game Commission said today that the Supervisors of Siskiyou county have the right to condemn strips along the river on lands riparian under a State law passed in 1910 in cases where the bordering lands are uncultivated. He said that the commission will be represented by legal counsel in the Federal court when Casalta's case is argued.

Commissioner Cardashian is Reported to Have had Financial Trouble with the Exposition Officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Vashman Cardashian, Turkish commissioner to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, may shut up his country's pavilion within a day or so, it was admitted here today.

Two reports were circulated concerning the matter. It was established that he was having an altercation with exposition officials about finances, and it was reported that a recent speech in which he said Turkey was bound to lose in the present war no matter who won had incurred the displeasure of his government.

REIGN OF TERROR SWEEPS SONORA.

REFUGEE ARRIVES WITH STORY OF YAQUI OUTRAGES.

Gradual Evacuation of Mexican State by Natives and Aliens now Going On—Impossible to Live There Because of Indian Barbarisms.

News of the gradual emigration from the Mexican State of Sonora by Mexicans as well as aliens because of the barbaric warfare now carried on there by the bronco Yaquis, was brought to Los Angeles yesterday by Dr. Benjamin C. Chadwick, traveling surgeon for the Southern pacific in Mexico, who with nine other refugees was forced to leave the Southern republic because of the ever-present danger to himself and family. The story of the hardships endured by the small party of refugees is thrilling in the extreme but the description of conditions in Sonora, as recounted by the physician, are almost unbelievable.

"It is almost impossible to live in Sonora right now," Dr. Chadwick said yesterday. "Mexicans, as well as Americans and other aliens, are leaving daily. The once great city of Guaymas is almost deserted. There are a few Mexican officers there and a handful of soldiers. It is impossible for these officers to recruit men, as the natives refuse absolutely to fight the Yaqui Indians.

"A train, with its engine constantly under full head of steam, is always standing ready to rush the officers to a place of safety in case of attack. As the departure of these officers and their few men would leave the town without protection of any kind, the residents are leaving as fast as they can.

"At Empalme, where I had my home, the employees of the Southern Pacific, other than Mexicans, have been provided with guns and ammunition, and are thoroughly organized for defense. Two powerful searchlights have been installed by the railroad, and these are kept constantly trained toward the hills, to safeguard against a night attack.

"About six weeks ago the bronco Yaquis posted notices near the various cities and towns of Sonora, declaring war against America, Germany and Mexico, giving the Americans and Germans three days in which to leave the country. Since that time, these Indians have attacked the outskirts of Guaymas and smaller cities, killing and capturing more than a hundred persons. Those captured were subjected to the most horrible kinds of torture as witnessed by their mutilated bodies, found days later hanging to trees along some trail.

"Almost all the killed were Mexicans and Chinamen, as the Americans and Europeans would band together. As the Yaquis hold a sincere respect for American marksmanship and fighting ability, they confined themselves to the defenseless and meek Mexicans.

"However, as time wore on, the Indians became braver. Our life there became unendurable. Finally, several of our number decided to make the trip north to the United States. There were ten of us altogether. In our party were C. E. Bruchhaus, a merchant of Hermosillo; C. W. Forbes, owner of the telephone lines in that city; John McLaughlin, general foreman of the Southern Pacific at Empalme, and Rudolfo Garyzar, son of a wealthy shipping merchant of Guaymas.

"We made the trip north in nine days, by way of the Gulf of California and Colorado River, thence overland to Calexico. The water voyage was made in a small two-masted boat equipped with an auxiliary motor, and capable of making five miles an hour. We reached the mouth of the Colorado safely and were continuing up the river when a boatman, passing the other way, warned us of bandits lying in wait a short way ahead of us. We immediately beached the boat and continued our way overland, finally arriving in Calexico.

"Just before I left Empalme, word came that of thirty-one Japanese who recently left Guaymas for Mexicali by way of La Paz and the peninsula, only one had reached his destination, the rest having perished from thirst and starvation during their long overland trip."

Dr. Chadwick will start practicing in Los Angeles, as he has no inclination to return to Mexico until matters are settled and the reign of terror ended.

LOTTERIES DEFY ALL THE LAW

San Francisco Honeycombed with Illegal Game.

Brazen Violation is Connived at by the Police.

Profits Said to be Six Thousand Each Week.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
BY JEANNE REDMAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—San Francisco's triangular Mayoralty campaign is acting as a wedge to open disclosures of the transactions of more than a dozen lotteries that are operating here in defiance of State and municipal laws. An idea of the extent of their operations can be obtained by scanning the premium list of a company whose offices are open to the public like those of a legitimate mercantile concern. This company professes to give away in premiums $60,000 each week.

That means that the agents of the company collect $120,000 each week from the sale of tickets, as the cost of operation of each of the companies is to give out one-half the money collected for tickets and to retain the rest for commission, expenses and profits to the stockholders. Conservatively half a million dollars a month is the business that is proscribed by Federal, State and municipal legislation is making the game a bit strong.

This is the record of a single company, and there are twelve others of lesser degree operating here, without taking into account the Mexican and Chinese lotteries.

The Federal government winks at them all to the extent that no newspaper carrying the lottery drawings is permitted to pass through the mails. But the result of the drawings and the address of the companies where tickets may be secured are carried in the local daily papers. There is not over one page each week for the edition that circulates in San Francisco and Oakland only and which contains the results of the drawings. For the advertising the papers ask and receive a fancy price.

ALL PROSPEROUS.

While the lotteries have flourished here ever since the palmy days of Abraham Ruef, they have never been so prosperous as during the present summer when San Francisco's stay-at-home population is almost doubled by the influx of exposition visitors. One company employs more than 100 solicitors and tickets are on sale in cigar stores, barber shops, hotel stands and in the all-night eating houses.

Vendors of lottery tickets haunt the corridors of all the hotels from the Palace and St. Francis to the cheap houses along Turk and Eddy streets and south of Market. The extent of the buying must of course be considerable for a single company to bring in $120,000 each week. This is said to be the record of the Louisiana lottery in its halcyon days.

POLICE "STAND IN."

Members of the police force "stand in." It is not an unusual sight to see a sergeant take aside a solicitor who is holding the tickets out to the public and warn him that he must keep the tickets concealed, that they must not be in evidence, especially when a cop is going by. But the solicitor who carries only tickets of one of the twelve companies recognized by the State and municipal authorities is never arrested. No outside company, however, must attempt to operate. Home industry is strictly protected.

While the headquarters of the lottery companies are here, probably only place they could run in the United States unmolested by the police their operations cover the whole of the northern part of California, also extend into Nevada and Oregon. Proscribed by the law, they are enabled to conduct their drawings without fear of restraint; and they have developed a system of distributing winning tickets which enables them to extend their operations rapidly from to new territory. In July they managed to reach an understanding with the city officials of Sacramento; for a time the city was suddenly flooded with tickets and for three successive weeks a $2500 prize was drawn by a resident of Sacramento. One solicitor was detailed to the State offices and he found a thriving business among the state employees and the offices of the governor and the Board of Control. The important stations on his beat were:

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 7.—The forty-eight officers and crew of the steamer Edith, which foundered in the Gulf of Alaska, August 26, arrived here today on the steamer Northern, which took them aboard at sea days.

When it was seen that the Edith was doomed seven life boats were launched and two men jammed into each. They rowed the boats for days away from the steamer, as the sea was breaking. The other four men remaining leaped into the sea one at a time and were picked up by the boats. Capt. C. H. Moore was the last to leave.

lla Reported as Ready to Step Down and Out.

BY SEYMOUR RANSOM.

EL PASO, Sept. 7.—Villa's forces operating under Gen. Villa and Gen. Raul Madero have been decisively defeated by the Carranzistas in the fighting east of Monclova.

This reverse deprives Villa of the coal fields near Sabinas and cuts off completely the coal supply so badly needed for transportation purposes. The loss of Monclova opens the way direct to Torreon, the Villa base.

Villa's troops are expected now to retreat to Torreon from the other points occupied by them. The loss of the Laguna cotton crop amounting to $8,000,000 also now seems probable with the shattering reverses, the early evacuation of Torreon by Villa appears to be inevitable.

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 7.—In the fighting now on between Carranzistas and Villistas near Saltillo, Monterrey and Parodon, two prizes are at stake. One is the coal fields near Sabinas, including 140 cars now loaded with coal, the other is the cotton crop of the Laguna district, valued this year at $8,000,000 gold.

Villa imperatively needs both these to keep open his coal transportation facilities and the cotton crop which he has a levy of 40 per cent. on, $3,200,000, to replenish his empty treasury.

For several weeks Villa has had 150 cars filled with coal in the Sabinas fields but has been unable to get out of Torreon. Carranzistas have torn up bridges as fast as Villa can rebuild them.

CARRANZA ALSO SEES IT.

Carranza also has his eye on the $8,000,000 cotton crop in the Laguna district. This is the reason why he is pushing northward from Saltillo. If Carranza is successful in this it is said he will strike an almost decisive blow in the campaign. Villa will then be required to fall back on Chihuahua City and to trust to his mines and Western Chihuahua for his resources. This territory would be unable to repair his finances or sustain his army. If lost by Villa a split is developing at Paredon may bring Appomattox of the Convention cause.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY.

Eduardo C. Llorente, Villista agent, arrived here today from Torreon where he has passed two days conferring with Gen. Villa.

Secretary of Foreign Relations, Diaz Lombardo, Gen Roque Gonsales Garza and Gen. Felipe Angeles while on the train from Torreon to Chihuahua assured me that the contentions were entirely favorable to the Conventionist cause here hopeful," said Senor Llorente. "I leave here confident we will unbeaten army in front of Villa's troops. They will acquit themselves in a way that will astonish the country. We are satisfied with the PREDICTS BREAD RIOTS.

Information obtained from nonpartisan sources may hardly be said to support the optimistic views of Gen. Washington agent. Torreon, for instance, is confronted now with famine conditions. There is no attempt to disguise this fact. I was there one week. In the last forty hours I was in Torreon bread was unobtainable by persons abundantly able to pay for it. The nearest thing was potatoes. The supply of meat, corn, flour and meat was not quite, exhausted. Suffering was evident especially among the poorer classes.

Threats were loud and insistent. If a perfect order was maintained, bread riots were not only expected but predicted. This, too, in spite of the fact that Villa's troops had distributed outside the city

Transportation facilities are severely taxed. Only two trains left Torreon for Chihuahua Sunday, the 29th, until the 4th. Washouts due to

. Washouts due to recent rains, were partly responsible, but the coal shortage stopped the traffic. Railway offices were moved last week to Chihuahua, all officials, furniture and papers being transferred to that city. The train that left Torreon Saturday night was jammed with persons of all classes fleeing from Torreon.

Chihuahua City is in little better shape. The food shortage there is keenly felt. What will happen in case Villa's forces fall back on Chihuahua can readily be predicted. The outlook is not encouraging to Villa.

TO ELIMINATE VILLA.

It is reported that Gen. Villa has been prevailed upon to take a less conspicuous place in the spotlight than he has held for the last year. The civil authorities of his government, when reorganized, will exercise more influence than formerly. Whatever may be the purpose of this change, the result will mean practically the gradual elimination of Villa in the Conventionalist government. It is said that Gen. Villa has not only consented to, but actually suggested this change of policy. His friends claim that he now has no desire to dominate the situation. His critics, however, state that this act of self-effacement by Villa has been wrung from him reluctantly by the imperative needs of the situation and that, in his retiring voluntarily to the background, he is prudently "raising an umbrella" to protect himself from the approaching storm.

EXECUTIONS DENIED.

Gen. Villa has recently exercised restraint in dealing with political prisoners. Reports in the United States that wholesale executions have taken place are authoritatively denied. A list of fifteen alleged executions was printed in some American newspapers two weeks ago. Of this list of fifteen, I am assured by Mr. Llorente that only two, Arellano Gonzales and Guittierrez, have been put to death.

"They were arrested, tried, condemned and executed on the charge of treason," said Mr. Llorente. "They were both Carranza spies, and they deserved death. These are the only political prisoners who have been put to death. The man, Vargas, who was taken to Torreon two weeks ago is still imprisoned there. He is in the published list of fifteen executed. He will not be executed."

Sylvestre Terrazas, secretary of the Governor of Chihuahua, was also in the list of fifteen; he is still performing his duties in Chihuahua. At Durango, Villa arrested twenty men, charged with being members of the old "Defensa Social," an organization said to be in sympathy with the Cientificos. Of these twenty men he released some at Durango and transferred the remainder to Torreon. Last Saturday, he released all but three of these, who are being held for a ransom, it is said, aggregating 200,000 silver pesos.

LISTENS TO REASON.

This modification of Gen. Villa's repressive measures is said to be due to pressure brought to bear upon him by the civil authorities and the less radical and more enlightened military commanders.

Hit the Railroads.

into sections whose development is standing still because of the lack of railroad service. As a question of public policy is it not fundamentally sound that the rights of these hundreds of thousands of saving and prudent people should be given as serious consideration as any other factor in the railroad question? Is it not obvious that there should be accorded to them the same full measure of solicitude which is extended to other human factors prominently before us in all industrial discussions?

"What the railroads have to contend and urge, notwithstanding their desire to pay their employees well, is the plain fact that the railroads have not adequate income out of which to pay these wages. In the two decades from 1894 to 1914 the revenues from operation of the steam railroads increased 183 per cent., but expenses of operating increased 200 per cent. The number of employees increased 118 per cent., while the compensation of employees increased 213 per cent. I will state in another way. With the rates of 1904 as a unit the railroads would have earned about one hundred and sixty millions of dollars more than the earnings of 1914. While the railroad revenues were thus reduced in the sum of one hundred and sixty millions of dollars, the compensation paid to employees was in the same time increased by something over one hundred millions of dollars. This process cannot continue indefinitely. As an economic question it is impossible that the compensation of employees can continue to increase while the compensation of employers continues to decline. There are in consequence millions of people consisting of railroad employees and those dependent upon them, who can justly insist that the interests of the railroads be nurtured rather than ignored in the adjustment of transportation questions."

BANKERS FORM NEW SECTION.

One-third of Membership in Association Joins.

Collecting of Outside Checks Theme at Convention.

Speakers Review Effect of the New Federal Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 7.—Comprising a membership of one-third of the total in the American Bankers' Association, a new section, covering national banks and to be known as the National Bank Section, today formally was organized here.

The first meeting of the new section will be held next May. The following officers were elected: President, Fred W. Hyde, cashier of the National Chatauqua County Bank, Jamestown, N. Y.; vice-president, J. S. Calfee, St. Louis, Mo.

Executive Committee: J. Elwood Cox, High Point, N. C.; Oliver J. Sands, Richmond, Va.; W. H. Bucholz, Omaha, Neb.; H. E. Otte, Chicago, Ill.; J. W. Spangler, Seattle; W. M. Van Deusen, Newark, N. J.

Uniformity in methods and rules employed by the clearinghouse banks of the United States was urged by A. C. Wilson, vice-president of the State National Bank of St. Louis, and president of the clearinghouse section, American Bankers' Association, in an address before the opening session of the clearinghouse section today.

PRAISES LOCAL BANKS.

The work of local banks in creating a uniform set of rules and methods of dealing, Mr. Wilson told the convention, is commendable, especially in view of the excellence of the inclusive and concise rules adopted. He added that a closer union of the national clearinghouse banks in their individual methods of transacting business would increase the importance of the institution.

Wilson told of the birth and growth of the clearinghouse section. The clearinghouse banks now represent more than a third of the resources of all the banks of the country. There are 182 of them in the National Association.

This afternoon's session included an address on "Collecting Out-of-Town Checks by the Federal Reserve Banks or Country Clearinghouses or Both," by L. F. Hiesewetter, vice-president of the Ohio National Bank of Columbus, O., a talk by Russell Lowrey, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Banks at San Francisco on "Relation of the Federal Reserve to the Clearinghouse."

One of the features of the convention will be a session devoted to agriculture and country life, which will be held Thursday morning under the auspices of the Agricultural Committee of the association, just completing a year of notable achievement.

CAMPBELL'S ADDRESS.

Henry M. Campbell of Detroit, speaking today before the trust company section, declared, that [illegible] did not have the authority to [illegible] trust company powers to [illegible] banks, as provided in the Federal Reserve Act.

Mr. Campbell is one of the [illegible] for the trust companies which [illegible] undertaken a joint action [illegible] ing the constitutionality of [illegible] (k) of the act giving the [illegible] to grant to national banks [illegible] in contravention of State [illegible] right to act as trustee, [illegible] ministrator and registrar of [illegible] bonds.

The paragraph was added [illegible] act at the eleventh hour, [illegible] bell said, and conferred upon [illegible] serve Board power over many [illegible] tic affairs wholly foreign [illegible] tional banking business, [illegible] have before been regulated [illegible] ly by local law.

Mr. Campbell said that [illegible] contention that trust companies [illegible] were necessary to the [illegible] of government affairs, or as [illegible] part of national banking [illegible] added that it was not a [illegible] ness, and as a result of [illegible] action of Congress could not [illegible] tained by the theory of [illegible] powers.

Furthermore, he said, [illegible] the Constitution failed to [illegible] thing which gave Congress [illegible] ity to confer on national [illegible] any other corporation, [illegible] trust companies.

Mr. Campbell said, [illegible] Congress did have the [illegible] grant trust company [illegible] tional banks, all constitutional [illegible] to the effect that Congress [illegible] delegate this authority to [illegible] serve Board.

Regarding the question of [illegible] a Legislature might [illegible] State's control over trust [illegible] to the Federal Reserve [illegible]

AUSTRIAN ENVOY EXPLAINS TO STATE DEPARTMENT.

Neither Ambassador nor Secretary will Discuss What Transpired with Reference to Letters From Dr. Archibald, and President Wilson will Probably Decide in R[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Dr. C[illegible] cesin Dumba, the Austro-Hungar[illegible] Ambassador, laid before Secret[illegible] Lansing today an explanation o[illegible] letter written by him to the Vie[illegible] Foreign Office discussing plans [illegible] withdrawing Austro-Hungarian la[illegible] from American plants making [illegible] supplies for Great Britain and [illegible] allies.

Neither the Ambassador nor [illegible] Lansing would comment upon the [illegible] matter when it was over. The [illegible] impression prevailed in official quarte[illegible] however, that the Secretary wo[illegible] submit the matter to President W[illegible] son, with whom would rest the de[illegible] sion as to whether the explanat[illegible] was satisfactory.

The text of Dr. Dumba's letter, [illegible] recently seized by British authoriti[illegible] from its bearer, James F. J. Arc[illegible] held, an American, was cabled to [illegible] State Department early today by A[illegible] bassador Page at London and [illegible] been the subject of a conference [illegible] tween the President and Secreta[illegible] Lansing before the Ambassa[illegible] reached the department.

USE OF PASSPORT.

It is understood that the use of [illegible] American passport to shield the [illegible] envoy who carried not only [illegible] Dumba letter, but dispatches from [illegible] Austrian Embassy and other d[illegible] points, was regarded by them as [illegible] serious a matter as the activities [illegible] veiled by the letter itself.

Mr. Lansing's only statement on [illegible] subject was a negative response w[illegible] to what whether any steps had been t[illegible] toward bringing the situation to [illegible] solution of the Austro-Hungari[illegible] Foreign Office.

From reliable sources it was learn[illegible] tonight that Dr. Dumba in making [illegible] explanation outlined the Austro-Hu[illegible] garian view of the plans dealt with [illegible] the letter, contending that it conte[illegible] plated no violation of the laws of [illegible] United States. So far no steps ha[illegible] been taken, but the Ambassador [illegible] is instructed to give widest pu[illegible] city to a new decree of his gover[illegible] ment making nationals liable und[illegible] martial law for rendering assistan[illegible] in the manufacture of munitions [illegible] for the enemy.

SCOPE OF DECREE.

This decree, previously announce[illegible] provided punishment of long terms [illegible] imprisonment and even death [illegible] ishing for Austro-Hungarians co[illegible] mitting the offense at home or abro[illegible] Co-operation in carrying out t[illegible] purposes of the law, it was point[illegible] out, was held to be mere fulfillme[illegible] of the duty of an Ambassador charg[illegible] with protection of his nationals.

It was not denied, however, that Austri[illegible] envoy's representatives, while th[illegible] had no desire to injure American i[illegible] terests, would not hesitate to handle [illegible] in any way possible the efforts of the [illegible] enemies to obtain munitions.

Describes Experiences.

of guns except a semaphore, which announced that it was a forbidden pass that way, as a battery was firing. "The boches must have looked for that battery, too. The ground was pitted with shell holes of all calibers, some of them fresh as molecasts, in the misty damp morning, others where poppies had grown from seed to flower all through the summer.

"And where are the guns?" I demanded at last. They were almost under one's hand, their ammunition in cellars and dugouts beside them.

As far as I could make out the 75-millimeter gun has no pet name. The bayonet, of course, is Rosalie, Virgin of Bayonne, but the seventy-five, the watchful nurse of the trenches and the little sister of the line seems to be always the soixante-quinze. But even those who love her best do not say that she is beautiful. Her merits are French logic, directness, simplicity and the supreme gift of occasionality. She is equal to everything on the spur of the moment. One sees and studies the few appliances which make her do what she does, and one feels that anyone could have invented her.

"As a matter of fact," says a commandant, "anybody or rather everybody did. The recoil is after such and such a system, patent of which had expired, and we improved it. The breech action with slight modification is somebody else's, the sighting is perhaps a little special and so is the traversing, but at bottom it is only an assembly of variations and arrangements."

That, of course, is all Shakespeare ever got out of the alphabet. French artillerymen make their own guns as he made his plays. It is just as simple as that.

"There is nothing going on for a moment," said the commandant. "It is too misty. I fancy that the boche, being of all things methodical, introduces the amateurs to the batteries in the intervals. At least there are hours healthy and unhealthy which vary with each position. But," the commandant reflected, "there let us say is a place and a distance."

He gave a range. The gun servers stood back with the bored contempt of the professional for the layman, who intrudes on his mysteries. Other civilians had come that way before, had seen and grinned and complimented and gone their way, leaving the gunner high up on the black hillside to grill or mildew or freeze for weeks and months.

A HIGH-PITCHED VOICE.

Then she spoke. Her voice was higher pitched, it seemed, than ours, with a more shrewish tang to the speeding shells. Her recoil was as swift and as graceful as the shrug of a Frenchwoman's shoulders. The empty case leaped forth and clanged against the trail, the tops of two or three pines, fifty yards away, nodded knowingly to each other though there was no wind.

"They'll be bothered down below to know the meaning of our single shot. We don't give them one dose at a time as a rule."

Somebody laughed. We waited in the fragrant silence. Nothing came back from the mist over that clogged ground, no shell of this war was ever launched with more earnest prayers that it might do harm.

They talked about the lives of guns, what number of rounds some will stand and others will not, how one can make two good guns out of three spoiled ones, and what crazy luck sometimes goes with a single shot or a blind salvo. A shell must fall somewhere and by the law of averages occasionally lights as straight as a homing pigeon on the one spot where it can wreck the most. Then the earth opens for yards around and men must be dug out, some merely breathless who shake their ears and carry on, and others whose souls have gone loose among the terrors. These have to be dealt with as their psychology demands and a French officer is a good psychologist. One of them said:

"Our national psychology has changed. I do not recognize it myself, what made the change. The boche, if he had been quiet for another twenty years the world must have been as rotten as his. But it is all his now. He is saving the world. How? Because he has shown us what evil is. We, you and I, England and civilization had begun to doubt the existence of evil. The boche is saving us."

Then we had another look at the animal in its trench, a little nearer this time than before and quieter on account of the mist having picked up.

Anywhere you please you shall find the same observation post, table, map observer and telephonist. It is always hidden, the guns are always ready, and the same smeared wisp of trenches is smoked and flaring from Switzerland to the sea. The handling of the war varies with the nature of the country, but the tools are unaltered. One looks upon them at last with the same weariness of wonder that the eye received from an endless repetition of Egyptian hieroglyphics. A long, low profile with a lump to one side means field gun and its attendant ammunition cass. A circle and slot stand for an observation post. The trench is a bent line studded with vertical plumes of explosion. The great guns of position, doming and going on their motors, repeat themselves as scarabs, and man himself is a small blue smudge no larger than a foresight crawling and creeping, or watching and running among all those terrific symbols.

But there is no hieroglyphic for Rheims, no blanting of the mind at the abominations committed on the cathedral there. The thing tempers upward, maimed and blinded from out of utter wreckage of the archbishop's palace on the one side and a dust heap of tumbled houses on the other. They shelled as they still shell it, with high explosives and with incendiary bombs, so that the statutes and stonework still in their places are burned the color of raw flesh.

DAMAGE DONE.

The gargoyles are smashed, statues, crockets and spires tumbled, walls split and torn, windows thrust out and all tracery obliterated. Wherever one looks at the tortured pile there is mutilation and defilement, and yet it had never more of a soul than it has today.

Inside—"cover yourselves, gentlemen," said the sacristan, "this place is no longer consecrated"—everything is swept clear or burned out from end to end, except two candlesticks in front of the niche where Joan of Arc's image used to stand. There is a French flag there now. The last time I saw Rheims Cathedral it was in a spring twilight when the great west window glowed and the only lights within were those of some candles which a penitent Englishman had lit in Joan of Arc's honor on those same candlesticks, the high altar was covered with select carpets, the pavement and tiles were cracked and jarred out by the rubbish that had fallen from above, the floor was gritty with dust of glass and powdered stone and little twists of leading from windows and iron fragments. Two great doors had been blown inwards by the blast of a shell in the archbishop's garden until they had been sent grotesquely to the curve of a cask. There they had jammed the windows.

But the record has been made and will be kept by better hands than mine. It will last through the generations in which the Teuton is cut off from fellowship with mankind, and through all the long, still years when the war of the body is at an end and the real war begins. Rheims is but one of the altars which the heathens have made on which to commemorate their own death throughout the world. It will serve. There is a mark well known to the world by now which they have left for a visible seal to their doom. When they first set the place aright there were some hundreds of their wounded in the cathedral. The French saved as many as they could, but some had to be left. Among them was a major who lay with his back against a pillar. It has been ordained that signs of his torment should remain. On outline of both legs and half of his body is printed in greasy black upon the stones. There are very many people who hope and pray that it will be respected at least by our children's children.

IRON NERVE.

And in the meantime, Rheims goes about what business it may have with that iron nerve and endurance and faith which is the new inheritance of France. There is agony enough when the big shells come in; there is pain and terror among the people and always fresh desecration to watch and suffer. The old men and the women and children drink of that cup daily and the bitterness does not enter into their souls. Mere words of admiration are impertinent. But the exquisite quality of French civilisation has been a marvel to me throughout. They say themselves when they talk:

"We did not know what the nation was. Frankly, we did not expect it ourselves, but the thing came, and you see we go on."

Or, as a woman puts it more logically: "What else can we do? Remember, we knew the boche in '70 when you did not. We know what he has done in the last year. This is not war. It is against wild beasts that we fight. There is no arrangement possible with wild beasts."

This is one vital point, which we in England must realise. We are dealing with animals who have scientifically and philosophically removed themselves inconceivably outside of civilisation. When you have heard a few tales, only a few tales, of their doings, you begin to understand a little more. When you have looked long enough into the faces of the women, you are inclined to think that the women will have a large say in the final terms. They have earned it a thousand times.

WET-DRY ISSUE LOOMING LARGE.

ANTI FORCES SEE DANGER IN SEAL BEACH MOVE TO INCORPORATE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 7.—The wet and dry question loomed up big today when the Board of Supervisors received the petition of residents of Seal Beach, asking for an election to consider the incorporation of the place. Many of those who are back of the petition declare that the purpose of incorporation is for civic betterment, and that the wet and dry question should not enter into the discussion at this time, it being a matter that can be decided by a vote after incorporation.

However, Ira Patterson declared there are not 526 residents of the proposed city and that it is the opinion of the drys that table liquor licenses will be granted is well known and openly expressed. Fear that incorporation may also result in saloon licenses close to Long Beach, Seal Beach being just over the line in Orange county, interested drys of that city.

After discussion the Supervisors appointed a census-taker, to determine if the petition is valid.

QUAKE IN SOUTH.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 7.—A very distinct earthquake shock was felt at 11:50 o'clock tonight in the city and at Point Loma. The shock lasted several seconds and in some parts of the city shook beds and chinaware.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Some people are naturally thin. There is also a natural pallor, but most people who are both thin and pale are far from well and they need a tonic.

Many people neglect to take a tonic until they get so sick that a tonic is not sufficient just because the demand of the debilitated body is not insistent enough. The pale face, weak nerves, enfeebled digestion are neglected until the point where pain or actual breakdown requires medical treatment. A tonic taken in time is the best health insurance. It supports the overtaxed system, the worried nerves, until nature can make repairs.

Build up the blood and you are sending renewed health and strength to every part of the body. The appetite is improved, the digestion is toned up, there is new color in the cheeks and lips, you worry less, become good natured where before you were irritable and you find new joys in living.

Tonic treatment is useful in dyspepsia, rheumatism, anemia and nervous disorders. In many cases it is all the medical treatment that is required.

Free booklets on the blood, nerves and diet will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

WEIGH PROBLEMS OF BETTERMENT

POSTAL CLERKS URGE REASON FOR ORGANIZATION.

Experience, not Theory, Should Dictate Methods of the Service According to Resolution—Men Who Handle Mail also Favor General Pension System.

Action by officials of the Postoffice Department, which will permit clerks to be represented by set committees in their dealings with superiors, is urged in a resolution which was passed yesterday by the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks. The resolution was submitted by J. N. Boyd of Los Angeles Branch No. 57.

No resolution of greater importance has ever been passed by the association, according to its officers. It would create a working arrangement in every office whereby the clerks could deal as a unit with the postmaster and his subordinates, and through a general committee with the department at Washington.

Superannuation of postal employees under the equable measures of the Hamill bill was brought to the fore yesterday by unanimous indorsement of the California State Branch of the Association.

This bill provides that every employee, who has been in the service for thirty or more years shall receive a pension of 50 per cent. of his average annual wages for the five years immediately preceding retirement, and that no employee shall be kept in active service after reaching 70 years of age.

For employees who have served twenty-five to thirty years, a pension of 45 per cent. of the annual average pay for the five years before retirement is provided. For service of twenty to twenty-five years, the rate is 40 per cent.

The bill also provides for total disability pensions for those five years and more in the service upon the following basis: Service of five to ten years, 30 per cent. of the average annual pay for the five years previous to retirement; service of ten to twenty years, 40 per cent. of the average annual pay; service of twenty-one years and over, 50 per cent. of the average annual pay.

The Nebraska State branch offered a resolution, condemning the 1-cent letter postage movement as one detrimental to the service; while the proposition to establish permanent headquarters for the association in Washington came before the body with a lengthy list of indorsements.

Under the resolution requesting that the Postoffice Department permit the clerks to be represented by set committees, it is proposed that all clerks of one or more years' service shall name the members of the committee, and that methods of work, the subject of discipline, and other matters affecting the service shall be considered at regular intervals.

"Such an organization," says the resolution, "would tend to steadily improve the service along the lines dictated by experience, rather than theory, and would lessen the influence of politics and special interests."

Matters of general import to the service would be considered by a council chosen from among the membership of these committees and recommendations thereon made to the postmaster-General.

The lure of the beach caused the association's adjournment at noon yesterday, with much important business unconsidered. Because of this adjournment, the submission of the annual report of President Frank T. Rogers went over to today.

The report of Treasurer Albert E. Lutkin, showed receipts during the year of $28,559 and disbursements of $22,447. Secretary William F. Gibbons also submitted his annual report.

Vice-president Flint of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank and Rev. George W. Grannis, the father of the movement that lead to the Sunday closing of postoffices, spoke at the morning session.

Aboard six special Pacific Electric cars, the delegates went to Venice yesterday afternoon, where everything from the concessions to the bath-house were thrown open to the visitors. They will see the "Mission Play" this evening.

WHAT ARE YOU DRINKING THIS HOT WEATHER?

Many Summer Ailments Due to Improper Drinks and Foods.

It is getting to be a well-known fact that many of the ills prevalent in hot weather are due entirely to an improper selection of foods and drinks.

Whether you are in normal health, or a blue and discouraged dyspeptic, you would be greatly benefited by the use of that wonderful food product—malted milk—provided the quality of the malted milk was what it should be.

The awarding of "The Grand Prize" at the San Francisco Exposition to "Borden's Malted Milk in the Square Package" again demonstrated the superiority of this famous brand beyond all question.

Borden's Malted Milk is not a medicine—it is a food. It is deliciously palatable, nourishing, strengthening, and practically self-digesting. No stomach is too weak to digest it; none too strong to be benefited by its use.

It is manufactured by the same people who have made Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk a household word throughout the civilized world.

You will never realize all the possibilities in malted milk until you have tried Borden's—in the Square Package. Insist upon it. At all good druggists.

UNSIGHTLY RASH ON FOREHEAD

Of Baby. Started Like Tiny Water Blisters. Kept Spreading. Very Red.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My baby was only three months old when a sort of a rash broke out on his forehead. It started like tiny water blisters and kept spreading till it almost covered his forehead. It was very red and unsightly. He was cross most all the time, and would roll his head from side to side as if he was trying to get away from the torture.

"All the time the rash kept spreading. I finally sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used as directed and bought more. The rash has disappeared, and his face is entirely healed, and it has never broken out since." (Signed) Mrs. H. R. Powers, Henderson, Cal., April 6, 1915.

CALL ON NATION TO MEET CRISIS.

Navy League Declares for an Adequate Preparation.

"We Want Peace but not at a Price too Great."

Men of Many Interests Unite in Common Purpose.

The crisis which they declared confronts the United States today in its relationship with the rest of the world, its right to hold a proper place among the nations and to demand and obtain worthy consideration of our rights at home and on the seas, were among the subjects forcefully presented by able speakers at the banquet of the Navy League yesterday at the Clark.

Business men, statesmen, politicians, men in practically all lines of endeavor united in the declaration that a definite programme for the future must be arranged if the nation is to cope successfully with the problems that confront it.

Adequate military and naval policies to support economic freedom at home and the rights of American commerce abroad were declared to be a prime necessity. James A. Bullitt, field secretary of the Pacific Coast Department of the Navy League of the United States, made one of the principal addresses.

PEACE TOO COSTLY?

"The ideal of the people of this nation is unquestionably peace, both for themselves and for the rest of the world. But there is a deep realization that there are some prices which may not be paid for peace; prices which in reality defeat the very object so ardently desired," he said.

"We desire to retain our integrity and be influential in the world not so that we may serve our own best interests as a nation, but that we may be of service to the world at large in those vast and pressing problems which confront it. There are and have ever been two forces which make nations influential in the world—moral and physical. Surely there has been nothing in the events of the last twelve months to make us feel that human nature has been changed much for the better that we may safely entrust our security to the good will of abstract justice of other nations.

"The time has come when the people of the nation must adopt a consistent policy in regard to national armament. Our army is today on the

WOULD LOWER SUGAR RATES.

Southern Pacific Asks to Cut the Freight Tariff Twenty Cents.

The Southern Pacific applied by wire to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to lower transcontinental freight rates on sugar to 40 cents a hundredweight from California terminal points to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Charleston, with the proviso that this shall apply to a minimum shipment of 80,000 pounds sent over the Eapee and subsidiary lines. The present rate is 60 cents on a 60,000-pound minimum.

The contemplated cut is in answer to the lower rates offered by canal carriers. Action is expected shortly.

HE NAMES VERNON MAN AS SUSPECT.

ELDEST SON OF LONG-MISSING FATHER WANTS GRAND JURY TO ACT.

Frank Cwicpokowski, eldest son of Mike Cwicpokowski, who disappeared from his home in Vernon three years ago and whose mysterious passing has not been solved by the authorities, visited the Courthouse yesterday and asked that the grand jury make an investigation of this case and also that of Charles Hayes, whose disappearance has never been explained.

He intimated strongly that he knows the man in the case and would give the name to the District Attorney. He also told of an alleged effort to shield this man. He said the hue and cry raised about the Cwicpokowski mystery has embarrassed the widow and sons of the old man.

"I know, or think I do," said this son yesterday, "the man who was connected with the disappearance of my father. All this talk about my father having been murdered has never shifted to this man. We want the mystery cleared up. The insurance matter is nothing; we don't care about that, but we do ask that the deaths of father and of Charles Hayes be investigated."

Later in the day the son visited Chief Deputy District Attorney Cryer and named a Vernon man as a suspect. He was told that if anything developed, which would warrant a grand jury investigation, the matter would be laid before that body, but that Mr. Cryer did not consider the facts so far laid before him as sufficient for grand jury action.

Treasure Hunt.

DIVINING ROD ON TRAIL OF SIR FRANCIS DRAKE.

UNDAUNTED by numerous failures in the past to locate any of the fabled treasure of the Santa Monica Mountains, the curious organization known as the Malibu Treasure Hunters' Association has grubstaked S. H. Jackson of Santa Monica, and one of the enthusiastic members, on a prospecting tour of the hills. Upon his report the future activities of the association will depend. If the result of his investigations hold out any encouragement the treasure hunters will make a sortie in force. In their hunt for the chests of Spanish doubloons supposed to have been buried in the Malibu by pirates of days long ago they will be armed with a highly-modernized variation of the old-fashioned divining rod which is said to have been used with success in recent excavations in buried cities of the Orient. This device is a vacuum tube containing a delicate mechanism which is supposed to become violently agitated when approaching any considerable body of metal.

Should Mr. Jackson succeed in locating any of the caches of Sir Francis Drake or any of those who came after or before him, the association is prepared to make extensive excavations. One of the things for which he is seeking is a mysterious cave which early writers agree upon as being located 100 paces from the sea in a canyon opening off the "Malaga" coast. The Malaga of those days is identical with the Malibu of today, and although many have sought the elusive cavern with its strange hieroglyphics graven high upon the dark wall, none has been rewarded. Whether the characters are Aztec or Indian the legends and early writers do not make clear, although agreeing in the main that the work was that of men of great stature.

The recent discovery along the coast of bones of aboriginies of abnormal size gives color to the theory that the work and bones may have been those of one of the lost tribes. Whether the cave will also prove a treasure house is one of the things the directors of the treasure-hunting organization are anxious to find out.

Remarkable.

CAR SOMERSAULTS DOWN MOUNTAIN; NONE HURT.

FIVE persons had a remarkable escape last Monday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding down the precipitous San Gabriel Canyon slid over an embankment and then fell 100 feet down the mountainside. While the mcahine was almost completely wrecked, the occupants sustained few injuries, and all of them were able to be about yesterday.

Those comprising the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell of No. 1041 West Thirty-sixth place; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ossey, No. 1315 West Fifteenth street, and Thomas Pollock. Of the five, Mrs. Russell sustained a sprained ankle and a few bruises about the body.

The party had been spending the day at a picnic in the canyon and when evening approached started home. They were about half way down the trail when they met a team of horses coming up. Mr. Russell, owner of the automobile, turned to the right side of the road to let the team pass when the soft dirt gave way and before any of the occupants could get out of the machine it slid over the bank.

"It all happened so quickly that we did not realize what we were facing," said Mrs. Russell at her home. "The automobile started to turning somersaults, throwing us first to the top of the machine, which was covered, and then we would fall with a thud to the bottom of it. When it ceased tumbling we had fallen at least 100 feet and the automobile was right side up. I was the only one to leave the car and I was partially buried beneath it."

Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Ossey were brought to their homes in another automobile while the man of the party had to walk to Azusa and get a street car.

Motor Accidents.

SPEED PRIDE AND FOG BRING DEATH TO TWO.

FOG AND speed pride caused two accidents yesterday which killed two men, the fog having cost the life of H. G. Helmich, 28 years old, No. 4827 Second avenue, and a desire not to have his motor car passed taking the life of John J. Finn, construction foreman of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation. Both were instantly killed.

With John J. Finn, who lived with his family at No. 866 East Thirty-ninth street, was Ralph J. Shaffer, an usher, living at No. 1710 Oxford avenue. He is in the California Hospital receiving treatment for serious bruises and a cut face. His condition is not dangerous.

Mr. Finn, a middle aged man, was returning from Venice with Mr. Shaffer and the two were taking the Washington Hill near the old city limits on Washington boulevard, when A. W. Schuler, of Lompoc, in a smaller car, swerved past Mr. Finn's car.

Mr. Finn interpreted the action as a challenge and according to witnesses who reported to the police, released every unit of reserve strength in his machine and it dashed ahead. Mr. Schuler's car had not yet returned fully to the right of the road since turning out to pass Mr. Finn. Whether Mr. Finn was unprepared for the terrible burst of speed, and was unable to manipulate the car, or whether in a reckless mood he tried to drive close to the other car, is a problem Mr. Shaffer could not solve.

Mr. Finn's big machine caught Mr. Schuler's car back of the left rear wheel, tore the rear and front wheels off, smashed the body, and wrecked it. His own machine, caught in the debris of the struck car, flopped over, then writhed and turned again, and under it were crushed Mr. Finn and Mr. Shaffer.

D. McFarland, No. 1618 St. Marks avenue, Venice, was a witness to the tragedy. In his machine he took the two men to the California Hospital. Mr. Finn was already dead.

Mr. Helmich was killed at Slauson avenue and Mait street. He was astride a motorcycle boring through a heavy fog. Riding in the opposite direction was Earnest McClusky, No. 229 Manor street, 20 years old.

The youth said he heard the distant purring of a machine but his headlight did not reveal anything in the path, nor did he see the other headlight. Suddenly the crash came. Mr. Helmich was thrown twenty feet in the air, alighting on his head. His neck was broken. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, but the surgeons found he had died instantly.

Mr. McClusky was taken into custody by the police but released when he explained the accident, his details having been verified by an inspection of the ground when the fog lifted.

GREAT WORK ON CRIMSON FIELD.

Red Cross Head Tells About Task in Europe.

Deplores American Lack of Interest in Society.

Six Thousand Nurses Ready for Mobilization.

"There is no power for good in the world today as great as that of the Red Cross," declared Miss Mabel T. Boardman, chairman of the national board of the American National Red Cross, last night. She is a guest of the Pasadena chapter.

"It is a mistake to think that I am head of the American Red Cross Society, as many people do. The President of the United States is always president of the society, and he finds it his greatest aid in time of disaster. When that time comes he cannot put his hand in the National Treasury, but goes instead to the Red Cross for assistance, as he has been doing in the aid of the European war sufferers and in Mexico.

"The Red Cross can do what the government can't do. For instance, England declared all motor vehicles contraband, but when the Harvard and Yale students gave seventeen motor ambulances to Germany, Belgium, Austria, France and England, we had no trouble whatever in getting them to their destinations."

SMALL IN AMERICA.

Miss Boardman deplored the small interest taken in the society in the United States, where it has only 22,000 members, while Japan has 1,800,000 and Germany has 1,000,000. While on the Pacific Coast she has been doing all in her power to create interest in the organization. Everybody in the United States, who is able, ought to be a member, she declared. The way she puts it, every one ought to be patriotic a dollar's worth. Her great aim is to give information and stimulate interest in the work of the society.

According to Miss Boardman, the American Red Cross administers an average relief fund of $1,000,000 a year and in the past ten years has administered more than $10,000,000.

All Red Cross funds are audited by the War Department and reports are filed with Congress, so that as long as the United States is a nation, anyone can find out in just what the society has done in the European war or in any other catastrophe.

MANY NURSES READY.

At the present time, according to Miss Boardman, there are 6000 of the best trained nurses ready to be mobilized. She denies that Red Cross nurses are fired on and killed in the European war; says that when one is killed it is only by accident, for every nurse and every surgeon sent out by the Red Cross has the protection that can be given to no one else. The nurses are not seen on the battle fields nor are they at the field hospitals, but are stationed at the reserve hospitals where all the operations are performed. Red Cross hospitals are never fired upon if the enemy can see the Red Cross flag.

Miss Boardman became identified with the Red Cross by accident. Some prominent women in New York, headed by Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. W. S. Cowles, became interested in Red Cross work during the Spanish War, and wishing it to become a national organization, desired some one in Washington to look after the interests of the society. They put Miss Boardman's name on the list of members when the society was reincorporated as a member of the Executive Committee.

The work of the American Red Cross is under the direction of three boards—the War Relief Board, the National Board and the International Board. Surgeon-General Gorgas is chairman of the first, Miss Boardman is chairman of the second and Secretary of State Lansing is chairman of the International Board.

Miss Boardman will be guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Hotel Maryland at 1 o'clock this afternoon by the Pasadena chapter and the Pasadena Board of Trade. She will deliver an address on the "Origin, Organization and the Work of the Red Cross." At 4 o'clock in the afternoon she will speak at the Alexandria Hotel. She will tell of the work done among the war victims on the European battlefields, discuss the conditions which exist, and urge support of the organization if the humanitarian work is to be continued on a larger scale.

Delightful, Sir!

SOUTH SENDS US PRETTY GIRLS.

"ITS BEST-KNOWN PRODUCT," SAYS COMMISSIONER.

Famous "Grown-in-Mississippi" Special Arrives with Forty County Sponsors Who are Entertained by Local Chamber of Commerce. They Visited Exposition.

Captained by Agricultural Commissioner H. E. Blakeslee a "Grown-in-Mississippi" special arrived yesterday afternoon with forty county sponsors, a score of pretty girls, and a sprinkling of mere men aboard.

"The best known product of the second State in the Union is its women," said Mr. Blakeslee. "The first State of the Union, sir, is California."

Governor-elect Bilbo, who was to have made the trip as the representative of the Governor, was unavoidably detained at the last minute. As a result, Mr. Blakeslee had to represent the State at the big "Mississippi Day" celebration at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

"As our State is the greatest agricultural State of the old South, a farmer was not out of place at the celebration," said Mr. Blakeslee.

Conceived with the object of showing the West that Mississippians believe in their State, the special train party left Jackson ten days ago and to date has made thirty stops in towns and cities ranging from 2000 to 500,000 population. At each stop literature on Mississippi was distributed and either Mr. Blakeslee or J. M. McDonald, the assistant manager of the Mississippi Building at the San Francisco exposition, made a talk on the opportunities that await the settler below Island No. 10.

"Everybody has heard of the opportunities that await the settler in California and the West," said Mr. Blakeslee, "but they haven't heard much of the rich bottom lands of Mississippi and the corn that beats the world."

The visitors were met on arrival at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Dr. A. J. Scott and members of the reception committee of the Chamber of Commerce and by a special committee of the Mississippi State Society. A trip to Venice had been planned for the afternoon, but the late arrival made it out of the question, so the visitors were taken directly to the Lankershim, which is to be headquarters for the three-days' stay.

Today and tomorrow will be devoted to sightseeing, while tomorrow evening the visitors will be the guests of the Mississippi State Society, at an entertainment in the parlors of Trinity Auditorium. They will leave at 10 o'clock Friday morning in their special train for the East. A number of stops are planned in the Imperial Valley and through Arizona.

FACE TO WALL, GUN AT BACK.

GASOLINE STATION TENDER IS ROBBED BY BANDITS AT HIS STAND.

Forced at the point of a revolver in the hands of a bandit to stand with his face to the wall, Claud Parkes of No. 1316 West Fifth street, in charge of a gasoline and oil station at No. 3360 Wilshire boulevard, was robbed early last night of $16 from the cash register and some small change from his pockets.

The first bandit stod over Parkes with a gun while a second opened the register and searched the victim. The two men then escaped in an old Ford automobile. Both bandits were Americans and very young.

According to Parkes, the highwaymen drove up to his stand and asked for water for their machine. The victim poured in the water. When he had replaced the cap one of the men sprang from the machine and drew a revolver and the robbery followed.

The license numbers of the Ford were covered with cloth. Parkes was unable to give a good description of the two robbers.

MIND A BLANK FOR TWO DAYS.

San Diego Woman Wandering on City Streets.

Doesn't Know How or When She Came Here.

Pronounced a Rare Case of Complete Amnesia.

Suffering from amnesia, Mrs. George Smith, 52 years of age and the wife of a contractor living at Twenty-first and M streets, San Diego, was taken to the Receiving Hospital last night. She was unable to remember anything which took place during the past two days, during which she left her home in San Diego and came to this city and a patrolman found her wandering about the downtown district.

Treated in the hospital by Dr. Willey and Dr. Hiller, Mrs. Smith partially recovered her memory but was unable to tell the surgeons how she came to be in this city. The last thing she could recall was having gone to bed in her home in San Diego Sunday night. She asked for her husband.

According to Patrolman Sweeney, who discovered Mrs. Smith, she was walking abstractedly near Fifth and Broadway. The officer accosted her and inquired what the trouble was. Mrs. Smith was unable to give a coherent reply, and the officer took charge of her. She was fully clothed, and had $1.50 in her purse.

In broken sentences Mrs. Smith related her story to the doctors at the hospital. Sunday afternoon, she declared, she went for a walk with her husband, but returned home early because she was feeling sick. A short time later she went to bed. What she did or where she went during the hours she wandered about Mrs. Smith declared she has no idea. How or when she made her way to Los Angeles she does not know. According to her statments her mind is blank from the time she went to bed in her home Sunday night until she was taken into the Receiving Hospital here last night.

According to Police Surgeon Wiley Mrs. Smith's case is the first case of absolute amnesia ever treated in the Receiving Hospital. He states that most of the cases which have come to his attention have been only partial loss of memory, or a loss of memory for a few hours.

Mrs. Smith will be detained here until some of her relatives or friends call for her.

Mr. Smith is retired and owns considerable property.

BRIGHT FORECAST FOR LOS ANGELES.

QUARTETTE OF SPEAKERS TELL AD CLUB OF FUTURE.

Bank President, Head of Chamber of Commerce and Realty Dealer, Join in Chorus of Praise for City and Golden West—Governor, Too.

The indolent past of Los Angeles, wherein it passively accepted the lavish favors of nature; its living present of great achievements, and its future of infinite possibilities—these were the features limned to the delight of members of the Advertising Club yesterday in a series of verbal pictures by President Elliott of the First National Bank, President Bulla of the Chamber of Commerce, and W. M. Garland of the realty firm of the same name. The Governor also joined in the chorus of praise.

"Imagine a town dominated by a three-story building and with but 2000 American inhabitants," said Mr. Elliot, "and you have some idea of the Los Angeles of forty-five years ago. The building was that of the National Hotel, then known as the Pico House.

"When I first came here the cattle that were once so plentiful had been killed off in the drouth of 1862-3, and had been replaced by sheep. There were sheep by the tens of thousands, and they made what is now the garden of the world one vast dust heap. When the wind blew the dust rolled in billows like storm clouds and often fell on the decks of vessels far out at sea.

"One of the greatest sheep runs belonged to an unreconstructed Confederate. It was where Pasadena now stands. This unreconstructed Confederate sold that sheep run to newcomers from the East for $7.50 an acre and boasted that he had got even with the whole Yankee nation at once."

Prefacing his address by the statement that Los Angeles's progress was the top note in municipal development in the twentieth century, President Bulla of the Chamber of Commerce clinched his assertion by a startling array of figures.

"Los Angeles grew from a population of 11,000 to that of 550,000 within the memory of men still active in business," he said. "The sleepy Mexican pueblo of yesterday now has room in its hotels and apartment-houses for 150,000 persons; its electric lines last year handled 190,988,180 passengers; the value of manufactured products for the past fiscal year was $157,000,000; its bank clearings were $1,145,167,100."

"When I figure on California's future I always have Italy in mind," said Mr. Garland. "Italy has an area of 110,000 square miles and a population of 40,000,000 souls; California an area of 158,000 square miles and a population but little over 3,500,000. California can and will make the same growth as Italy. It is destined to be the home of a teeming, happy, contented population."

That Californians, in spite of the great progress made by the State, have yet to realize the great opportunities that lie about them was emphatically asserted by Mr. Garland. He stated that the completion of the great State highways system will do much to reveal these opportunities, as what is the commonplace to the southerner is the touchstone of fortune to the northerner.

IONE OFFICIALS DENY BRUTALITY.

DECLARES INCORRIGIBLE YOUTH CUT GUARD AND DESERVED ALL HE GOT.

Denying that the guards of the institution had been unduly severe in their chastisement of the boy, H. L. Herrick, official disciplinarian, and J. A. Montgomery, assistant superintendant of the Preston School of Industry at Ione, yesterday appeared before Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court and gave their side of the controversy involving John Forster, who was taken from their jurisdiction last week.

Forster told the judge he had been inhumanly treated by the guards, who, he said, beat him without reason and upon this statement together with another that he has been confined to some penal institution nearly all his life, the court released the youth to his mother and she now has him working on a ranch near Redlands. It developed yesterday that Judge Reeve intends only to give the boy a trial of four months and if he violates the parole he will be rearrested and returned to Ione.

Supt. Nellis of the Whittier school accompanied Messrs. Herrick and Montgomery to Judge Reeve's court and corroborated their statement that Forster was one of the most incorrigible boys they have ever had to handle. They deny that the boy was punished three times as he told the judge, but admitted that he became so obstreperous on one occasion that it was necessary to whip him. He fought desperately and slashed one of the guards with a knife and knocked another insensible with a blow to the chin.

"I have made a study of discipline at the University of California," said Mr. Herrick, "and I am trying to work out new methods at Ione. So far as possible we do not resort to the rod, corporal punishment being the last method of punishment. This boy is unusually bad, but no one gave him unnecessary punishment."

FAUSER CASE UP.

Smuggling Charges that Brought Los Angeles Attorney-politician to Grief up for Hearing at Last.

In Judge Bledsoe's court today, the court and a jury will begin the hearing of the charge against Helen Fauser and Henry W. Fauser, her husband, charged with smuggling smoking opium across the line. The Fausers are the only defendants left of an original six, all of the others having pleaded guilty and served their terms.

The Fauser case has been quite celebrated locally, as it was this job that resulted in the conviction of Frederick M. Shepard, an attorney, and A. C. Brown, an Imperial county rancher, on the charge of smuggling. Brown is now in San Quentin, and Shepard has appealed his case. Brown was in the County Jail with the Fausers and learned where the opium was cached; Shepard was the attorney of the prisoners and learned through them and Brown where the stuff was hidden. Shepard and Brown made a trip across the line and brought back a load of the contraband. Brown took it to Denver, but failed to sell it, later on giving it to a man named Cole, who carried it to San Francisco and was arrested as he stepped off the train. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the Alameda County Jail.

Lordsburg.

BIG RETURNS TO CITRUS FRUIT PRODUCERS SHOWN.

LORDSBURG, Sept. 4.—Elsberry W. Reynolds, D. C. Crookshank, Dr. V. W. Baker, J. F. Cumberland, W. S. Romick, S. M. Kepner and M. W. Bennett were today elected as the Board of Directors of the La Verne Orange and Lemon Growers' Association for the ensuing year.

The annual meeting was the largest in the six years history of the association, nearly 300 being seated at luncheon. Dr. Webber and Prof. Quayle of the State Citrus Experiment Station addressed the meeting in the afternoon. The annual report of the association manager, D. G. Arbuthnot, showed that there have been shipped during the season, a total of 800 cars of oranges, lemons, tangerines and grapefruit.

Returns to growers on oranges are $274,746.94, as compared with $330,562.21 last year. While the shipments were eighteen cars less than last season, the net returns to the grower were $44,184.73 more. Lemon growers will have received about $40,000 for the season, which will not close until the last of September. This will mean $1.45 per cwt. net to the grower or about 60 cents per loose box on all lemons delivered. This is the first year the association has handled lemons and is regarded as a remarkable record in view of the demoralized condition of the lemon market this season.

Decay on oranges amounted to only .785 per cent. Valencias in pool No. 2, marketed in June and July, netted the growers $3.17 per cwt., a record price for this season of the year. The association, which was organized only six years ago, now has 163 active stockholders who delivered oranges this season from 1147 acres, 100 acres of which are just coming into bearing.

This season's crop averaged 250 packed boxes to the acre, which is much above the average for Southern California. The pre-cooling plant added this year has proven satisfactory in every way. It is pronounced by experts the finest plant in the world.

FINE FIGURES.

LA VERNE ASSOCIATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LORDSBURG, Sept. 7.—Eight hundred carloads of oranges and lemons which brought the growers $418,-$33.68 from 1147 acres, 100 acres of which are new bearing groves, is the remarkable record just made by the members of La Verne Orange and Lemon Growers' Association, which held its annual meeting here today.

Two hundred and fifty packed boxes of oranges per acre is the record which, it is believed, stands without a parallel in Southern California, at least for this season. This point was brought out by Manager D. G. Arbuthnot in the reading of his annual report.

From 100 acres of lemons the exchange shipped in ten months 3400 packed boxes, or 340 boxes per acre. The season run would probably have averaged a carload per acre.

The Washington navel crop netted the growers $1.67 per cwt., or $1.17 per packed box. The average on the entire crop was $1.87 per cwt., or $1.31 per packed box.

NEW INSTITUTION OF HOLY NAMES.

PLANS FOR CATHOLIC SISTERS' SCHOOL TO BE OPENED AT PASADENA THIS MONTH.

At the request of many friends, the Sisters of the Holy Names, those cultured women whose large convents at Oakland and Ramona have been so successful and have made such an impression upon educational work in California, have completed plans for opening a school in Pasadena. Mother M. Symphorosa, principal superior of the convent and college of the Holy Names at Oakland, is now in Pasadena, completing the arrangements. The school will open September 27, in a beautiful home at Bellefontaine street and St. John avenue, Pasadena, with Sister Margaret, long connected with Ramona Convent, as principal. It will be a small and exclusive school with lovely surroundings. It has the indorsement of many educators, including President Wheeler of the State University at Berkeley, who in a letter to Mother Symphorosa says: "Our experience with the Oakland school both through the university examiner and the pupils who have come to us, assures us beyond a doubt of the excellence and success which may be expected to attend you in the undertaking at Pasadena."

Courses similar to those pursued at the college in Oakland will be offered at the new school. Particular attention will be given to college preparatory and post-graduate work. In addition to these courses special instruction will be given to girls in the grammar and primary grades.

The number of day pupils is limited so as to insure individual training. The number of pupils in residence is also limited. Out-of-door classrooms will be a down-to-date feature.

Bishop Conaty has given the enterprise his hearty indorsement.

SEEKS TO OUST OIL CONCERNS.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS FILE THREE MORE SUITS.

These Actions Involve Valuable Kern County Petroleum Lands, and Each Quarter Section Is Said to Be Worth More than Quarter of Million Dollars.

Three more suits, involving valuable Kern county oil land, and the withdrawal order of President Taft, were filed in the United States District Court yesterday. In each instance it is the allegation of the government that each quarter of section is worth more than $250,000.

The northwest, northeast and southwest quarter of section 24, township 31, south, range 32, east, located in Kern county, are covered by the complaints filed by E. J. Justice, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Gregory, in one case the defendants are the Brookshire Oil Company, Midway Pacific Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, Coalinga-Monterey Oil Company, General Petroleum Company, and E. D. Burge; in another, the Brookshire Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, Calidin Petroleum Syndicate, General Petroleum Company, General Pipe Line Company, E. D. Burge Oil Company and John Lawson, are defendants; in the third suit, the Brookshire Oil Company, United Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, Pacific Insurance and Trust Company, General Pipe Line Company and E. D. Burge are defendants.

The complaints are almost identical in each case, alleging that the land involved was withdrawn from all forms of public entry by the President on September 27, 1909; that at that time no discoveries of oil had been made, and that in fact, no discoveries were reported until 1911-12. In the case involving the northwest quarter section it is alleged that the defendant, Burge, held a mortgage on the Midway Pacific Oil Company, amounting to $56,000, and among the other prayers of the complaint it is that this mortgage be held to be of force and effect.

The government asks that the defendants be held as having no right or title to the land; that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the property in each of the three-quarter sections, and that the defendants render an accounting to the government for all oil taken out of the ground.

It is understood that the land is rich in oil, and that many large offers have recently been made to the Standard Oil Company, a corporation that has been made a party defendant in each suit.

Pursuant to an order of the Federal Court, granted on the representation of the government that the General Petroleum Company was insolvent, Howard M. Payne, receiver, acting under the authority of a recent agreement, yesterday arranged with the General Petroleum Company to take possession of 1,250,000 barrels of oil that had been in storage. This large amount of oil it was claimed by the government had been taken within the past year from land involved in the pending suits in Kern county. It was pointed out that it had been mixed with oil taken from other lands.

Receiver Payne threatened to take all the stored oil, if the government's oil was not segregated, and it is agreed that 1,250,000 barrels of oil be placed under his control. The oil is valued at $500,000.

Receiver Payne now has under his control in the various oil properties placed in his charge by the Federal Court a physical property worth $2,000,000; $1,250,000 in cash and oil valued at $2,000,000.

Call on Nation.

basis of fifty years ago. The real reason is that preponderant public opinion has never demanded otherwise. The only way in which a change can be made in a government of the people, by the people, for the people, is for the people to use their weapon of public opinion. If we want adequate national defense our one may to secure it is by popular voice.

"On every hand there is evidence that this is desired; we realize that popular interest is now at fever heat, but with the end of the great war, when the press no longer is filled with war news, if nothing is done to maintain that interest it will gradually die out and we will drift along aimlessly once more. To be effective public opinion must be operative over a sufficient length of time."

LEAGUE PROGRAMME.

Mr. Bullitt gave an outline of the programme of the Navy League which he said was organized to contribute to the formation of sound public opinion and of conserving and holding vital and active such public opinion until the results were obtained. The organization now has about 15,000 members and it is expected to have almost 100,000 by the end of the year, each member active in securing intelligent legislation.

The legislation advocated by the Navy League is briefly the following:

"(1.) A consistent continuing programme of naval construction in accordance with the recommendations of our best naval experts.

"(2.) A council of national defense, made up of the President of the United States, the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, the chairmen of the several committees in Senate and House on appropriations, foreign affairs, military and naval affairs, and representatives of the army and the navy. Such a council would be able to correlate and co-ordinate all the elements of national defense, army, navy, coast defense, and munitions and supply which is essential to real efficiency in the preparedness of the nation.

"(3.) A personnel law to provide younger fleet commanders and to relieve the discouraging congestion of the junior lieutenant grade.

"(4.) A large naval reserve. The United States needs a naval reserve of 50,000 men. It has only a few thousand. The way must be found to enlist in the reserve honorably discharged men of the navy and seamen of the merchant marine. Encouragement must also be given to the State and Naval Militia.

"(5.) An American merchant marine including large and fast ships, without which it will be most difficult to provide a well proportioned and adequate navy."

TRADE SHIPS, OPPORTUNITY.

Hon. John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American Union and formerly United States Ambassador to Argentine, spoke upon, "Pan-American Commerce, Our Merchant Marine and the Great Opportunity." "All the effort now being made to secure trade relations with Latin America may prove in vain unless the next session of Congress provides for a merchant marine to care for the trade and a navy to protect it," declared Mr. Barrett.

"The billions of dollars being spent upon ports of the Pacific will be like a vast investment without insurance against disaster, if no action is taken. If action is postponed two years or until another Congress assembles, the nation or group of nations successful in the European war will be in a position not only to recover all the trade of Latin America they have lost, but to seriously cripple the vast new commerce which the United States is seeking to develop.

"The United States lost approximately $200,000,000 in trade with Latin America during the first year of the war because it had no merchant marine, and in the event of a war with an Asiatic or European power we stand in danger of losing our entire trade with our sister republics, valued at more than $800,000,000 per year, because of our need of an adequate navy to protect it."

Among others at the banquet were Senator Stone, Congressman Stephens, E. L. Doheny, Capt. J. D. Fredericks, Dr. A. G. Scott, J. C. Drake, Capt. Randolph H. Miner and Lieut. Morgan Adams.

—prepare today for the preservation of your estate after death!

Many men are so busy building up their fortunes that they forget the importance of properly preparing for the preservation of their estates after death. To die intestate (without having made a Will) might work great injustice to one's heirs. To make a Will and name some friend as executor and administrator, often proves extremely unsatisfactory.

To name a strong, experienced and thoroughly organized institution such as Title Insurance and Trust Company, as executor and trustee under your Will, is to absolutely insure the proper administration of your estate.

You can provide for the constant preservation of your estate, by willing that your property is to be held in trust by Title Insurance and Trust Company, for the benefit of your heirs. This forever prevents the dissipation of your estate through speculation, inexperience or carelessness. Write or call for our booklets, "Life and Property," and "Trust Company Service."

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The arrival in Halifax of another huge shipment of gold and securities from England, destined for America, is reported and will be added to the stocks now here, which are said to be overflowing in bank vaults. Bank clearings in Los Angeles so far this year are greatly in excess of a year ago. Dealing in industrial and commercial securities is somewhat halted because of the Hesperian incident, brokers not being overanxious to make new commitments until this question is disposed of. War stocks, however, continue to climb still higher.

(Abroad:) London was a good buyer of American bonds, the day's total being estimated at $1,000,000.

THE SLIDING CANAL.

Twenty-two ships blocked in the Panama Canal because of a slide. Col. Goethals better go back and finish his job. In the meantime the traffic agents of the transcontinental roads are having a first-class gloat.

RECOGNIZING A SOLDIER.

It is gratifying that in his visit to Rome Gen. Joffre should have had the splendid recognition he received at the hands of King Victor Emmanuel and Gen. Cadorna. Gen. Joffre has perhaps been the strongest figure in the ranks of the allies. He is a soldier of brains and valor.

CONSEQUENCES ARE THE SAME.

Germany is getting into the cheerful habit of disavowing the responsibility for submarining British vessels, but this does not bring the sunken ships to the surface. On the other hand, the Teutons doubtless feel that they can forego the credit for the work so long as the craft of the enemy continue to find the bottom.

SHOWS IN THE NIGHT.

New York has its midnight theaters. They do not open until the magic hour and they do not close until dawn. In Los Angeles we have no such theater, but quite often we produce shows that are fit only for such consumption. It is too bad to waste some of our performances upon the daylight or the tranquillity of early evening.

A BIG CATCH.

Already 350 whales have been taken this season off Gray's Harbor, Or., and if the weather had not been inclement many more might have been captured. Why do these leviathans of the deep make such a mad rush for Gray's Harbor? What is the attraction? or are the Gray's Harborites lying just a little about the size of their catch?

THE POET'S WAY.

In the thousands of war reports from correspondents at or near the front guns have "boomed" and "roared" till we are tired of hearing about them. Rudyard Kipling writes, "Something bellowed across the folds of the wooded hills. Something grunted in reply. Two clear, fresh barks joined the chorus." That's the poet's way; he gives you the real and not the conventional.

WHAT THE EYE DOESN'T SEE.

Girl corset makers in great numbers are applying for positions in ammunition factories. Are they brutalized and unfeminine? Not in the least. They simply find that making shells is easier and more profitable than making corsets. They don't see the effect of the shells when they are put to their deadly use and they do see the effects of the extra dollars they earn in making their own homes more comfortable. Corset makers are human—that's all.

EVERYBODY STUDYING.

It would take a library to enumerate all of the wonders of Los Angeles. We have been printing information along this line for more than thirty years. One feature of our city's life which is a continual revelation to students of civic welfare is the quality of our night schools. In these schools you will find people with white hair who are educating themselves systematically in branches of study which they never before had an opportunity to enter. In these schools a man may learn anything from reading and writing to electrical engineering or the building of an automobile.

SUBMARINE WARFARE.

Facts are coming to light that may reverse the public belief that a fleet of submarines is adequate defense for our American coast against any hostile navy. The success of the submarines in the European war have been startling, but have they been conclusive? The other side of the story—how many submarines have been lost—has not yet been told. At any rate, German submarines have not made a record against the British navy to compare with that of the forts guarding the Dardanelles, while Heligoland is still the Teutons' main defense against an attack by sea.

Before the American people pay the bill for a vast fleet of submarines it would be as well to make reasonably sure that this form of coast defense will fill the bill. Already our naval experts are beginning to pay more attention to the value of swift destroyers as a backbone for naval defense. The American navy will not be designed to sink cargo vessels or to torpedo passenger boats. Against high-speed destroyers the submarine has not so far shown its superiority.

JUSTICE HENSHAW'S OPINION ON WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The dissenting opinion of Justice Henshaw of the Supreme Court of California in the case of the Western Indemnity Company against the Industrial Accident Commission of this State, reported in the August number of California Decisions, is a clear and powerfully-reasoned presentation of the law of the case and leaves upon the mind of the unprejudiced reader the conviction that the dissenting opinion ought to have been the majority decision of the court.

The question at issue was the constitutionality of the Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Act, generally known as the Boynton act, passed by the California Legislature in 1913. The Industrial Accident Commission awarded compensation to one L. Rudder, a section foreman employed by the Ocean Shore Railroad Company, for injuries received by him in a fight with George Pappas, a Greek section hand, who resisted the efforts of Rudder to discharge him and declined to surrender his shovel. Rudder thereupon attacked Pappas and struck him on the side of the head with a jack stick five feet long and as thick as one's wrist. As Pappas fell to his knees by the force of the blow he grabbed Rudder about the feet, tripped him and threw him between the rails, climbed on top of him and, with his teeth, tore the flesh on Rudder's face, hands and arms.

The Boynton act declares that "Liability for the compensation provided by this act, in lieu of any other liability whatsoever, shall without regard to negligence, exist against an employer for any personal injuries sustained by his employees by accident arising out of and in the course of the employment and for the death of any such employee if the injury shall proximately cause death where, at the time of the accident, the employee is performing service growing out of and incidental to his employment and is acting within the course of his employment as such."

The Industrial Accident Commission found that Rudder, in making an attack upon Pappas with a club, was performing service within the course of his employment and was entitled to recover damages against his employer for the injuries that Pappas inflicted upon him.

If Pappas had claimed damages for injuries inflicted by the blow of the club received "in the course of his employment" the commission would by the same train of reasoning have allowed it.

The Boynton act provides that the employer shall be liable "where the injury is proximately caused by accident, with or without negligence, and is not so caused by the intoxication or the wilful misconduct of the injured employee." And it excludes from the benefits of the law "any employee engaged in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural or horticultural labor, in stock or poultry raising or in household domestic service."

The Supreme Court, in its opinion, admits that "the long-established doctrines of contributory negligence, of assumption of risk and of negligence of a fellow-servant are by this law swept out of existence, and are given no weight in proceedings by employees against employers on account of injuries received in the employment." But the Supreme Court holds that the Boynton act was warranted by Section 21 of Article XX of the Constitution of California, which reads: "The Legislature may by appropriate legislation create and enforce a liability on the part of all employers to compensate their employees for any injury incurred by the said employees in the course of their employment, irrespective of the fault of either party."

It was claimed by the appellant in the case under review that the clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution guaranteeing "due process of law" and "the equal protection of the law" were violated by the Boynton law.

The Supreme Court admits that the Boynton law "substitutes a new system of rights and obligations for the common-law rules governing the liability of employers for injuries to their workmen. The change thus made is radical, not to say revolutionary. In place of the old action, in which the employer was liable only if he, or someone representing him, had been guilty of negligence or misconduct, the new law imposes upon the employer a liability for any accidental injuries to his employees arising out of the employment—a liability not conditioned upon any negligence of the employer, or any want of negligence on the part of the employee. All that is required is that the injury shall not have been caused by the intoxication or the willful misconduct of the injured employee."

The Supreme Court affirms the constitutionality of the Boynton law mainly upon the authority of a decision of the Supreme Court of Washington validating a similar statute. But, as Judge Henshaw states in his dissenting opinion, the Washington statute is not similar. The Washington statute imposes a liability only where the employer is conducting a business that is extra hazardous, such as the manufacture of explosives.

The California law "makes no such discrimination, exercises no selective discretion, but says that every employer shall pay a fixed sum of money to every injured employee." It commands that "all employers pay directly to all employees indeterminate sums—amounts which may ruin them—based upon no fault of the employer, but solely on the circumstances of the relationship."

The New York Court of Appeals said that a similar law to the Boynton act passed in that State did violence to common-law principles, to the spirit of our jurisprudence and to constitutional safeguards. State and national, and Justice Henshaw quotes the New York decision approvingly.

The Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which guarantees to all "the equal protection of the law," was "intended to prevent the arbitrary exercise of power, or undue, unjust and capricious interference with personal rights."

Justice Henshaw says that the constitutional provision on which the Boynton law is based is a "declaration that an employer without fault shall deliver over his property to an injured employee;" it is a "declaration that the Legislature may take the property of the prosperous and bestow it on the needy."

Justice Henshaw holds that the Boynton law violates the Constitution of the United States. "Broadly, it says to every employer: 'You shall pay a stated sum of money to every employee who is injured while in your employ, though he be injured through no fault of your own.' The law says that for no wrong, for no fault, even, the citizen shall give his property to a man injured by the latter's own neglect. Why? In reason only because he has employed that man. But contracts of employment are not wrong. They are not alone desirable; they are absolutely necessary to the welfare of the State. Why should the employer be thus penalized? American citizenship has been bred in the belief that to each man was given the utmost liberty of contract, of initiative, of action, so long as he did not trespass upon the equal rights of his fellows. It has been told and taught that a man was responsible for his wrongs, civilly or criminally, or both; but it has also been told and taught that where one had committed no wrong he walked scatheless and unharmed in person and property."

The exemptions which the Boynton act affords from the exemptions of the law are absurd. If a teamster in a city is, while guiding his horses, struck by lightning and killed his employer must pay his family. If he is struck by lightning while plowing his employer escapes all liability. If a girl while making butter in a farmhouse is injured by a cyclone which destroys the building her employer incurs no liability. If her sister, working in a creamery, is similarly injured by the same cyclone her employer must pay. A farmhand who, while feeding the hens, is attacked and beaten by ruffian, has no claim for money damages against his employer. If he had been a salesman in the store where poultry was sold and had been similarly attacked, his employer might have been bankrupted by the operations of the Boynton law. If the Boynton law had been in existence when The Times was dynamited its proprietors, in addition to their other losses, would have been compelled to pay the money value of the twenty men who were murdered.

Justice Henshaw says:

"One man working at a given craft with five others, by the exercise of these qualities, saves enough to become their employer. They are fairly treated, and liberally paid. He works with them. By an explosion, due to the negligence of one, all are killed. If he lives he is ruined, and his future lifework devoted to paying those he has not wronged. If he dies with them, from his estate must come the death awards to the others, even if it leave his own family destitute. Nor is this all. For every injury occurring through the neglect or intent of a stranger the employer is equally responsible. Besides his own uncompensated loss he will be mulct to pay for the crimes of the murderer and anarchist."

Justice Henshaw concludes his dissenting opinion as follows:

"It would be trifling to attempt to argue that the risk of the exempted occupations are not as great as, and in many instances vastly greater than, in the employments and industries coming under the protection and benefit of the law. Is the handling of modern machinery upon a farm any less dangerous than the handling of like machinery elsewhere? Is the employee engaged in plowing, harvesting and care of his team upon a farm incurring less hazard than the same teamster or stableman in a town? Is the answering of a telephone or the selling of shoes more hazardous than the dangers attending the hired man of the farmer, the milker or driver of a dairyman, the winemaker or the viticulturist? But there is no need for more examples, when the multitude of them floods every mind at first thought. What are the consequences of this classification? The State being interested in the indemnification of employees and the creation and substitution of a new liability upon their employers, by what authority shall the Legislature say that it will refuse the benefits of this law to innumerable employees as fully entitled to its benefits as are those who are included therein? Upon the one hand, if the law be a beneficial law to the employer, as is argued, why should the farmer, dairyman and viticulturist be debarred from its privileges and benefits? Upon the other hand, if the law be a detriment to the employer, why should they be exempted from its operation? If a classification such as this is to be sustained, then all the constitutional provisions against special and class legislation may be cast as rubbish to the void.'"

Sambo's Sad Mistake.

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] Recently a colored party living in the suburbs of a big city married a large brunette named Lucinda. Three weeks later he appeared at the office of a lawyer, looking as if he might have been dented with flatirons and bumped into by a road roller.

"Can't stand it no longer, boss," he sadly remarked to the legal one. "I wants a divawce from dat Lucinda. Las' t'ing she chucked at me was de stove. Tomorrer it will be de chimbley."

"That's all right, Sam," soothingly returned the lawyer, seeking to effect a reconciliation. "Everything will come out all right. Besides, you know you took Lucinda for better or for worse."

"Yes, sah," admitted Sambo. "So I did, sah; but she is a whole lot wuss dan I took her for."

Old-Time Strike Laws.

[London Chronicle:] This new law framed to punish the English worker who presumes wilfully to "down tools" is an elaborated revival of older rules. Thus, in 1744, for example, when sundry tailors of London combined, and gave it out that they were unwilling to work for the wages established, it needed but the revival of an old act for a public proclamation to be issued declaring that any man who refused to work "should be committed to hard labor for two months." This old act went further. Any employer who dared to pay higher wages than those established could be fined £5 for each offense. The employers rarely transgressed.

NEUTRALITY AND REPARTEE.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

We were at the big picnic. The benign sun gilded the tops of the tall cottonwoods and all the world seemed fair to look upon. From the streaming throng a casual acquaintance paused to exchange greetings.

"By the way," he added cheerily, "what State are you from?"

"Me? Why, I'm a Sucker," I answered, with some pride.

"Yes, I know you're a sucker," he responded, pleasantly, "but what State are you from?"

"Don't you know that the people from Illinois are Suckers?" said I with some heat.

"Doubtless many of them are," answered my acquaintance, "but not all. I met a bond salesman from Chicago last week and he was as far from being a sucker as a Turk is from the Baptist church. He sold me some irrigation bonds for the South Hades district, and I found afterward that you couldn't develop an inch of water in a million years if you had a corkscrew 100 feet long."

"Don't be foolish," interrupted I, with some asperity. "Since the days of George Washington Irving, the inventor of the currycomb and author of "Prairie Dog Tales," the people of Illinois have been mentioned as Suckers, just as the Iowans are Hawkeyes and the men from Michigan Wolverines. It is their pet name, as it were."

"Oh, I see; and when you say that you are a sucker——"

"I mean that I am from Illinois to succor some of the suffering sons of the Southwest," interrupted I.

"Oh! you're that kind of a sucker?" exclaimed my acquaintance. "Well, what are you doing to keep busy in these warlike times?"

"I'm keeping neutral," said I. "For a while I was killing germs for the Germans and then I turned to ringing bells for the Belgians."

"Is that so?" snorted my acquaintance with some sarcasm. "I thought maybe you were Japanning the Japanese or raising ostriches for the Austrians."

"Not any more," said I calmly. "I'm too busy baling hay for the Haitians and mixing mescal for the Mexicans, but what are you doing yourself?"

"Me? Oh, I'm trying to keep in line," replied my acquaintance. "When I'm not serving syrup to the Servians I am taking turkey to the Turks."

"Good for you!" exclaimed I, heartily. "I thought you were merely picking peas for the Peruvians."

"Not me; that was my brother," retorted my acquaintance. "But I heard that you were raising Cain with the Canadians."

"Only for a short time," explained I. "That was after I had got through rushing the Russians and before I was paring pears for the Parisians; but I heard that you got pinched for cracking China and smoking cubebs with the Cubans."

"Not guilty," remonstrated my acquaintance. "I was only canning chili for the Chileans and heating it hot for the Hottentots. I heard you were with the Czar's armies."

"Only for a little while," explained I.

"What for?"

"I just wanted to see their Finnish," said I apologetically.

"Gee! It's hard to be neutral," exclaimed my acquaintance.

"It is that," admitted I, "especially when it comes to supplying the scrappers with the tools of their bloody trade."

"We ought to do it the way Emil Hofmeister did," suggested my acquaintance.

"How was that?" inquired I. "I'll be the goat."

"Well, it was just this way: One of the French generals tried to get an order for a hundred thousand pounds of powder through the American Drug Company. Hofmeister was the shipping clerk for the house and when he got the order he studied it over for a while. He didn't know exactly what kind to send. As it was a French address he thought at first he would put up fifty tons of talcum powder, but being a patriotic German he finally boxed up the full quantity of seidlitz powder and let it go at that."

"Well," said I, "is that all."

"That's about all," said my acquaintance. "After that seidlitz powder went through the French army it left it so weak that the German force walked over it like a St. Bernard over a rubber mat."

"Is that it?" exclaimed I. "I thought perhaps the French troops shot the Kaiser's soldiers all to pieces."

"Not yet."

"Gee! but it's hard to be neutral!"

"It is that."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE OSTRICH.

"The ostrich hides, in sand or shale, its head, when men pursue it." There's just one trouble with this tale—the ostrich doesn't do it. The ostrich has a pair of limbs that shame our modern motors, and o'er the desert sand it skims, when chased by locoed voters. It scoots along with easy tread, as fast as racing cycle; "I do not need to hide my head," it says, "so help me, Michael." Some liar of an older day, some falsifier able, sent forth that roorback on its way, that stale, bewhiskered fable. The ostrich is a bird of sense, with wit and prudence gifted, and from the mists of fable, dense, its fame should soon be lifted. It shows how close a bad renown will stick when once you gain it; you can't excuse or live it down, or sidestep or explain it. A story's told of you in youth—some scandal fiend may fake it—and be it lie or be it truth, you'll find it hard to shake it. So let us cease to pass around the tales that have no backing; some good man's fame we thus may wound, some heart we may be cracking. WALT MASON.

Learning how God meant men to live?
You promised fealty. Your vow
Was pledged to me. I need you now!

I need you now, my sons! Why wait
Till an invader storms the gate?
Your desperate resistance then
Might not avail. A host of men
Untrained, undisciplined, are less,
In time of peril and distress,
Than half that multitude would be
Versed in the art of soldiery.

Or, these, my children! So secure,
So confident, so over-sure,
While Europe dies, with warning writ
In blood across the face of it!
Valor, I doubt not, warms your hearts;
Discretion is the better part!
Lest to the scourge your neck must bow,
Be ye prepared! I need you now!

STIFF DOSE FOR BLACKMAILERS.

FINE FOR M'KELVEY; FINE AND JAIL FOR STEVENS.

Lawyers Who Conspired to Use the Bills in Bleeding Men Accused by Cooked Women are Denounced by Federal Judge—Notice of Appeal Is Forthwith Filed.

Denying the motion of a new trial proposed in behalf of Charles S. McKelvey and W. H. Stevens, attorneys, found guilty of using the mails in blackmail, United States District Judge Trippet yesterday sentenced McKelvey to pay a fine of $2500 and Stevens to pay a fine of $2500 and serve six months in the County Jail.

Notice of appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals was filed, and the defendants held in bond pending the decision on the appeal—McKelvey in $5000 and Stevens in $10,000. McKelvey furnished bond and was released.

In disposing of the motion the court did not touch on the point raised upon by the defendants to reverse the lower court—the doctrine that in cases of conspiracy as this was shown to be after the commission of the overt act are not admissible as evidence, as was held in a number of decisions by the United States Supreme Court. On this ground it is set up that evidence showing the acts of the defendants after the mailing of the letters addressed to W. H. Evans of Monrovia and Kyle McBratney of El Centro, forming the basis of the indictment, was not admissible.

In passing judgment Judge Trippet said there was evidence showing the guilt of McKelvey in that he assisted in the preparation of a complaint in the case of a lewd woman when he should have known as an attorney that there could be no true cause of action stated when such a woman is involved; that there is no such thing as guilt by consent, and that when he clearly learned what Stevens was doing he should either have withdrawn from the case or kicked Stevens out of his office. The female client of the defendants was a disreputable woman and there could be no basis for damages in her behalf.

Judge Trippet denounced the action of Stevens as of the most reprehensible character; there was evidence, he said, to show that he was guilty of the most dastardly attempt to blackmail certain men in this community and the State authorities should prosecute both defendants for conspiracy. With this charge the government had nothing to do.

Assistant United States District Attorney O'Connor asked that the extreme penalty of the law, two years in the penitentiary and a fine of $5000, be imposed upon both men, but the court said that if the judgment of the lower court was affirmed they would be disbarred from practicing their profession and that would be severe enough in the case of McKelvey at least, who has been active for many years and has built up a large business.

On the point advanced in behalf of Stevens, that there had been newly-discovered evidence, Judge Trippet declared that they had not been very diligent in securing testimony and it was now too late to consider it.

W. J. Johnstone, attorney, called the attention of the court to the fact that the jury had recommended McKelvey to the mercy of the court. Because that he had nothing to say in behalf of his clients except that both of them would be ruined professionally as a result of the trial.

New Land Office Does Away With Rule Working Hardship on Under-Financed Claimants.

Commissioner Tallman, of the General Land Office, at Washington, has issued an important ruling on land matters, received yesterday at the Los Angeles Land Office. Heretofore when claimants have failed to file answers to contests their clients have suffered by the negligence of attorneys, who have not properly informed the land officials of the fact, with the result that their claims have not secured the preference to which they are entitled by failure of the other party to file answer.

The new rule provides that upon failure to serve and file answer, allegations of the contest will be taken as confessed, and the register and receiver will forthwith forward the papers with recommendations thereon to the General Land Office, and notice to the parties by registered mail will be taken.

The requirement that a contestant must make a motion for default to gain the preference right of entry is thus

TENS OF THOUSANDS IN GREAT NEW STORE.

LOOKED as though the entire population of Los Angeles were passing through the new great store opened yesterday by the J. W. Robinson Company! And a goodly portion of the masculine population of Pasadena also. It is a mistake to say that the men went only because their wives insisted for many of them were there alone. There were, in fact, few down town business houses that paid at least a brief visit many visited every part of the establishment.

Crowds were at the doors before opening time and within an hour it looked as though Seventh street had suddenly became Broadway, so dense were the crowds.

Flowers, flowers upon all hands and their beauty and fragrance to the festive scene. Huge urns of cut flowers from carnations, from asters, from dahlias; immense horseshoes bearing for the company in its new home "good luck;" in fact it seemed as though every green house and florist in the city must have been called to furnish the greetings in flowers which crowded every corner of the big store.

Various members of the J. W. Robinson Company were stationed throughout the store to receive the congratulations and good wishes of the many hundreds of friends; and those wishes were extended with genuine enthusiasm.

It was difficult to estimate even approximately, how many thousands passed through the store during business hours, although someone hazarded the guess that long before the noon hour 20,000 had passed through the doorways. At noon it seemed as though the crowds had but just begun to arrive, so filled were the streets in all directions with people moving thither.

Noticeable from every approach, stationed as it is in the middle of the house, was the great electric clock, the gift of the employees to the J. W. Robinson Company. This wonderful clock was a complete surprise, the donors having managed to spirit it in and to have it in running order between closing time and opening time of the day.

Governed by a master clock located in the upstairs office of the president of the company, this wonderful clock comes very nearly to embodying the principle of perpetual motion, since it electrically winds and re-winds itself by means of a series of batteries. The legend upon the base of the master clock runs: "Presented by the employees to the J. W. Robinson Company."

If yesterday's crowds and the good wishes of an entire city count, the J. W. Robinson Company is well on the way in the direction toward unqualified success in its new habitation.

SIX FOR McELVEY; FINE AND JAIL FOR STEVENS.

Two Who Conspired to Use the Name in Bleeding Men Accused by Fallen Women are Denounced by Presiding Judge—Notice of Appeal Is Soon Filed.

During the motion of a new trial argued in behalf of Charles S. McElvey and W. H. Stevens, attorneys, charged with the guilty of using the mails to defraud, United States District Judge Bledsoe yesterday sentenced McKelvey to pay a fine of $2500 and Stevens to pay a fine of $2500 and serve six months in the County Jail.

Notice of appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals was filed, and the defendants held in bond pending the decision on the appeal—McKelvey in the sum of $5000 and Stevens in $10,000. McKelvey furnished bond and was released.

Pending the hearing of the motion the court did not touch on the point raised by the defendants to reverse the lower court—the doctrine of conspiracy as this was, under the commission of the overt acts not admissible as evidence, as was a number of decisions by the United States Supreme Court. CHARGED WATER TRAPS FIREMEN.

PECULIAR DANGER AVERTED BY CUTTING ELECTRIC WIRE.

Several Severely Burned in Fight to Save Garden City Rooming-house from Destruction—Mother Drags Grown Son Down Stairs While Flames Torture Her.

Five firemen were trapped in a pool of water charged with electricity yesterday, unable to stir foot or hand, while Mrs. Margaret Naden ran up two flights of stairs in the blazing lodging-house, and after battering down a door with a chair, rescued her son, Charles, 19 years old, from a bed where he had buried himself to escape the fumes. He was too groggy to aid himself, and his mother, her arms and back seared with the flames, packed him on her back down the perilous descent to safety in the street.

The fire started in the Garden City rooming-house, No. 606½ East Fifth street, of which Mrs. Naden is proprietress, and carried to adjoining places, the Iowa rooming-house, I. Cohn's clothing store, and a rescue mission operated by I. L. Eldredge.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but it gathered such force in the early moments, that it broke through the walls of the lodging-house within five minutes after its discovery by lodgers in the house. The panic brought every lodger in varied states of undress to flight, each carting with them what moveables they could readily seize and bear away.

On the floor of the lodging-house there formed a pool of water, which became charged by a live wire carrying a heavy voltage of electricity. The unwarned firemen stepped into it, and immediately were rigid while the electricity tortured their bodies to absolute helplessness. Fireman H. Webb was first caught, Hoseman A. Mullane, Driver Mitchell and Hoseman Watkins of engine company No. 23 were all trapped as they hurried to Webb's aid. Axeman Preister, realizing the predicament of the captive firemen, seized a hatchet and risked destruction by cutting the wire, diverting the charge from the pool, and releasing his friends. The men were severely burned and were taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment.

Several lodgers in the house suffered minor injuries. The property loss is estimated at $17,000.

Mr. Woodley on Flood Control.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The important matter of flood control will probably come before the Board of Supervisors next Monday morning.

I am opposed to the appointment of a high-priced flood control engineer at this time. All of this work can be done by the men in the County Surveyor's office, at least until the people have voted bonds for what ever flood control work they may want to do, which will probably not be done before next May unless we desire to waste $60,000 on a special election, which I am opposed to doing.

I think we should appoint the County Surveyor our flood control engineer. We have an exhaustive report from some of the best engineers in the county. Our County Surveyor's office has all the data, surveys and complete record of experiments made and the men in our County Surveyor's office have had in charge the actual work of making the surveys and experiments, consequently are better informed of conditions than an outsider would be.

When we need special talent for building storage dams, harbor protection and other special work, the Board of Supervisors can appoint an engineer especially fitted for the special work to be done, thus saving money and getting better results.

Incidentally, I believe our plans for flood control work should be put before the people in sections, for instance: Conservation or the checking, storing, spreading of water, as well as seeding of the mountains to brush should be one section; channel digging should be another section and harbor protection another.

We should very carefully consider the opportunity to conserve and store flood waters for sale to irrigate the lands of our country.

I believe our national resources should pay part of the expense of government and relieve the tax payer.

It's Easy to Peel Off Your Tan or Freckles

This is what you should do to shed a spoiled complexion: Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on over night; wash it off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or discolored the complexion. The wax literally peels off the filmy surface skin, exposing the lovely young skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skin coming off at a time. Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drug store; one ounce usually suffices. It's a veritable wonder-worker for rough, tanned, reddened, blotchy, pimpled or freckled skin.

Pure powdered saxolite is excellent for a wrinkled skin. An ounce of it dissolved in a half pint witch hazel makes a refreshing wash lotion. This renders the skin quite firm and smooth; indeed, the very first application erases the finer lines; the deeper ones soon follow.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

THERE has been no prettier wedding during the entire season than that which last night, at Fenton Knoll, the beautiful West Adams-street home of Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, united at the Hymeneal altar Miss Matilde F. Bartlett, her only daughter, and James Henry French.

The service was read in the garden, the happy pair plighting their troth just as the sun was lowering into a dazzling golden sunset, rimmed in rosy hues. And the wealth of golden-glow, goldenrod, and other yellow flowers so deftly employed by the master decorator, seemed to fit into the scene with such skill that a fairy court was the result.

A garden path was roped off in white hemp, wound with asparagus vine and caught intermittently on white pillars surmounted in a shower of golden-glow, goldenrod and maidenhair fronds tied in lover's knots of pale yellow and white tulle. Just as the harp, with its effective 'cello and violin accompaniments, began the sweet strains from "Lohengrin," came a fairy-like maiden, little Virginia Phillips, from one side of the path, and Master Sidney Lanier Bartlett from the opposite path, who heralded the coming of the bridal party. They were in white and yellow costumes, little Virginia wearing a filmy frock of pale yellow chiffon over white, and carrying a staff from which hung a white marriage bell and shower of ribbons. Her escort carried a like wand, or staff. As they met in the center, they opened the portal to Cupid's altar, holding the white satin ribbons until all had passed. From the right came Dr. Junius B. French of Jacksonville, Fla., and his son—the groom—with the latter's best man, Fred Letten. From the left came first the bride's two cousins, the Misses Frances and Alice Mariett, of Evansville, Ind., in short frocks of white, veiled in tulle, made low, and wearing dainty lingerie hats of prevailing mode. They carried gold staffs topped in yellow centaurea flowers and maidenhair fronds, and tied fetchingly with bridal veiling. They parted at the entrance to the altar, waiting at either side for the bride, who came down the aisle with her maid of honor, Miss Marie Olivia McCoy. They were followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. Lanier Bartlett, and Mr. Bartlett, who gave his sister into the keeping of Mr. French. The ushers, Messrs. Nelson Douglas and Robert Smith, preceded, and awaited inside the roped aisle, Mrs. W. S. Bartlett and Mrs. Junius B. French, "the mothers," who had watched the romance develop since babyhood of their daughter and son, stood near by.

Dr. French, who baptized the bride when she was a child, said the impressive service which gave to him a daughter, and to Mrs. Bartlett a son.

Miss Bartlett never looked quite so handsome as in her bridal dress of embroidered white satin, and daintily ruffled in tulle, over which fell a gorgeous veil of real lace—the same which had been worn by her mother and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lanier Bartlett. It was caught into graceful folds at the back with pearls; her tulle veil fell over the face and enveloped her girlish figure. Lilies of the valley and maidenhair fronds composed her shower bouquet.

Miss McCoy was in white, inset in medallions, and on her coiffure she wore a quaint Juliet cap of real lace, with short tulle veil shirred across the back. Her bouquet was of yellow centaureas and maidenhair ferns.

Mrs. Lanier Bartlett wore a handsome gown of white pussy willow, caught in lover's knots and lilies of the valley. Her flowers were of yellow and lilies of the valley, and her drooping lingerie hat was of chiffon.

Great eculyptus trees, palms, ferns and a profusion of yellow flowers formed a natural altar for the plighting of vows, and overhead were a myriad of tiny silver wedding bells, tinkling significantly.

Congratulations were extended as the orchestra played the Mendelssohn "Wedding March," followed by favorite airs.

Mrs. J. S. Rice, a friend of the family, who resides in Tustin, sang previous to the service, "I Promise You," composed especially for the event by Mrs. J. C. McCoy. Mrs. Rice possesses a sweet soprano, and has been with the Bartletts at every festival event in their lives.

Mrs. Edith Harvey, Mrs. Robert E. Clark, Mrs. McCoy and Miss Bessie Dodell assisted Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. French during the evening.

Supper was served at prettily decorated tables spread 'neath a huge pepper tree, from which were suspended the tiny bells, and a canopy of twinkling incandescent lights. Each table held a central mound of yellow flowers, the bride's differing only in that a tall French basket held the flowers. All showed candelebra in shades of yellow.

Mr. French and his bride have gone on a honeymoon, but will return within a month to Mrs. Bartlett's home at No. 1246 West Adams street, where their innumerable friends will be given an opportunity to extend felicitations. Only the relatives and a few friends with the official board of Ebell Club, of which Mrs. Bartlett is the beloved president, were bidden to the nuptial service, for the family is still in mourning. Dr. French was unable to come at any other time, however, and the young folk desired him as officiant above all else in their plans.

The bride and groom were born within a mile of each other, and were devoted playmates until they reached the age of 7 or so. Then Dr. French, who is a leading Presbyterian divine, was called from Tustin home to the South, and they did not see each other for several years. But Mr. French was a zealous young Lochinvar, and came often to California to woo the girl of his choice.

That they will stay much in Los Angeles will please their friends.

Visiting in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph High have gone to San Francisco to visit the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Yates, who reside at Berkeley. They will remain throughout the month. Mrs. High was formerly Miss Bessie Yates of the northern city.

Knudson-Guy Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Guy at No. 1200 Fourth avenue was the scene of a wedding last night which united in matrimony their winsome daughter, Miss Faith Guy, and Arthur LeRoy Knudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Knudson. It was an outdoor affair, the wedding party being grouped about a floral background of pink amaryllis, white Lawsons and a mass of greenery, as the bride and groom stood at the improvised floral altar of white flowers and greenery. The spacious lawn, where was gathered an assemblage of over 150 friends and relatives, was illuminated in incandescent lights strung from the trees, and a wealth of flowers, palms and ferns were arranged effectively.

Rev. W. O. Fisher, pastor of the Harvard Heights Presbyterian Church, read the service. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Arthur K. Wilson, as matron of honor, who wore pale blue and carried maidenhair fronds; Miss Clair Duclos, the maid of honor, in pale yellow, and Mrs. Leslie J. Bowman, sister of the groom, in pink, and Miss Margaret Jay in nile green. All carried delicate fern showers. Little Frances Fisher, in fluffy white, scattered flowers before the bride; Arthur K. Wilson was best man, and Messrs. Guy Male, Leslie J. Bowman and Harry Boynton ushered.

As the bride came down the long aisle, roped in ferns and green, she was a picture in her bridal robe of white gros de loudres and real lace. Her long tulle veil was caught in cap effect with strands of pearls and a few orange blossoms. Her shower was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Lohengrin's "Wedding Chorus" was used for the processional, with the ever-popular Mendelssohn's "Wedding Chorus" following the service, Miss Helen Skilling singing solos, accompanied by Charles N. Burger. A reception concluded the pleasant event.

Mr. Knudson and his bride are honeymooning in Santa Barbara, and are to be at home after October 15 at No. 4653 George street.

Mrs. Knudson is a graduate of Polytechnic High School, where she led in the '13 opera, and her husband is an Occidental man, associated with his father in the real estate business.

Both Mr. Burger, who played the wedding music, and Albert V. Amet, who had charge of the decorations, were boyhood chums of the groom.

RACE WITH DEATH LOST BY GIRL AUTO VICT

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 7.—Miss Elsie Ott, daughter of Adam Ott, pioneer hardware merchant of Santa Barbara, was fatally injured tonight, when a carriage in which she was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Reginald Fernald of this city. Miss Ott died as she was being hurried to the hospital.

At the time of the accident Miss Ott was driving south on the boulevard, on her way to Montecito. Mr. Fernald was coming into town from Montecito and the horse driven by Miss Ott seemed for a moment to become unmanageable and appeared to leap in front of the machine, which is declared to have been under control and driven perhaps at fifteen miles an hour.

Miss Ott was thrown from the carriage, striking her head on the ing. The machine was badly presumably by hitting the METHODIST CHOIR GIVES ORATORIO.

GAUL'S "THE HOLY CITY" IS HEARD AT GAMUT CLUB AUDITORIUM.

The elevated measures of Gaul's beautiful oratorio, "The Holy City," were given a very commendable rendition by the First Methodist Episcopal Church Choir, under the direction of Carl Bronson, last night at Gamut Club Auditorium. The work is one which, while heard none too frequently, is of an eminently pleasing character, and with good opportunities for effective solo and ensemble singing.

With the exception of two hymns, a verse from Milton and a few others, the words are scriptural. The first part of the oratorio was suggested by the passages from the Bible: "Here have we no continuing city," "Thy kingdom come," and sets forth the desire for a higher life, as expressed in the words, "My soul is athirst for God," which desire is followed by other passages expressive of the perfection of the higher life, such as "Eye hath not seen." The second part was suggested by the words, "I saw a new heaven and new earth."

Soloists, who were much appreciated by the audience, and whose work was very satisfactory, were as follows: Nell Lockwood McCune, contralto; Mrs. Leo L. Stadden, soprano; Edward J. Ruenitz, bass, and Dr. Joseph Marple, tenor. They were assisted in some of the ensemble numbers by the following: Mrs. Hallie Swartz, soprano; Miss Frances Brock, mezzo soprano; Miss Dorothy Beach, alto; Miss Mildred Campbell, alto, and Dr. F. C. Kroeck, bass. Accompanist was Newell L. Parker, organist of the church.

Special preparations are being made for the presentation of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," which will be given Thursday night at Gamut Auditorium.

WOULD SAVE JEWELRY.

Former Imperial Man Wants Property He Alleges Was Taken by Customs Officer.

R. M. Cooper, formerly in the wholesale liquor business at Imperial, but for some time past residing at No. 642 Date street, San Diego, yesterday appealed to the United States District Court for the return to him of valuable jewelry and diamonds that he alleges were taken from him by a customs officer at Calexico in December, 1914. The value of the articles is said to be about $2000.

About ten days ago an action was filed in the United States District Court by the customs authorities, through Assistant United States District Attorney O'Conner, praying that this lot of jewelry and diamonds be declared forfeited to the government, on account of unpaid duty.

In his move yesterday to recover the property, Mr. Cooper declares that it was bought in the United States and had been taken from him by the customs officials at Calexico as he was returning from a temporary visit to Mexicali. Accompanying his statement was a bond of $250 to cover the duty alleged to be due.

TYPES — The Tactful Friend. — By SARA MOORE

"Of course, dear, you aren't skinny, but you are too thin to be called slender. Aren't you working too hard? I can't see why you take your work so seriously. Don't you notice that you are getting a line at the corner of your mouth?" purred the lady who wears creamy negligees, looking toward a mirror with a look of complacent satisfaction.

"Of course, I don't pretend to know anything about business. John is such a dear that he has even taken over the household accounts. But I don't see why you let yourself run down this way. I'd take it easy for a while and let the office go.

"You have to turn out a certain amount of work or be fired— What is 'fired?' Oh—but my dear, what of it if you need a rest? Plenty of girls anxious to snatch your position any minute? Why, the mean things! It is very sweet of you to say they have to live, too, but that's just your dear unselfishness. They should be ashamed of their greediness, when you've worked a whole year.

"Couldn't you do something easier? Fancy work, for instance. I paid $15 for that centerpiece and $10 for a scarf yesterday so I'm sure there ought to be money in it and it is work you could throw aside whenever you wanted a bit of rest or recreation. You might even get fat. Oh, not that you are painfully thin. Perhaps the way you are wearing your hair makes your cheek bones sort of stick out.

"But of course it must be wonderful to have your salary. I'm always interested in you girls who do things. If John didn't baby me so I suppose I'd develop some latent independence, but since I've married I have simply been spoiled. I haven't even bought theater tickets in so long I'm absolutely stupid about managing things. I just marvel at the way you business girls go about and travel and all that. Edith, who is practicing medicine, you know, even rides in the street cars alone at night.

"She was up here after 10 o'clock the other night when baby had the croup and I told her I thought I'd curl up and die before I could go in the subway alone. She looked me straight in the eye with that calm way of hers and told me it was time I began to walk without John and wouldn't I come along with her to help her handle a woman patient who had delirium tremens!

"I told her what I thought of her for taking cases like that. It didn't seem ladylike to associate with women who dr—

"Yes, she asked about you and I said you were losing your go—looking run down and she was real gruff. Of course she looks tired when she is doing things, Edith growled.

"But you mustn't mind Edith. You busy people are all so hard.

SOUTHERN GOLFERS SPRING GREAT SURPRISES.

CONDE JONES ELIMINATES HAYNE AND MORRIS PHILLIPS DEFEATS HARRY DAVIS AT GOLF.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

DEL MONTE, Sept. 7.—Two amazing matches in the second round for the championship this morning. Conde Jones of the Midwick put out no less a celebrity than Robin Hayne, the northern champion, 3 up and 2. And Morris Phillips of Redlands vanquished the title holder of this premier event, Harry B. K. Davis, 1 up.

Two other southerners likewise kept the flag flying, for Ab French of Annandale beat E. K. Johnstone of San Jose, 2 and 1, and Scotty Armstrong of Ours won his match from O'Keefe, 2 and 1. This means that in any event we shall have a southerner in the finals, for two northerners and two southerners play each other in the semifinals in any case.

SUPERLATIVE.

It was a morning of much superlative golf. The star match was, of course, between Heiny Schmidt and Jack Neville, Schmidt winning, 1 up, at the twentieth in the presence of an immense and intense gallery. The match started at 8 a.m. and enthusiasts were on the scene in strength to lend their fancy moral support. A reverent and awe-inspiring gallery was fervently emotional.

Neville made the monumental shot of the tournament at the tenth, when he was stymied behind a tree on his drive and recovered with a brilliantly-hooked shot to well on the green. And again at the thirteenth he simply hypnotized the ball out of an impossible lie with an incredible crouched stance that brought forth wild cheers when he halved the hole in 4.

Both players had 89 for the eighteen holes, 36 and 35 for the first nine, 34 and 33 for the second. When they halved the nineteenth in 4, Neville having recovered from the rough, cheers again relieved the tension. At the twentieth Neville missed a putt, the match going to Schmidt, 4-5.

STEADY, THERE!

The Phillips-Davis match showed Phillips unusually steady—71 against 73—and at the first, second, sixth and seventh holes Phillips lost four strokes by rimming the cup. The merest shadow of fateful indulgence would have given Phillips 32 for that half. He was 3 down at the sixth and won the next four holes, a condition that makes him a keen rival for Armstrong this morning.

Conde Jones's defeat of Robin Hayne was amazing, for it must be confessed Conde cannot be relied upon to do these things. He was putting in the Schmidt class, and that won him a match in the face of topped drives and other sins—as at the sixteenth, where he holed a lordly twenty-five-footer after topping his drive.

Ab French had a 75 against 77 in his match with E. K. Johnstone. He plays Conde Jones today.

ARMSTRONG.

Armstrong played to 71 in his match with O'Keefe, but he picked up at the fifteenth, retrieving his skill with a brilliant 2 on the seventeenth.

Roger Lapham defeated Vincent Whitney, 1 up, and plays Heiny Schmidt today, so his triumph is in serious jeopardy, for many consider that Schmidt won the tournament when he beat Neville this morning. It looks as if either Jones or French will be offered upon his altar tomorrow in the semifinals, but Roger may perform a miracle yet.

Bagby and Bumiller of the Los Angeles club won their matches in the Del Monte flight. Gilcrest and Ferguson of Midwick are both still on deck in the third flight. S. C. Dunlap, J. S. Hunt and Hal Braly of Los Angeles survive in the fourth flight, and C. W. Pendleton in the sixth. The rest of our male representatives have gone down before northern prowess.

THE WOMEN.

Mrs. Alfred Gwinnerton of San Francisco is the winner of the qualifying round for the women's championship, with an 89. She will be remembered as a competitor at the Midwick last May, when she gave a hint of her skill.

Mrs. A. R. Pommer is second with 96, Miss E. M. Cory third with 91 and Miss Edith Cheeseborough, star favorite for the laurels, Miss Mildred Landreth of Midwick, Mrs. K. K. Parrott of the Los Angeles, all tie with 92. Mrs. T. S. Baker gets 93 and Mrs. Henry Van Dyke of Midwick, 95, and Mrs. Dudley Fulton of Los Angeles, 97.

REMARKABLE.

The women's scores were quite remarkably good and there is general satisfaction that four of our southern players should have done us such infinite credit in that most trying of contests—medal play, with a vast and unusual audience to terrify them. Mrs. Dudley Fulton's 97 showed obvious signs of easy improvement, too. Both she and Mrs. Parrott did the long hole in par 5.

Woe Unto Us.

NAUGHTY SEALS BEAT SERAPHS.

Fitzgerald Plays Villain Role at Game.

Baum Blows up in Seventh Like Old Tire.

Bill Steen, Ancient Enemy, Stops Angels.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Plunging into another crucial series almost before they had recovered from the last one, the Angels went down to defeat in a gallant and workmanlike manner.

At this season of the year life is just one crucial series after another. Last week we had a crucial series. Just why it was crucial nobody seems to know, but it was crucial, just the same. This week's series is crucial because it is up to us to knock the stuffing out of the Seals, who are in first place. Portland and Oakland are also playing a crucial series this week. That series is crucial solely from a financial standpoint, the honor of the nation being in nowise involved. From a financial standpoint, it is hard to imagine anything more crucial than a series between two tail-end clubs in September.

OLD TIRE.

The Seals won, 4 to 2, but were forced to use three pitchers in order to do it, which speaks well for our batters. The public's only chance to stand up and holler and show patriotism came in the seventh, when C. Honkus Baum collapsed like an old tire and was taken to the garage to be vulcanized. Like all blowouts, this came suddenly. Hook'em Smith rushed in and stalled around long enough for Bill Steen, our ancient enemy, to get warmed up. Hook'em consumed something like five minutes in pitching to one batter, making a bluff in between times at catching a guy off first base. By this time Steen was sizzling nicely, and Hook'em, having bridged the crisis, sneaked back to the dugout. Not only did Steen crab the killing, but he had warmed up so well and so wisely that four of the home athletes were smoked away from the home plate on strikes.

The rally which blew Baum off the hill was started by none other than Tom C. Garner, the young and promising clodhopper from Orange county, and Buemiller helped it along. But it remained for a span of pinch-hitters, Jack Ryan and John Bassler, to turn the rally into a rout. Each delivered with a clean smash that brought in a run. After the game Baum was seen leaning against the lee rail of a lunch counter. He seemed to be downcast. No guy with enough money to hand around a lunch counter should feel that way. After all, the meal ticket is the main thing in life, for without meal tickets there could be no life. Therefore, let us all earnestly strive to perpetuate our meal tickets that the tried and hungry face may be fed, and the race remain strong.

NO ERRORS.

Both teams played ball in a way to make the error column a useless appendage. Another highly elevating feature of the game was the throwing of Walt Boles. Walt threw out everybody who tried to steal except Schaller, and Biff only got here because Scoggins gave him a burglar's lead. Boles cut down three men at second, and in the fourth delayed matters for the Seals by snipping Schmidt off that base with a hot peg to Buemiller.

Slim Love, one of our well-known heroes, sat in the grand stand and tried to look cheerful under great difficulties. Slim has a young and promising boil on the starboard side of his neck which interferes with his eating. After the game the club trainer thumped the boil and pronounced it almost ripe. It should be ready to plug in a couple of days, and this will be a welcome event in Slim's life, as it means that the line of communications from his mouth to his stomach will again be open.

TEXAS.

Pa yesterday depended entirely on the Texas delegation to hold the Seals, Grover Cleveland Brant worked the first seven rounds and experienced a little hard luck in the shape of two singles, a couple of doubles, a triple and a home run. The other tally was

TROJANS BEGIN FOOTBALL WORK.

FRANK MALLETTE, SAN DIEGO, LOOKS LIKE STAR OF FRESHMEN.

U. S. C.'s 1915 football hopes were out in make-up for the first time yesterday afternoon. The aspiring Trojans gamboled on the green, or rather the brown, for about two hours, and, judging from his smile, Coach Ralph Glaze was well pleased.

Among the candidates for honorable mention were Messrs. Frank Mallette and "Chick" Fox of San Diego High. Both these young gentlemen disported themselves creditably and created quite some favorable impression.

Our fellow citizen Master Jerry Craig was also on that part of the field which was not under water and "Kid" Craig showed great promise as a booter, bettering his best marks of last year. Young Elmore, another veteran of the 1914 Trojan army, was on the lot and showed promise in every department of the pastime.

Capt. Livernash rustled around slipping the glad hand to old-timers, posing for photographs and handling punts between scenes.

Messrs. Rapp, Holman, Blair, Ramseyer, Jordan, Harman, Sharp and others gave Coach Glaze some excitement and filled in the mob scenes. Master Mosley, late of Long Beach Hight and later of the U. S. C. freshman outfiet, showed up in a white collar and a good summer tan but he is to be out in a football suit this afternoon. Mosley is one of those backfield candidates for which U. S. C. is famous this season.

Fred Kelly was not in the cast. The champion is down home in Orange county helping get in the crops but will be on the muster roll before the season is very far under way. Howard Drew was also among the missing yesterday but is due to return from his furlough within the next few days.

WILLIE JOHNSTON TAKES TITLE FROM M'LOUGHLIN.

New Tennis Sensation Shows More Stamina and Wizardry with Racquet than the Famous Internationalist. Friends Think Maurice Lost Because He Deserted Net Game for Back Court.

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Sept. 7.—A new national tennis champion was crowned here today, when William M. Johnston of San Francisco defeated Maurice E. McLoughlin, also of the Golden Gate city, in a gruelling four-set match for the singles title. The youthful Californian dashed the hopes of the more famous internationalist by winning at 1-5, 6-0, 7-5, 10-8 and thus preventing for a year at least the former champion's hope of clinching permanent possession of the huge silver all-comers bowl. With two legs already to his credit on the trophy McLoughlin made a sensational battle to take it back to San Francisco with him for all time, but neither physically nor with racquet wizardry was he able to compete with his younger opponent.

THE GAMUT.

The four-set match ran the gamut from mediocre play to the tennis of the master. Both victor and vanquished had their flashes of brilliancy or poor play, but at all times the pace and strain were terrific and in the long run Johnston's youth served him better than the greater experience of McLoughlin.

So keen was the interest engendered by the battle of the far coast racquet experts that the thousands of spectators seated in lowering stands at both ends of the court arose with each brilliant stroke and settled in their seats again like glittering many-colored waves.

GROANS.

In the final set the spectators groaned and cheered alternately the winning and losing strokes of McLoughlin, whose desperate efforts to stem the tide of defeat rallied the gallery to his support. The excited spectators called outs and nets before the umpire and linesmen could give their decisions and did not hesitate to voice their disagreement with the official awards.

CARRIED OFF.

Once the winning stroke had been made, however, and Johnston had leaped the net in the wake of his flying ball and thrown his arm around McLoughlin's neck the stands quivered and sagged under the impact of pounding feet and applauding hands. A final climax was given to the picture when both Johnston and McLoughlin were lifted on the shoulders of their admirers and carried side by side into the clubhouse.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Player friends of both Maurice E. McLoughlin and W. M. Johnston, who wrested the national singles tennis championship from his boyhood friend of The Golden Gate Park tennis courts here, offered only one reason for McLoughlin's defeat—he deserted his own wonderful volleying net game for a back court game at which the more orthodox Johnston was the master.

DESERTED GAME.

According to his expert tennis friends the former champion of the tennis game in this country was a champion because he developed to the highest peak his net and smashing game with no attempt to equally develop other angles of the game.

Carl Gardner, tennis expert, friend of both McLoughlin and Johnston, and fellow player, said that today's matches pitted the orthodox player, Johnston, the rounded out man, against the most famous net man with the net man playing a back court game.

FOLLOW.

When McLoughlin was nearly beaten by the new champion last July in the Panama-Pacific Exposition championships he told friends that he found himself forced to pick the shots he could follow. In his best days the former champion was noted for his follow to the net of almost any shot.

The new champion has long been rated as one of California's greatest tennis players. He has held both the California State championship and the Pacific States championship, as did McLoughlin before he became a national champion. The old and the new champion have met in many matches with McLoughlin always the victor with a championship at stake until today.

YOUNGER.

Johnston is 20 years old, while the defeated champion is five years his senior. They both began their tennis careers on the same courts. The new champion was just beginning to mature when McLoughlin flashed into tennis prominence in 1907 by winning the Pacific Coast championship. It was not until 1913 that Johnston acquired that title.

Both began by winning the boy's Golden Gate Park tennis cup.

BOBBY WAUGH TO BOX AGAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO, Sept. 7.—Articles were signed here tonight between Freddie Edwards, Bobby Waugh's manager, and a representative of Ad Wolgast for a twenty-round fight between the two lightweights in Shreveport, La., on September 17. Waugh will go at once to Shreveport to begin his training for this fight.

Edwards also issued a challenge to meet Joe Rivers with Bobby Waugh in the Juarez bull ring on Thanksgiving Day. The challenge has been sent to Rivers in Los Angeles and if it is not accepted Benny Cordova of San Antonio will be asked to fight Waugh as the Mexican sportsmen are demanding a Mexican-American fight for that day.

A big dinner was given in Waugh's honor at the Black Cat cafe tonight which Battling Nelson, battered but smiling, attended.

NEW RECORD FOR CASTING CLAIMED.

MOFFATT OF CHICAGO CASTS HALF-OUNCE BAIT OVER TWO HUNDRED FEET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A new world's record for casting was claimed today for F. E. Moffatt of Chicago, who sent a half-ounce bait 215 feet in the distance event of the National Amateur Fly Casters' Association meet here yesterday. The former record was 211 feet.

SOPHOMORES WIN FROM FRESHMEN.

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—The sophomores defeated the freshmen 13 to 7 in the first of the interclass football games. Fred Brooks of Los Angeles, at right and full, was the star of the sophomore team. He made one touchdown, converted this, and Leggett's made later.

Moisant, Los Angeles, and Gimbal of the freshmen displayed ability. Moisant, at quarter, handled his own job and part of the half-backs'.

Forward passes were a feature of the game. Line bucking by the sophomores gained them much ground. The work of Liversedge at tackle was noticeable.

SPIES WATCH BOXER WORK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Mike Gibbons and Packy McFarland will practically round out their training work tomorrow. When the sun sets their work of preparation for the $32,500 battle will have been completed, and the rest of it will be merely a case of working out.

Gibbons was just about through with his training when he finished his gym stunts this afternoon. For the benefit of skeptics who may doubt his ability to make the weight, he stepped on the scales at 5 p.m. and registered 148. The required poundage is 147. McFarland weighed 149 half an hour later.

Gibbons, aware of the fact that there were McFarland spies present, put on an exhibition this afternoon for the benefit of 600 fans. He declined to use what he had.

A minor league lightweight from Harlem named Marty Farrell pounded Mike on the jaw, ear and belly so often that the gang yelled for a knockout.

WAIT FOR IT

Japanese Wrestlers Say Farewell and Leave for Orient.

The Wind-up.

CHAMP PUSHES RIVAL AROUND.

Japanese Title Holder has no Trouble.

Little Cherry Blossom is Badly Smeared.

Big, Fat Fellow Rubs Mud Over His Face.

Champions come and champions go, and one of 'em went yesterday. Nishinoumi, champion of one of the Japanese wrestling squads and rival for first honors, was unceremoniously booted out of the ring by the 425-pound Umegatani.

The championship match, which wound up the four days of exhibition wrestling, was the tamest affair of the whole bunch. The heroes were both too large to put up a very peppy fight, and speed was an unknown quantity. The big boys moved around the ring with a sort of stately majesty and spent most of the time resting in clinches. Finally Umegatani gave an awful shove and knocked his rival flat on the ground.

Edosakura, otherwise known as Cherry Blossom, was more picked on yesterday than ever before. This young man was almost ruined in Monday's contests. But he still retained some degree of pep and this was completely kicked out yesterday. He is now a total wreck and a fit candidate for a hospital.

His first bout was with Tunenohana, a gentleman about five times larger than himself. The men mixed things up in nifty style and soon began to fight in real earnest. They slapped each other a few times and pulled hair and knocked a couple of teeth out. Then Tunenohana thought of a clever stunt.

He picked up a handful of dirt and carefully added a little water. He mixed the two together and secured a soft mud ball about two inches in diameter. Then he walked to the center of the circle and planted the pill neatly on Cherry Blossom's face. Three-quarters of the thing went down the victim's throat and the rest of it trickled from his hair to his feet.

Strange to say, war was not declared. Edosakura washed his face and went peacefully on with the fight. His spirit was evidently broken.

Chakagatake defeated Koshitachi with such ease that it started a fight. A very excited fan rushed onto the platform and demanded that the contest be fought over. Neither of the contestants felt like doing this, but the enthusiastic gent insisted. So the Vernon Constable was summoned and he had to put the restive fan clear out of the arena to restore order.

The semi-annual championship meet is held in Japan some time in January, and all the wrestlers are compelled to be present. Umegatani, who has already retired from the ring, will tender his official resignation at that time, and will turn over the title belt to a future winner.

Mayor Sebastian

Sealing the gears of the King Eight in the high in preparation for the long-distance test.

Chugs Right Along.

AUTO TOURS SOUTH WITH GEARS SEALED IN HIGH.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA is today being established as the motorist's paradise on the concluding laps of a record run by a motor car with its gear sealed in high speed and consequently with no power of reverse.

This car, a King "8," is today covering the last miles of a record to total 800 miles "on the hi." By tonight it is expected that the car will have finished its work after a series of runs including trips over the Torrey Pines grade to San Diego and the Conejo grade to Santa Barbara.

Before leaving Los Angeles last Saturday, the gear lever was removed and the gear sealed in high, with no possibility of using first or second speeds. The sealing was done by the county department of weights and measures inspection and witnessed by Mayor Sebastian and Frank M. Jordan of the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

According to Clarence A. English, manager of the English Motor Car Company, this record of the King eight-cylinder motor is not only a triumph for the car itself, but also for the general advance in motor car construction—the King having established the eight-cylinder type at popular prices. In distributing this car, the English Motor Car Company point out that it is in no sense a "stunt car," but rather, one designed and built for service to its owners.

COMBINATIONS POSSIBLE IN THE WORLD SERIES.

Five Clubs Have Chance to Get into the Big Competition this Fall—California has Representatives on All of Them—Cob Against Alexander Would Make a Duel Worth Watching.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THERE are five clubs—two in the American and three in the National—which seem to have a chance of mixing in the world series. The American League race appears to have narrowed down to Boston and Detroit. The National League presents a triangular situation—Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Boston. Here are some of the possible combinations in the big fall play-off.

Red Sox vs. Braves.
Red Sox vs. Brooklyn.
Red Sox vs. Philadelphia.
Tigers vs. Braves.
Tigers vs. Brooklyn.
Tigers vs. Philadelphia.

Any one of them good and worth a price of admission. It would be a fine thing to see the Red Sox and Braves battling for the highest honor in baseball. Not since the White Sox and Cubs fought it out in 1906 has there been a neighborhood spectacle been pulled off. While a community row over the series, it would be calculated to attract countrywide attention.

A COME BACK.

Then there is the Red Sox-Brooklyn combination. Be sort of interesting to see Jack Coombs, the man who pitched the Cubs in 1910, staging a series "comeback," with Jack Barry, his old teammate, batting behind him. Also a Red Sox-Philly series would have its interesting angles for instance, Alexander, probably the best of them all, pitted against the former mates of the Boston heavers.

Then, if it narrowed down to Boston and Philadelphia, we would have the gorgeous spectacle of Ty Cobb matched against Alexander—the latter generally wins if his club can get a single run behind him.

Which makes you have that trembly feeling to think of some of these matches. Which of the foregoing combinations would prove the most popular to make the hair stand on end generally, could only be ascertained by a vote of the fans, and it is likely that the government at Washington will call a general election for that purpose. Therefore, there is nothing left for the fans but to root for their favorites to win in their respective leagues and await results.

THE LUCKLESS PHILLIES.

Of the five clubs, the Phillies alone have not competed in a world series or a single cup series. For more than two decades they have been consistently failing to connect. Brooklyn won the championship class fifteen years, but did not get into a single world series, there being no other major league at the time. Boston has its last title in 1909, and it is now three years since the Athletics figured in a championship. Chicago and Detroit have been completely rebuilt since their pennant-winning days. Of the five contenders, therefore, alone, their championship aggregations of 1914 still practically intact, would be anything like a novelty in a world series.

Many things have been happening in the last few days, it may take the remainder of weeks of the season to decide which clubs are to meet in the championship. New York seems to be practically in Romeola, and that goes in both leagues. The Yankees have won three straight from the Red Sox, while the Giants took a double-header from the Braves on Monday. Philadelphia is now right on Philadelphia's heels and by virtue of having beaten the Cubs three in a row, the same number of the Dodgers to look like the class of just at this writing.

FEEL PROUD.

However the way it goes, California will have a sort of proprietary interest in the world's series, having representatives on each of the five contending clubs. Some of these are natives, others moved here early in life or up while still others simply came here to play ball and make good. This puts us in a position to view with no difference which team wins.

The Boston Braves for instance, have Herbert Whaling, who is strictly a California product, and the same is true of Fred Snodgrass. Oroville, Cal., is the home of Bill James.

WOODEN SHOES.

Among the Phillie line-up, the name of Cravath and Bancroft catch the eye. Cravath is a native boy, and played his first baseball engagement with the Seals. We have longed these many years to see old "Wooden Shoes" in action in a series. And it is a good bet that he would make his batting performance. You all know Bancroft, formerly of the Beavers. Last season there was only one rival in this circuit, and that was Corhan. And they say that the addition of Dave had much to do with making the Phillies what they are. Then there is Bill Killifer, but lots of folks don't know that he ever played in this league. Back in the days of 1909, Danny Long, then catcher of the Seals, imported a young backstop from the Texas League, among them being Miller, Griffin, Killifer and a red-headed guy by the name of Davis. Miller and Davis were outfielders, and the former eventually made some name for himself in the majors as a batter. Griffin was a pitcher, and, like Killifer at that time, was a mere stripling. Griffin stuck around for a year or two, eventually getting a tryout with the Tigers, but Killifer was regarded as too much of a lightweight, and Long shipped him back to Texas at the end of the season. St. Louis drafted him from the Texas League later, and then shipped him to Buffalo. Philadelphia secured him from that club. Incidentally, it was this same Killifer who was the cause of the first court clash between organized baseball and the Feds.

OUR BOYS.

Hooper, Lewis, Thomas and Leonard of the Red Sox are western products. While managing the Oakland club, old George Van Haltren discovered Lewis. Dillon saw that Duffy was a comer and tried to put over a swap. He offered George Wheeler. The proposed trade went so far that it was widely discussed on the sporting pages, and some of the critics averred that Los Angeles would be getting the worst of it. Van or somebody else in Oakland got wise to Duffy's real ability, and it was called off.

Thomas caught for Sacramento under Patsy O'Rourke several years ago. He did not make good in his first tryout with Boston, but was recalled after a year's seasoning in the International League, then the Eastern.

SHUFFLING PHIL.

George Cutshaw and Shuffling Phil Douglas are our representatives on the Brooklyn club. Cutshaw played second for Oakland back in 1911, while the White Sox left Douglas with the Seals when they departed for the East three years ago. In the few games that he pitched, Douglas showed more stuff than any heaver in the Coast League. He had a world of speed back of his spitter. However, failure to keep in condition or something else resulted in his being shunted to Spokane, from which place he pitched his way back into the majors.

California also has supplied some of the sinews of the Detroit Tigers. Oscar Stanage, who is catching phenomenal ball, while he never played on the Coast professionally, hails from this State. Bill James pitched for Portland in 1913. Oscar Vitt received his baseball schooling with the Seals, while Harry Wolverton sent Young up from the Sacramento club last fall.

Young's work at second has been one of the sensations of the American League, and, according to Jack Atkin, who was recently in Detroit, he is regarded as a fixture for some years to come. Pep is a smart player, fast on the bases, almost uncanny in his fielding, and, while not a heavy hitter, his stickwork compares favorably with that of the average infielder.

Young came to Sacramento as a shortstop. His work in that position, while brilliant, was erratic. Wolverton switched him to second, which proved to be the niche for which nature intended him. Also, it was while manager of the Oakland club that Wolverton developed Cutshaw. Be right unique to see two of his pupils combating each other in a world series, would it not?

LE CLAIRE RELEASED.

Harry Wolverton yesterday announced the release of Pitcher Le Claire. The latter had been troubled with a lame arm, and it was felt that with the addition of Bill Steen the club would hardly be justified in carrying him.

YALE DEFEATS HARVARD AT GOLF.

PRINCETON AND PENNSYLVANIA WINNERS IN PLAY OF COLLEGES.

GREENWICH (Ct.) Sept. 7.—Yale Princeton and Pennsylvania were the winners in the first of the team matches for the intercollegiate golf championship today over the links of the Greenwich Country Club. Yale defeated Harvard seven points to two; Princeton, the championship combination of last year, trounced Williams, 8 to 1, and Pennsylvania defeated Cornell, 7 to 2.

The University of Illinois, holder of the western intercollegiate championship, and a new entrant, drew a bye. As the result of the competition the matches will bring together Illinois and Yale, while Princeton will battle with Pennsylvania, the winner of each match playing for the title on Thursday.

made off J. Lynn Scoggins, who hails from the same great commonwealth.

Fitzgerald acted as the handmaid of Satan. Not only did he crack out that homer in the fifth, but he opened the show with a wicked single, Schaller flied to Ellis. Bodie slammed a hard one out in the same direction. The blow seemed to baffle Rube, who paused momentarily. He then tried to run in and catch it on the fly, but it was too late. As things turned out, it would have been far better had he stayed back and played it safe, for the pill eluded him for three bases, scoring Fitz. Downs doubled inside first, putting Ping into port. Jack Beatty—yes, the same guy—grounded to Brant, Downs taking third. Jones walked, and Corhan flied to Tom C. Garner.

Bodie doubled in the third with no one down, but eventually perished at third, as Brant remained cool and collected.

Fitzgerald, first up in the fifth, ferreted out one of the kind that he likes and swatted it to the center-field fence. For a fast guy like him it was an easy home run—so easy that no play was made on him at the plate.

Baum held the upper hand for five innings, allowing three scattered hits. In the sixth, however, he showed signs of fermenting. With one out, McMullen singled to right. Rube beat out an infield lick to Corhan, and Mac was nailed trying to go from first to third on it. He came dinged near getting away with it, Beatty's throw to Jones getting there just in time to make a close decision. Koerner was an infield out.

This was the breeze that preceded the real blow. Garner sliced a single to center as a starter in the seventh. Buemiller bumped one to the same spot. Boles forced Al. Garner taking third. Pa then began calling out the reserves. Ryan, pinch hitter de luxe, was announced as hitting for Butler, and he did so. Jack came through with a clean swipe to the midway, scoring Garner and placing Boles at second. Bassler, batting for Brant, cut in with a sharp single past first. It was the hit-and-run, and Boles scored from second, while Ryan galloped around to third.

This last whack was Baum's cue to quit. Wolverton hustled Steen out on the line, and Smith went in as official time killer. Finally, after half a dozen throws to first, he pitched one up that Maggert drove squarely at Jones. Jack, with no chance for his life, was easily nailed at the plate. Steen then took hold, and McMullen ended the round with a grounder to Downs. Beef got a hit off Steen in the eighth, but with nearly everybody else fanning it did no good. Our athletes had shot their bolt for the day.

Schaller touched Scoggins for a single in the eighth, took second on a sacrifice, stole third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Downs, Maggert's throw coming in wide.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

By GRACE KINGSLEY

Mlle. Anna Pavlowa, the famous dancer, who has been appearing in pictures for the Universal, will be the guest of honor at a dinner party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Smalley at the Alexandria Hotel this evening. Mrs. Smalley (known to the motion picture world as Lois Weber) is directing Pavlowa in "The Dumb Girl of Portici," which promises to be one of the most elaborate features ever filmed by the Universal.

Covers will be laid for fifty-five guests, and heads of departments and directors connected with the Universal and their wives will be present.

Much Too Much.

Avery Hopwood is busy these days taking some of the "love" out of "Sadie Love."

Accomplished Actor.

Pedro de Cordoba, the accomplished actor who is playig the Italian prince in "Sadie Love," is an excellent violinist and baritone singer. He has also played musicksaic drama, having appeared with Margaret Anglin in "Twelfth Night" and with William Faversham in "Othello."

He was a pupil of George Lask's at the American Academy of Dramatic Art, in New York, and Mr. Lask reports him as being a most keen observer and student.

Would Make 'em Weep.

Joan Sawyer, at the Orpheum, aspires to be a dramatic actress, and play such emotional roles as "Zaza" and "Cleopatra."

She says she gets the inspiration for her original dances while skipping around at rehearsals, as a usual thing. One step in her new fox trot was the result of an accidental tripping while she was rehearsing the dance. Fancy being so graceful that you can make a thousand dollars by merely stubbing your toe.

Joan of Modern Ark.

Miss Sawyer came across the country from New York to San Francisco in an auto, which she drove herself. She was accompanied by a couple of friends, as well as a mechanician. She had some worth while adventures en route.

Distinguished Guest.

Margaret Anglin will attend the matinee performance of "Sadie Love" tomorrow at the Burbank. Mr. De Cordoba was her leading man for several seasons, and played opposite her in the Greek drama at Berkeley. She is anxious to behold his latest triumph in comedy.

Some Fight.

The "Peg o' My Heart" fight is on again between Messrs. Oliver Morosco and J. Hartley Manners, concerning the picture rights to the play. Manners has stated publicly in newspapers throughout the country that he owns the sole rights to the picture filming of the popular play, while Mr. Morosco asserts that he has authoritative legal advice that the picture rights to "Peg" are vested absolutely in himself, and that not a single foot of "Peg" film will be made until he (Morosco) gets good and ready to have it made. Selah.

To London Town.

"The Song Bird" and "The Unchastened Woman" will both be produced in London next season under the direction of Alfred Butt, at the Globe Theater. Irene Vanbrugh and Gladys Cooper, two well-known actresses, are being negotiated with for the leading roles in the two plays.

In Louis's Place.

Bert Wesner has been placed under contract by Morosco to replace Bennison at the Burbank Theater. Wesner is one of San Francisco's most popular actors. He will have a good part in "The Big Idea," which will follow "Sadie Love."

Youth and Age.

Manager Morosco believes in contrasts, evidently, in giving the public what it thinks it wants. He has just secured the rights to "The Old Homestead" and "Jerry," Billie Burke's play, for production at the Burbank.

Guy's New One.

Guy Bates Post, playing "Omar, the Tent Maker," at the Majestic this week, is to appear next season in Richard Tully's new play, which has an Egyptian atmosphere.

Clouds of Glory.

Bessie Barriscale and Bruce McRae, the well-known New York actor, are being starred in a film comedy at Inceville.

Mary Boland and Willard Mack are also appearing in a film feature.

Bronson and Baldwin,

Well-known local favorites, who are appearing in "So Long Letty," at the Morosco this week and will be with the play on the road.

FEW UPSETS MARK THE FIRST ROUND IN GOLF.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Few upsets marked the first-round match play of the national women's golf championship meet today, the better-known players defeating newcomers in several of the sixteen contests, while the few struggles in which equally-famous golfers were paired usually depended on a shot or two for decision. The sixteen remaining contenders for premier title remained well scattered geographically.

The closest match of the day was that in which Miss Alexa Sterling of Atlanta, 17 years old, southern champion, defeated Mrs. Harry D. Hammond of Indianapolis, last year's western champion and runner-up this year, in nineteen holes. Miss Sterling led all the way after the sixth hole until Mrs. Hammond squared the struggle on the eighteenth green by driving 200 yards, approaching well and holding in four while Miss Sterling flubbed her approach and took five for the 356 yards. Miss Sterling, outdriven at almost every hole, outplayed Mrs. Hammond in the short game and was stronger with the wood.

Miss Elaine Rosenthal, western champion, easily disposed of Ethel Chatfield of De Kalb, Ill., 7 and 6, and was still picked as the best chance of the West to win the championship. She plays Marion Edwards of Chicago tomorrow. Mrs. Charles H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, gold medalist in the qualifying round with eighty-five strokes, kept up the pace today and accounted for Eleanor Chandler of Philadelphia, 7 and 6.

Miss Gavin of England will play Mrs. Fox of Philadelphia tomorrow in the second, and Mrs. J. V. Hurd (Dorothy Campbell) of Pittsburgh will meet Miss Allen of Boston.

"The Ocean-Bed Is Being Paved With the Good Intentions of the German Government" according to one leading American newspaper, and others take a similar view, altho the mass of editorial opinion throughout the country admits that Germany has made a concession in the "Arabic" case.

You must read THE LITERARY DIGEST for September 4th to obtain a complete presentation of public opinion in America and throughout the world on the sinking of the "Arabic," which only a week ago not only threatened to sever our peaceful relations with Germany, but something worse.

The article shows vividly and impartially every phase of the question, including the efforts put forth by the German Imperial Chancellor through Ambassador von Bernstorff to conciliate American public opinion.

In this week's issue, as usual, the whole world's activity is covered in graphic fashion. Every important development is treated from all sides. Among other articles which will appeal to American readers are:—

Can England Make Cotton Contraband and Maintain Peaceful Relations With the United States?

Strait-Jacketing Haiti
What They Think of the "Arabic" Case in Germany, England and France
Alcohol and the War
Grape Juice Founts in the Chautauqua Belt

ROUND MAY GO FOR A SCHOOL.

Tax Rate Complicates Problem of Housing.

Sell-off of Lot Where Old Home Burned is Plan.

Fire and Store Both Afire in Early Morning.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 8.—A suggestion that the old Wilson school, which was closed several weeks ago, with the property on which it stands, be traded to the Throop Academy, was made at a meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon. The academy owns the Throop College of Technology, and will be used until such time as the Board of Education should build the old schoolhouse.

Attorney Felker was authorized to draw a lease for the Throop building, the rental of which amounts to $1200 payable in three installments, the period of nine months. Should the change go through the rental will be refunded.

Trustee Rhodes said that the east building is in good shape, though not entirely adapted to grammar grades, but the west building is very good. It was suggested that the presence of the Lincoln school was a long way towards relieving and altering the Throop situation.

Trustee Grasse said that in his opinion the Wilson school property was more valuable than the Throop property, but several other members of the board took the opposite view. Sentiment was in favor of building a school on the old Wilson property, stating it would operate with the Marshall and Franklin schools as a unit under the direction of one head. Opinions expressed were that it would be better to move to the Throop, thus serving a bigger territory, obtaining a building that is admirable for night school work.

Owing to the cut by the Supervisors in the school tax rate from 21 to 17 cents, it was stated that it will be almost impossible to raise funds for repairs and improvements to buildings, and it will be extremely difficult to secure authorization for bonds for the new school building.

Action on the proposed trade was deferred, and it was decided to leave the matter for further discussion.

TWO BLAZES.

Two fires occurred early yesterday morning within an hour of each other. One was a residence and the other a barn. A pair of old overalls and some waste that had been discarded were removed from the residence, and a can of gasoline were the only articles removed from the store. Everything else was destroyed.

The residence which burned was the property of A. G. Roberts of No. 1 California street, who was away. The heroic efforts of his wife saved the house and its contents were saved.

The barn building, which burned a short time after the fire department arrived from the Roberts fire, was the property of George A. Wonderly of the stock was owned by E. Kirkwood and Kenyon Bros. The property was partly insured.

CITY BRIEFS.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Sisters of the Holy Child would open a new school for girls in the beautiful residence at the corner of Fallbrook and St. John avenues. The institution to open September 20. It will be conducted by the Sisters of the College of Holy Child at the banks of Lake Merritt, and courses similar to those offered at the northern school will be offered here. The college course and a postgraduate course will be given at the school, the important features being the classrooms.

The exact date set for the opening of the new postoffice is the 20th of September, approximately the forty-second which has so far been set. Even then it will be changed several times before the building is officially opened. It was originally planned to move into the new building on July 1, and this date has been changed little by little.

TAX RATE FIXED AT HIGHER NOTCH.

THREE MILLIONS' ROAD BONDS PLAN ALSO FAVORED BY COUNCIL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 7.—The City Council this evening fixed the tax rate for the new year at $1.65 on each $100 of assessed valuation. The rate is considerably higher than for many years and will be collected upon an assessed valuation of $17,000,000. The free public library will receive 9 cents, and it will require 15½ cents to pay maturing bonds and interest.

The Council gave the County Supervisors a boost by the adoption of a resolution favoring the proposed county road bond issue of $2,600,000. Two of the projected road improvements are of vital importance to this beach. One item of the budget calls for paving Pico road and another is for the highway connecting Playa del Rey and Redondo Beach.

BANKS' PATRONS IN BETTER FIX.

MORE PROSPEROUS THAN BEFORE WAR, IS SHOWING.

Statement of Resources and Deposits is Bright Record—Campaign Launched by Police Against Reckless Drivers of Motor Vehicles. Festive Getter of Credit is Jailed.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—Resources and deposits of the seven Long Beach banks, compiled today upon call of the Comptroller of the Currency, show that they and their patrons are more prosperous than for five months before the start of the European war.

The total resources of the banks are $9,437,305. September 12, 1914, they were $9,276,755, an increase of over $160,000. The deposits total $7,520,602, an increase of $155,000 over approximately the same date last year. These totals break all records for the local banks except those contained in statements issued in December, 1913, and March, 1914.

The Long Beach Savings Bank and Trust Company led in deposits, with a total of $1,789,431. Figures of deposits from other banks are: National Bank of Long Beach, $1,479,038; Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, $1,158,927; First National Bank, $1,142,186; Exchange Bank, $1,003,244; City National Bank, $733,036; Marine Bank, $214,733. The cash and sight exchange of the banks equals $1,671,671.

While William T. Beck was arraigned and held for examination before Justice Underwood on the charge of driving an auto while intoxicated, Chief of Police Cole's men today began a campaign of arrests of careless drivers and violations of the traffic laws.

HUNT HEEDLESS DRIVERS.

Beck was represented by Attorney Horace Appel. Three witnesses testified as to the condition of the driver of the auto when he was picked up out of the mud beside the second bridge on the Wilmington boulevard. Attorney Appel made no motion for a dismissal, and Beck was held for examination the 27th inst.

Jitneys were the especial prey of the police today. Many arrests were made.

FESTIVE TIME ENDS.

Fred Neumann, the young German who, while a guest of the Hotel Schuyler, cut quite a swath socially, being arrested on the night when he and his friends were to partake of a sumptuous banquet "on the house," was given a straight sixty-day jail sentence by Police Judge Hawkins today. Neumann's victims called at the police station in twos and threes today, all telling the same tale of goods and accommodations being obtained on the strength of Neumann's declaration that he was the son of a millionaire.

IOWA WOMAN TELLS OTHERS

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Carried Her Safely Through Change of Life.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"At the Change of Life the doctor said I would have to give up my work and take my bed for some time as there was no help for me but to lie still. I took Lydia E. DEAD MAN HER LOST FATHER?

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 7.—Charles Kunow, the old sea captain, who died suddenly at the Long Wharf a few days ago, leaving an estate of $30,000 and no known relatives, may prove after all to have left a daughter. Mrs. W. W. Hammond came today from Los Angeles to identify the body as that of her father, who disappeared from San Francisco, where the family was living twenty years ago.

She was then a child of 8, and has no distinct recollection of her father, although she has a photograph of his brother, and the family resemblance is strong. But Mrs. Hammond is not satisfied as to the identity.

If Kunow is her father he changed his name after disappearing, for Kunow was not her maiden name—and her real name she is not divulging.

CHURCH LEADER DIES SUDDENLY.

DR. GROSS ALEXANDER, WRITER AND PASTOR, VICTIM OF HEART FAILURE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—Dr. Gross Alexander, prominent in the religious and educational life of the South, died here last evening at his temporary residence, the Torrey Pines apartments, No. 615 East Ocean avenue, of heart failure, brought on by acute indigestion. His wife, who is visiting friends at No. 118 North Manhattan street, Hollywood, was notified, as were two sons, Rev. Gross Alexander of Redlands and Charles Clay Alexander of Louisville, Ky. There are two daughters, Miss Ruth Alexander, who was with him here, and Miss Edith Alexander of Louisville.

Deceased was 63 years of age. After studying for the ministry in several educational institutions, he was pastor of several large churches in Kentucky and Tennessee, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He was author of numerous works, among which are "History of the Methodist Church, South," 1894; "Beginnings of Methodism in the South," 1897; "The Son of Man, Studies in His Life and Teachings," 1899. He was also a member of the committee that prepared the commemorative tercentenary edition of the authorized edition of the English Bible in 1911.

MASHER MASHED.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 7.—The sometimes pleasant pastime of park mashing received a severe blow today when John Kinney of Pasadena, who acknowledges to 56 years of youth, failed to appear in the Police Court for trial and forfeited his cash bail of $25. Mrs. Emma F. Leavitt, the city copperette, was strolling through Palisades Park when, according to her story, Kinney engaged her in conversation.

San Bernardino.

GHOSTLY ACCUSATION BY SLAIN OVERCOMES WIDOW.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 7.—While the court was hearing the dying statement of her husband, W. D. Lamberth, whom she is charged, jointly with D. L. Nicholson, with killing on the desert near Barnwell last month, Mrs. Kittie Lamberth swooned today in her chair.

Her features showed the effects of intense agitation. The examination of the pair was continued late today until tomorrow, when Justice of the Peace Wall will announce whether they are to be held for trial before the Superior Court.

Mr. Lamberth's antemortem statement forms the chief evidence against the man and woman.

"We must say that he fired the first shot or we will go to jail," is what Mr. Lambert said he heard his wife and Nicholson plan as their defense. The woman shuddered and pressed her hands to her face in horror as the words were read and then gasped when the statement told of neglect and refusal to give him water after he was shot and lying, burning with fever, on the floor of his cabin. Mr. Lamberth's statement says he had words with Nicholson as the latter had gone away with Mrs. Lamberth. When they came back Mr. Lamberth had his gun, but the words of the dead man are that Nicholson fired first.

"If I had fired the first shot there would have been another story," Mr. Lamberth said while lying near death.

Under Sheriff McLain and the boy who found Mr. Lamberth in torture at his cabin were witnesses.

Mrs. Lamberth was nonplussed after hearing the statement of her husband read. It is expected she and Nicholson will both take the stand tomorrow.

An attempt will be made by the defense to introduce a letter from the Sheriff of Las Vegas county, Nevada, in which it was stated "the people of Nevada are glad to learn that Lamberth has been stopped."

Lamberth was widely known in the mining camps of the Southwest.

The Harbor.

FEELING BLOWS OF BUDGET AX.

Salary Cuts Work Hardships Along Water Front.

Two Prisoners Released; no Prosecutor on Hand.

Other Deputies Out of Jobs; Branch Offices Close.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 7.—Complications in the administration of municipal affairs in the harbor district are making some awkward situations, as the result of the work of the Budget Committee of the City Council in trimming salaries and general expenses.

Two men arrested yesterday were released by the police today because there was no deputy city prosecutor to issue complaints to Judge Crawford's court. One was Henry Arevalo, arrested for disturbing the peace, and the other, Sam Monino, who was booked for threatening assault with a deadly weapon as the result of a dispute with P. O. Thompson over payments on an automobile. The Budget Committee cut off the salary of Henry Stieglitz as deputy prosecutor for the harbor district.

The elimination of a deputy city clerk has also made it impossible to obtain city licenses at the San Pedro branch of the City Hall. City Clerk Wilde ordered all license blanks sent back to the central office when the salary ordinance, eliminating Mrs. E. Wunderlich, became effective, although he still has one deputy here. Licenses can now be obtained at the City Hall or Wilmington but not here. It is expected that this situation will be remedied soon, however, and that the order taking away the blanks was an oversight.

There is no longer a deputy city auditor detailed for the harbor district and Deputy Auditor Houck was down from the City Hall today with vouchers for the police department. This is working an inconvenience in the harbor construction department particularly. Unless a time keeper in the harbor department is deputized, it will be necessary for every employee working by the day or month to await the arrival of a deputy from the downtown district to get his pay check. Payments can no longer be made on the job and laborers will have to go to the main office to get their vouchers or wait until a deputy is sent down from there.

The City Engineer's force has also been cut. A deputy building inspector now visits the harbor district three times a week instead of an office being maintained daily, and an electrical inspector comes here from the main office once a week.

When the Budget Committee completed its work there was quite an agitation at Wilmington for a borough form of government. A committee from the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce gave up the project after investigation, however, when informed by the City Attorney that there would be no way to recover the tax money already collected by the city of Los Angeles and that the borough would have no funds to pay expenses until a new tax levy was made and collected. There has been no agitation for a borough at the harbor.

AFIRE, BUT STILL ASLEEP.

TULARE, Sept. 7.—John H. Walker of Phoenix, Ariz., holds the local record for sound sleeping. Mr. Walker, a guest at Summer House, a local hotel, was dragged from his bed, set afire from some unknown cause, early this morning and only awakened after he had been carried to the open air by C. M. Parks, an employee. He was only slightly hurt.

Severely Cut When Automobile Strikes Wire Barrier; Editor Companion is Slightly Hurt.

BANNING, Sept. 7.—J. F. Daniels, county librarian of Riverside, and John E. King, editor of the Hemet News, met with a serious automobile accident at Beaumont today when their machine struck a wire that barred a closed street. Mr. Daniels was cut about the neck and several stitches were necessary.

Mr. King was slightly injured. They were traveling slowly.

Put the Taboo On Heavy Foods

Soggy, Sticky, Solid Foods Cause of Much Ill Health.

Your muscular and nerve force, your vitality, YOUR HEALTH, and the health of your family depends upon the quality and kind of food eaten. Now the question arises, what is the most nourishing and healthful staple article of diet? Certainly not heavy, indigestible foods which tend to irritate and overtax your digestive system. They might sustain life, but they will not promote health. What is the perfect muscle and nerve builder?

The answer is, whole wheat. Body and brain—muscle and nerve—need the whole of the grain. Whole wheat is Nature's perfect food for man, and should not be tampered with. To do so is to invite indigestion, constipation, nervous ailments and other forms of bodily disorders.

There is a prepared food called "FORCE" that is made of whole wheat, scientifically cooked and blended with barley malt; then rolled, toasted and flaked; that contains all the elements required to sustain the human body. Delicious and easily digested. Get it at your grocer's.

A Man On Salary—

Discovered at the end of 14 years he had PAID FOR two homes and OWNED neither of them.

After years of work and effort for the welfare of his family—he stood just where he had 14 years before. The deed to HIS HOME belonged to somebody else and he had PAID IN RENT ENOUGH TO PAY FOR TWO OF THEM—all he had to show for his money was a bunch of worthless paper rent receipts.

Stop and Think

Where will you be a few years from today? Will you own the home you are NOW living in?

The SAME MONEY paid to YOURSELF each month, instead of turning it over to a landlord, will pay for the DEED and you will have a piece of property worth several thousand dollars in place of a bunch of paper slips. Let us show you how hundreds are now saving money this way. Come and see the pretty homes—and $18.50 a month interest included—

—with all modern improvements, gas, electricity, water and street work—fruit trees, flowers and lawns all in—close to 5c yellow car line—$1850 on these easy OWNING terms—$75 cash and $18.50 a month, interest included.

Ask to see the 5-room bungalow—this is a beautiful little home—in same splendid district—only $100 down and $20 a month—interest included.

Come to the office or phone—we will gladly take you out.

USE CAUTION IN TRADING.

HESPERIAN AFFAIR CAUSE OF SLUMP IN ORDERS.

Price Changes Narrow Down, Excepting in the War List, Which Make Good Gains—Another Large Sum in Gold and Securities Arrives from London.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The light dealings and relatively narrow price changes accompanying today's market were ascribed to caution arising from the sinking of the British liner Hesperian. Traders were plainly disposed to await further details regarding that episode before making new commitments on either side of the account. Public interest was again lacking to a noticeable degree, although much of the day's general news was of a favorable nature. Conditions affecting the foreign exchange market were without material change, despite the arrival at Halifax of another large consignment of gold and American securities from London, making an estimated total of about $180,000,000 from that quarter within the past few weeks. Offerings of bills on London were light at first, but later they were of sufficient volume to depress demand sterling almost 3 cents under last week's closing quotation. Continental exchange was irregular, francs and lires also yielding, while marks were more steady. Stocks opened at 1 to 2 points decline, reflecting the marked heaviness of our securities in London. From that level there were immediate recoveries, followed by another setback. Later the list settled into a state of apathy, with a renewal of professional activity and manipulation in the final hour. Notable gains were confined to the specialties, but even there changes were limited to a point or thereabouts. Exceptions were General Motors, which rose 7⅛@249¼, and Willys Overland, rising 5 to 188. In the final dealings Crucible Steel gained 5 to 88½, only to close at 84¼. Bethlehem Steel rose 4 to 291, relinquishing a point at the close. Total sales 390,000 shares. Sales of bonds for foreign account, at least they were so regarded because of the frequency of "future" offerings, were larger and broader than for months past, approximating $1,000,000. In addition to these transactions, numerous private sales of securities, also for European interests, were reported. Advices from leading financial centers confirm local reports of a steady piling up of cash, a condition which conservative banking interests are beginning to view with concern, because of its tendency toward reckless speculation and inflated values. The bond market was heavy throughout, total sales, par value, aggregating $2,460,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Weaker Tone in Associated—Mining Issues Active, with Big Jim Heavy Trader—Investment Declines.

Mining stocks were the chief traders on the exchange yesterday and Big Jim advanced to 41¼ in the afternoon. As a matter of fact, Big Jim and Los Angeles Investment have been gradually drawing together for the past week, the former steadily rising and the latter as rapidly declining. At the close Tuesday only 2¾ points separated the two securities. Associated Oil continued to show weakness and only twenty shares changed hands at the low figure of 49.00 a share. An informal sale of thirty shares of Home Telephone common was reported at 15.50, and Consolidated Mines was in some demand at 1¾. The San Francisco Stock Exchange listed the Big Jim Gold Mining stock on its board yesterday and it is expected that other Oatman stocks will be put on soon.

John C. Rupp, president of the Searchlight Parallel Company, has announced that he has leased for the company the Elvira claim to W. A. Rutter, a well-known mining man, on a royalty basis. The latter has already started two shifts of men on the property.

NATIONAL BANKS SHOW MILLIONS INCREASE.

A HEAVY increase in deposits is shown in the statements of the thirteen national banks of Los Angeles, issued yesterday. The condition of the various institutions under Federal regulation was called for by the Comptroller of the Currency at the close of business on the second inst.

Since the last statement was published, June 23, the deposits column exhibits a striking growth, the banks as a whole increasing $3,278,701 in this respect, with a grand total of $67,607,464 in deposits outstanding. Since the first of the year, deposits in the local national banks have increased abput $7,000,000. Every national bank in the city has increased its deposits since the date of the last statement and the Farmers' and Merchants' heads the list with a net gain of almost $1,000,000. Loans and discounts aggregate over $50,000,000, as compared with $49,448,639 on June 23 and $48,621,316 on May 1. The table of available cash, with a total of $23,824,042, is about $1,750,000 more than the similar aggregate on the day of the previous statement. This increase is attributed to the fact that patrons are no longer drawing on their accounts to defray the expenses of summer vacations.

Taken as a whole, the statements announced yesterday reflect a healthy condition in the local financial situation and lead to the expectation of further improvement. Following are the tabulations of the national banks:

BUS RIDERS TO HAVE SEATS.

COUNCIL COMMITTEE FAVORS NEW ORDINANCE.

Suggestion of Police Traffic Department that Riding on Doors and Fenders be Prohibited is Approved, to be Effective in November.

No more crowding a dozen or two passengers in, upon, around and about a "five-passenger" jit-bus after November 1, if the City Council approves the action taken by the Public Safety Committee yesterday, in recommending the passage of certain amendments to the general traffic ordinance. The changes, which were suggested by the traffic officers and approved by the Police Commission, provide that no passenger in a passenger carrying vehicle shall sit or stand on the doors, running boards or steps of the vehicle and, so far as the steps are concerned, it will apply also to street cars. E. L. Williams, representative of the jit-bus drivers and owners, told the committee that the passage of the ordinance will mean that all jit-bus operators must have their cars fitted with bus bodies at a cost of $100 to $150 each. The provision giving the drivers until November to comply with the ordinance was suggested by Councilman Topham.

Additional amendments to the jit-bus ordinance suggested by the police department and approved yesterday by the Police Commission propose that all applications for jit-bus permits shall describe the routes; that all drivers must wear their badges conspicuously on their outer garment, and that no motor bus street terminals be permitted in the business district. The Police Commission revoked the auto stand permit held by S. A. McKee. This action was taken because of complaints that McKee's chauffeurs have insulted women near the stand.

The committee deferred action on a proposal to separate the regulation of jitney busses and interurban stages. City Attorney Stephens reported that the motor bus business has grown to such an extent that separate ordinances are necessary for their proper regulation.

JOBS IN JEOPARDY.
WATCHMEN UNDER FIRE.

The Civil Service Commission started a row with the Fire Commission and the City Council yesterday when it issued an order that the men who act as watchmen and caretakers for the ten fire houses that were closed recently must be appointed from the civil service eligible list. Twenty men are affected by the order. When, as a result of the curtailment incidental to placing the two-platoon ordinance in effect, the ten fire companies were abolished, the Council arranged for the appointment of men with families to support and who were generally incapacitated for hard work. The salary provided is $60 a month and when the places were filled the Fire Commission informed the Civil Service Commission that they were only temporary; thus seeking to take them from the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission.

It is understood that the Civil Service Commission will seek to fill the places by the appointment of young men who are on the eligible list for firemen. Councilman Topham said yesterday that he proposes to bring the matter before the Council. "This is about the limit, and I believe it is about time for a shake-up in the Civil Service Commission," said Mr. Topham. "If some changes are not made in the meantime, I propose to take the matter up when I return from my vacation and then to see it through to a finish."

INVESTIGATION.
TICKET SELLER HEARD.

J. T. Braun, holder of a permit to sell steamship tickets from Los Angeles Harbor to Catalina Island, appeared before the Harbor Commission yesterday to show cause why his permit should not be revoked. The commission presented various complaints from hotel proprietors and the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Braun gave his side of the story. The commission then referred the question to the City Attorney and reserved decision. Complaints against the ticket broker stated that the sellers on the streets at the harbor are disposing of coupons for 40 cents that are simply redeemed for that amount when the purchaser buys his real ticket; the 40 cents being the vender's commission. Hotel proprietors told the Harbor Commission that their guests have complained that the boats are not properly equipped with the extra conveniences that come in handy in rough weather and the Chamber of Commerce reports covered about the same ground. Mr. Braun's defense was that he has been conducting the business in accordance with his permit and he told the commission that it is simply a fight between the Banning Company and the independent boats.

Hearing to be Resumed.

The Public Utilities Board and representatives of the Pacific Electric will resume their hearing today on the question of relieving congestion in Main and Hill streets. A joint check on the number of cars and number of trains operated in these streets by the Pacific Electric between the hours of 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. will be considered. The hearing was called by the Utilities Board last week when it ordered the Pacific Electric to show cause why an order should not be issued requiring that all trains be split up with a motorman on each car within the city limits. The railway officials contend that such an order, besides putting the Pacific Electric to great expense, would actually result in slower movement of cars and greater congestion. The Public Utilities Board, on the other hand, has maintained that such an order would relieve conditions immediately and also tend to hasten improvement in termnial facilities.

Bands on Their Way.

The Council yesterday turned down the request for a loan of $1200 to pay the expenses of the Police Band and the Municipal Band to San Francisco, where they will take part in the Admission Day celebration at the exposition. The money was raised from other sources by Director Frankenstein of the Police Band, and both organizations will be in San Francisco today. On their return a baseball game will be staged by a committee and the money will be raised to repay the loan.

HALL BUSINESS.
MUNICIPAL NOTES.

The Board of Public Works yesterday instructed the City Attorney to bring suit for $2240.78 against Robert Beyrle, contractor for the construction of the Broadway tunnel. Mr. Beyrle finished the job about fifteen years ago, and it was accepted by the city. A few months ago when Lynn S. Atkinson, another contractor, started to lower the floor of the tunnel it was discovered that Beyrle had "skimped" the original job and the city must pay $2240.78 to have the old defects remedied before the present work can be done. It is likely that Mr. Beyrle's bondsmen will be made a party to the suit.

The Council yesterday adopted ordinances which permit the use of firearms in the San Fernando district and which except the recently-acquired agricultural districts from the provisions of the city traffic ordinance.

The Council accepted an invitation yesterday to help launch the emigrant service steamer Ellington at Wilmington tomorrow morning.

The Police Commission yesterday concurred in the recommendation of Chief Snively that an ordinance be passed to prevent vendors from ringing bells or blowing horns in the residence districts. The Chief advised the commission that he has received numerous complaints on the subject and he expressed the opinion that the ordinance he suggested will assist in his campaign for the elimination of useless noises.

The Police Commission restored an auctioneer's license to Barney Byrnes of No. 230 South Main street yesterday. Byrnes, who appealed for restoration on the ground that he has a large family to support, lost his license for irregular conduct during the administration of Mayor Rose.

The Council yesterday instructed the City Engineer, the City Electrician and the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance for the ornamental lighting of Hobart boulevard between Washington and Sixtenth streets.

The Public Safety Committee will recommend to the Council a change in the new "sniping" ordinance to require a straight license fee of $25 a month for posting bills instead of $1 for each permit. The changes proposed will also provide that the collecting shall be done by the City Clerk and the City License Collector, and the Police Commission will not be required to issue the permits.

The Public Safety Committee decided against the application of the Levy Cafe Company for permission to show motion pictures in the afternoon Chairman Brain said that he believes one business should not be allowed to compete with another, and a discussion of the selling of meals in drug stores and free lunches in saloons ensued.

BOSS PRINTERS TO GATHER HERE.

UNITED TYPOTHETAE AND FRANKLIN CLUBS CONVENTION TO OPEN SOON.

One of the oldest business men's organizations in the United States, the United Typothetae and Franklin Clubs of America, will hold its twenty-ninth annual convention at the Alexandria the 21st to the 24th inst. Representing the printing industries, the seventh in importance in the country at the last census, this meeting will be one of the notable gatherings of the year in personnel and the magnitude of invested capital represented.

The U.T. & F.C.A. is a recent amalgamation of the United Typothetae of America, organized thirty years ago, and the Ben Franklin Clubs. Within the last ten years it has probably accomplished more for the business and ethical interests of its members and the crafts at large than any other business organization. Notably in the field of scientific cost accounting on a standard basis the U.T. & F.C.A. has taken the lead and the national office at Chicago includes seven distinct service departments for the benefit of the membership.

The membership consists of nearly 2000 of the leading printing houses of the United States, nearly every city in the country being represented by a local body.

The employing printers of Los Angeles will meet in the assembly rooms of The Times Building next Wednesday evening as a final get-together party in anticipation of the convention. A Dutch supper will be served and suitable entertainment provided.

SEEKS MONEY FOR TWIN CHILDREN.

UNIQUE QUESTION RAISED IN WALKER ESTATE CASE.

Babies Born After Death of Husband Who Secured Divorce and Former Wife Wants Them to Share Property—Will not Answer Questions as to Parentage.

Mrs. Mabel E. Walker is the mother of twins, Edwin N. and E. Earl Walker. She is the divorced wife of Cornelius Walker of the Walker Piano Company, No. 1603 South Main street, who died five months after he obtained the interlocutory decree in his suit for divorce. The twins were born after the death of Mr. Walker, and this fact has raised a unique and interesting question which is now before Judge Shenk for decision.

Mr. Walker, who left property valued at $60,000, had made no will, and his daughter by a former wife, Mabel A. Nason, applied for letters of administration. The heirs were Mrs. Nason and the ex-wife. Mrs. Nason was appointed administrator by Judge Rives, and the findings were that Mrs. Walker had no interest in the estate, having waived her claim when a property settlement was made at which time she received about $20,000.

When the twins were born, however, she sought their share of the estate and was confronted with the contention that they were not legitimate.

Attorney George Harker, counsel for the administrator, cited Mrs. Walker to his office to answer questions propounded in a deposition. On the advice of her attorneys, Schmidt & Riggin, she refused to answer personal queries with reference to the birth of the twins, on the ground that they did not relate to the question of the estate.

Yesterday she failed to appear before Judge Shenk on an order to show cause why she should not answer with reference to the legitimacy of the twins, and appeared by her counsel. The hearing was continued until today.

The Walkers were divorced July 1, 1913, the ground being desertion. Mr. Walker died the following November. The twins are said to have been born the following April.

WILL APPEAL.
MONOLITH CEMENT CASE.

The Riverside-Portland Cement Company will test in a higher court the provision in the city charter requiring a certified check to accompany bids and a bond to guarantee the faithful performance of a contract. When the city gave a contract to the county to furnish 7500 barrels of cement from the Monolith plant, these charter provisions were not complied with. The Riverside-Portland Cement Company filed suit asking for an injunction, setting up the alleged violation.

The case was fully argued by the county counsel representing the county and Stevens and Tuller for the Riverside-Portland Cement Company. Judge Wellborn denied the injunction, dissolved the temporary restraining order and allowed the defendants twenty days in which to take exceptions.

The court did not think that the provisions of the charter with reference to the bond was mandatory although the county counsel admitted this provision had been waived. Stevens and Tuller contended that it was a limitation upon the county's obligation. The court held that it was not a modification of the obligation.

The appeal from Judge Wellborn's judgment will be taken on the grounds that the county failed to give a certified check and put up a bond and that the city discriminated in favor of the county and against other bidders who were required to comply with the charter provisions.

MAKE TEST CASE.
DEPUTY SHERIFFS' SALARIES.

Believing that the Board of Supervisors have violated section 13 of the county charter, which requires notice of a reduction in compensation, a test case of the board's right to take out of the pay of six deputy sheriffs the cut in salaries recommended by the Civil Service Commission, may be staged in the courts. This matter is in the hands of Attorneys Veitch & Richardson, who believe that the reduction was made without any authority of law.

The Civil Service Commission made the recommendation two months ago at which time the new ordinance took effect, but the County Auditor did not put it into effect until the last pay day, the first Monday of this month. Then it is claimed he took off the $5 cut for July and August. The deputies received $90 instead of $95.

The deputies declare they received no notice as required by the charter, and when they got their pay, the County Auditor made the reduction as called for by the ordinance. Previous to that a demand had been made on the deputies to refund $5 paid them in August under the old salary order. When they did not comply a cut of $10 was made this pay day.

HAYES ESTATE.
"FLOWER GIRLS" REMEMBERED.

Liberal provisions for her relatives and friends are contained in the will of Mrs. Charlotte M. L. Hayes of Monrovia, filed for probate yesterday. Attorney Paran F. Rice is named as executor and trustee of the estate, which is valued in excess of $10,000.

The income of the estate, except $5000 bequeathed to Attorney Rice, is to be paid to the husband during his lifetime. At his death the estate is to be distributed in accordance with the terms of the will. Among the legatees are Nellie S. Bartholomew and Nanette B. Chanlee of Philadelphia, and Florence W. Wilson of Chester, Pa. Mrs. Hayes refers to them as "my little flower girls."

The Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Sunshine Society of New York are each bequeathed $2000. Annie L. Yearington of San Francisco is given $5000; John D., Clint Y., Emmy and Joseph Spencer, Jean Spencer Farr, Rachael Thomas, Nanette K. Showalter, William S., and Maud F. Bate are bequeathed $1000 each. Emma Kanges of Berkeley will receive $500.

JUDGE INVESTIGATES.
STORIES OF BRUTALITY.

Because of the published statements of John Forster, 19 years old, who told how brutally he had been beaten by the guards at the Preston School of Industry at Ione, J. L. Montgomery, the assistant superintendent, came to Los Angeles yesterday. This was at the request of Charles Derrick, superintendent at Ione. Mr. Montgomery conferred with Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court, the conference also being attended by Fred Nelles, superintendent of the State School at Whittier. Forster was formerly an inmate of the latter school.

The conference was behind closed doors, and it is understood that Forster's charges of brutality were denied. Another conference will be held today. Forster was returned from Ione early in July because of incorrigibility.

NEGRO GIRLS WIN.
JUDGMENT FOR DAMAGES.

The nearest apparent approach to a juggernaut was the service wagon of the Los Angeles Carbonic Company when it got beyond the control of the driver one day and careened across Second street, jumped the curb and swung on the pavement of Spring street. Martha Bennett and Annie Jones, colored girds, made a dash to escape it, but the car plunged on, striking both.

The result of the accident, which the company claimed was unavoidable because the steering gear had broken, was a suit for damages, the girls asking $800 each. Judge Shenk gave judgment yesterday for $650, covering both cases. Subsequently he complimented Attorney W. E. Tyler, counsel for the girls, and Dr. Wilbur Gordon, the colored expert, for their fair treatment of the case.

DUNTON MUST PAY.
TROUBLE OVER ALIMONY.

Dr. W. A. Dunton was adjudged guilty of contempt yesterday for failing to pay this month's alimony of $75 a month for the support of his wife, Mrs. Maria F. H. A. Dunton, and their two children, Consuelo and Andrew. The commitment was handed to Clerk Hpghes, when the court suspended sentence until Monday morning on the announcement of Dr. Dunton's attorney that the money would be paid.

A careful examination of Dr. Dunton seemed to show that his outgo as a physician equalled his income, but it was discovered that he had made over to his minor son a declaration of trust and that he is acting as his son's agent. The court found that the doctor could pay. The order of commitment will be discharged if the alimony is paid.

Mrs. Dunton charges her husband with cruelty in a complaint filed some time ago. She is represented by Attorney Le Compte Davis, who says that the doctor has been cited four times for failure to comply with the alimony order.

POOR EXCUSE.
MUST PAY ALIMONY.

Second wives are no excuse for first wife's alimony. This is a little maxim which Willie R. Huebner, a taxicab driver, learned yesterday in the alimony court when he was ordered to pay Mrs. Goldie P. Huebner back alimony aggregating $480 at the rate of $20 a month.

"Where am I going to get the money?" asked Mr. Huebner, who has another family on his hands, having remarried.

"I have ridden in taxicabs," said the court, "and I know you can't get service without tips."

Wife No. 1 was represented by Attorney M. O. Graves, who was very well satisfied with the outcome for his client.

FLOSSIE'S MISTAKE.

Pet Pomeranian Forgets Home Moved and Wanders Two Miles to Get Into Old House.

When Dr. Bruce Gordon, the local musician, moved from Ness avenue in the [illegible] wood to a downtown apartment he forgot to impress upon his pet Pomeranian, "Flossie," that the change was permanent. As a result Dr. Kingsley returned home yesterday evening "Flossie" was missing. The police were notified as the dog is said to be a valuable one.

Late last night residents of the neighborhood of Dr. Kingsley's home were awakened by a mournful howl. It was "Flossie" trying to gain entrance to the deserted home that is still considered home. The dog had traversed the twelve miles to the apartment and then to the Ness avenue house in her endeavor to find her master.

NONSUIT ALLOWED.

Federal Judge Bledsoe yesterday allowed a nonsuit in the damage suit brought by Mary Murray against the Southern Pacific Railway Company. The plaintiff secured a judgment for $5000 against the road, but the court granted the motion for a nonsuit. Now the case is knocked out entirely.
